

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON

They Will Go Over Brotherhood Work of the Past Year.

HALL WAS DECORATED TODAY

The Question of a Union Label To Represent the Craft.

TO BE CONSIDERED NEXT WEEK

The Delegates Will Begin to Arrive Tonight And All Are Not Expected in Before Monday—All Arrangements for the Picnic Complete.

The opening session of the eleventh annual convention of the National Brotherhood will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The business of this session will not likely occupy more than an hour and will be taken up with the appointment of the credential committee and a partial report of the same.

The executive board of the U. B. of O. P. is in session this afternoon with all members present. Vice President J. J. Jackson got in from Akron yesterday and Vice President F. H. Hutchins and Henry Broughan, of Trenton, and George Gould, of East Palestine, arrived this morning. These, with A. S. Hughes, T. J. Duffy and A. E. Stevenson, of this city, compose the board.

A number of matters of vital importance to the trade are being considered this afternoon, as well as a review of the affairs of the year's work and the result of the board's deliberations will be recommended to the convention.

The arrangements for the picnic on Monday have been completed. The committee has been hard at work for the past two weeks arranging for the event, and it is anticipated that the affair will be one of the most successful ever held.

The handicap races will start at 2 o'clock and three heats will likely be required.

At 4 o'clock the ball game between the members of Nos. 4 and 12 will be played. Dancing will be indulged in all of the afternoon.

A large committee, headed by Leroy Orr, is today engaged in decorating the hall in which the convention will be held.

One of the most important matters with which the convention will be called upon to deal will be the placing in general use of a label to represent the product of union potters.

The question is by no means a new one, as it has figured in at least two previous conventions. At Trenton in '99 the label agitation had reached a point among the members of the N. B. of O. P. where it could not be put off and a committee consisting of C. J. Bloomensteel, of Cincinnati; Mr. Braithwaite, Trenton, and A. Brannan, of Wellsville, was appointed to adopt a design to be affixed to every piece of ware turned out by a strictly union concern.

This committee reported at the Wheeling convention last year, and the insignia was adopted. Several designs were submitted, but the one adopted was presented by Mr. Brannan, and although it was made the official label at that time, it has not yet been placed in use in any of the factories of the country.

During the past year the executive board appointed a committee to draft and get in shape a code of regulations to be entered into, by the management of a firm and its employees, that would enable the plant to use the label.

It is expected that at the meeting next week steps will be taken to place the label in general use. The benefits accruing from the adoption and use of a union stamp will be incalculable, as it will give the positive assurance that every department of the plant using it and which has any connection whatever with its making is strictly union.

SUED BY HIS WIFE

Mrs. William E. Frank Charged Her Husband With Non-Support of a Minor Child.

William E. Frank, proprietor of a restaurant at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets, was the defendant in a case brought by his wife, which was tried before Justice Rose this morning. Frank was charged with non-support of his minor child. Two weeks ago he was arrested on the same charge, but agreed to pay his wife $6 a week and the case was dropped.

Justice Rose collected one or two payments from Frank, but he refused to further fulfill his agreement, claiming that his wife had violated certain stipulations in the contract. The trial today was the result of the man's second arrest. He agreed to support the child and the justice allowed him two weeks' time in order to determine whether or not he does so.

GRANTED DIVORCE

LEETONIA WOMAN SEPARATED FROM DRUNKEN HUSBAND.

Deserted Wife in Salem Seeks Legal Separation—Probate Court News.

Lisbon, July 6.—(Special).—Mrs. Katie Coleman, of Leetonia, satisfied Judge Hole that her husband, Matthias Coleman, is a habitual drunkard and was granted a divorce.

Mrs. Mollie Berckheimer, of Salem, has petitioned for a divorce from Louis C. Berckheimer on the ground of three years' willful absence. She asks for the custody of her child Robert and for the restoration of her maiden name, Mollie Finley.

The will of the late James R. Criss, of Center township, was probated yesterday. It directs that his executor shall sell all his property, worth about $2,000, and divide it equally between his wife, Kate H. Criss and his daughter, Mary A. Beckwith.

David Wickersham, of Fairfield township, by his will probated today, leaves $50 to Abbie T. Rawlings; $100 to Rachel P. Gilbert and his eight-acre homestead in Middleton township to his daughter, Miriam C. Wickersham.

Judge Hole has adjourned court until July 16 at 10 a. m., when he will return to render opinions in cases submitted and wind up the routine business of the term.

GROOM'S ARREST

FOLLOWS A RECENT SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT.

Wilson Davis Brought From Toledo to Lisbon to Answer a Young Woman's Charge.

Lisbon, July 6. — (Special).—Miss Belle Brown, living near Summitville, has brought suit before Squire Riddle against Wilson Davis, formerly of Millport, but now of Toledo. Davis recently eloped with a daughter of Robert Treffinger, a well-to-do farmer near Summitville. Mr. Treffinger objected to his suit, but Davis by a prearrangement met the girl and took her from her home at night, went to a neighboring minister and was married, while Mr. Treffinger followed with a shot gun, arriving after the ceremony. The couple took a train for Toledo.

Davis and wife were but settled in their new home when an officer arrived and took Davis to Lisbon to answer a charge preferred by Miss Brown. The case will be heard today.

HEARTROKEN FATHER

Came Here in Search of the Body of His Boy Who Was Drowned in the River.

A. W. Cottell, of Allegheny, was in the city this morning in search of the body of his 9-year-old son, who was drowned in the Ohio river several days ago. He claimed to have been told that a boy's body had been caught here, but it is believed the information he received concerned the finding of the bodies of young Beatty and Hodgson.

Mr. Cottell stated to a reporter that his wife had not slept a single night since her boy met his death. He was also on the verge of prostration and was sadly disappointed on learning that the body had not been recovered. He left this afternoon for Wellsville.

Salem Teacher Injured.

Salem, July 6.—Miss Grace Fife, a Salem teacher, was injured in a runaway accident and had her collar bone broken Wednesday evening.

JAMES MARTIN WAS KILLED

Well Known Resident of This City Thought to Have Met Death.

RUN OVER BY A TRAIN

Has Long Been Missing From His Home And It Is Believed He Was Killed on the Railroad at Beaver Falls.

From information received by relatives it now seems almost certain that the unknown killed by an Erie express at Beaver Falls and subsequently buried there was James Martin, of this city.

Martin, who is aged about 50 years, had been a resident of East Liverpool almost all his life, left this city several weeks ago, intending to go to some of the mining towns of Pennsylvania to seek employment. He was a miner in his early youth, having been injured by a mine explosion many years ago. When his body was found at Beaver Falls very little effort was made to have the remains identified, and it was buried without much ceremony.

The dead man was a brother of Hugh Martin, formerly of this city, but now an inmate of the Dayton home. He is survived by four children: Mrs. Hugh Clark and Mrs. Charles Finney, of East End; William Martin, of this city, and Joseph Martin, of Canada.

William Martin was seen by a reporter yesterday evening and stated that he had little doubt that the man was his father, as he had gone in that direction. He expects to go to Beaver Falls next week to investigate the matter, and if the dead man proves to be his father, he will have the body taken up and brought to this city.

POTTERY NEWS

The Trenton Potteries company has extensive plans for improvements, including a brick addition to the kiln shed building, 52x69 feet and one story high; two-story brick stable 30x41½ feet; a boiler and engine house 30½ x38 feet, one story high; the excavation of a cellar under the rear end of the two four-story buildings for a slip house, the added room from which will be about 40 by 100 feet. The company further contemplates the erection of a large two or three-story brick building, 40x120 feet, the lower floor being divided into bins for the storage of clays and the upper stories being used for molds, straw and similar purposes. The company will have expended from $30,000 to $40,000 when all the contemplated improvements have been made.

Another addition is to be built to the Sherwood Bros.' pottery at New Brighton. The local contractors are now bidding on a warehouse 38x150 feet in size, which will be erected just below the present office building. It will be of frame, one storey, roofed and sided with corrugated iron.

Ed Martin, a prominent member of the National Brotherhood from Canonsburg, arrived in the city this morning and will attend the convention.

Oliver H. Sebring, of Sebring, has presented the Ladies' society of the Presbyterian church, of Leetonia, a cask of dishes.

FREIGHT CAR DAMAGED

Part of It Pulled Away By the Nancy Hanks in Trying to Move It.

The freight car on the East Liverpool and Wellsville street railway line was badly damaged at Wellsville this morning. The "Nancy Hanks" had got off the track at the lower switch and the baggage car was attached to it in order to attempt to put in back on the track.

The power was thrown on with the result that the one end was pulled out of the baggage car while the "Nancy Hanks" remained in her old position. The car was too light in construction to stand the heavy pull.

Sunday School Picnic.

The Sabbath school of the Second Presbyterian church will picnic at Rock Springs Park on Saturday, July 13.

SCALDING TEARS SHED COPIOUSLY

Mayor Davidson Had a "Heart Rendering" Experience With a Culprit..

GUS CRAFT BROKE DOWN

When His Honor Pointed Out to Him the Error of His Ways—Circus Day Brought Two New Victims Before the Bar of Justice—Police News.

When Gus Craft, who was arrested yesterday in the East End, was brought before Mayor Davidson this morning he was very penitent, and the sorrowful expression on his countenance told plainly that he had seen the error of his ways. Gus was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and after his honor had read the affidavit the accused sighed once or twice and in a husky voice said "guilty."

Mayor Davidson, previous to pronouncing sentence, told Gus that the court's endurance had become too burdened to permit of any further leniency. He explained to the accused that complaints had reached him at various times from indignant neighbors who stated that Mrs. Craft had been abused repeatedly and that such doings would have to cease. "Why," said the mayor, "I would almost hang a man, if it were in my power, for abusing his family."

Gus trembled from head to foot and as he sat in his chair before the bar of justice great tears began to trickle down his cheeks. This did not affect the court. He had seen Gus do the same thing many times previously, and when the accused heard his sentence—$10 and costs—the tears came with more pronounced frequency. He was committed to the workhouse, but he surprised the mayor by arranging to pay his fine.

Two more subjects were up before his honor. Tom McKeever was one of them and Vince Conkle the other. McKeever was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct by Officers Mahoney and Special Officer Goddard. He is an old offender, and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed on him. He was committed to the workhouse.

Conkle was arrested for intoxication by Patrolman Woods. He paid a fine of $1 and costs.

Six special policemen were on duty yesterday, in addition to the regular force. Notwithstanding the large crowds there was little disorder and the officers were given no particular trouble.

THOUSANDS SAW IT

RINGLING BROS.' CIRCUS ATTRACTED BIG CROWDS.

The Exhibition a Fine One in Every Respect—Spectators Delighted.

Thousands of people saw the Ringling Bros.' big shows. Both the afternoon and evening exhibitions attracted great crowds and the performances given were by all odds the finest ever seen in this city. Not only did East Liverpool people liberally patronize the shows, but country people and others from surrounding towns came early in the morning and the most of them stayed until the night performance closed. Many who were present in the afternoon were so delighted they went the second time in the evening.

There was not a feature of the great circus lacking in any way. Almost every act was entirely new, and the only fault found by any one was that there was too much going on at one time. Nothing of an objectionable nature was tolerated on the show grounds, and the ushers so well attended to their duties that the multitudes were handled with exact nicety.

The menagerie was complete and attracted great interest. Aside from containing the only living giraffe known to exist there were scores of other rare animals from all parts of the globe. A giant hippopotamus gave an exhibition of its swimming capabilities, with the result that when it plunged into the tank of water in one end of its cage several young ladies had their dainty dresses badly soiled. The cage of black tigers also was a center of interest.

When the big show started everything moved like clock work. All the way through the performers, together with the trained animals, were at their respective places on time and not once was there a cessation in the procedure of the exhibition. The trapeze artists, tumblers, slack wire walkers, bar performers, contortionists, etc., were among the world's greatest. The performing elephants have a world-wide reputation, and the trained horses were also exceptionally fine. In its entirety the Ringling Bros.' show is a marvel of excellence.

OFF FOR BUFFALO

CLERKS' UNION DELEGATES START FOR CONVENTION.

Important Matters to Come Up at the National Meeting Next Week.

D. M. McLane, R. C. Shenkel and J. E. Anderson, representatives of the local retail clerks' union, will leave on the late train tonight for Buffalo, in which city the national convention of that organization will be held next week.

The organization of retail clerks was started in the west only a few years ago, and so rapid had been its growth that it today one of the foremost in the country. It has grown to such proportions in the eastern and central states that the probabilities are some of the offices will be distributed in this section. The sitting president, B. F. Baer, is from Ottumwa, Iowa, and Max Morris, of Denver, is secretary-treasurer.

There will likely be no change in the latter position, as Mr. Morris has proved by his untiring work and close application to the affairs of the office that he is the right man in the right place.

However, it has been the custom to pass around the position of president, and if the plans of the Ohio delegation succeed the headquarters of the national body will not only be located in the Buckeye State, but in East Liverpool. Mr. McLane is a candidate for the place, and his friends expect to capture it for him.

WELLSVILLE WOMAN

ARRESTED IN THIS CITY BY CONSTABLE MILLER.

The Officer Took Her Watch And Pocketbook, But Failed to Prove Charge Against Her.

Constable Miller arrested a Wellsville woman Thursday night in a Second street house and took her to the city jail. To avoid being locked up the woman allowed the officer to take her watch and pocketbook for security for her appearance at the trial. Miller instructed the woman to appear at Justice McLane's office last evening and at the time set she was there.

For more than an hour the woman waited, but the constable failed to make his appearance. He also neglected to leave her property with the justice and the female became indignant. She denied that Miller had any reason for arresting her, and as the officer had forgotten to file any charge against her, Squire McLane was unable to give her a trial. She returned to Wellsville, and as yet the constable has failed to either return the watch and pocketbook or prefer any charge.

The constable claims he took the woman in charge at the instance of her husband, who claimed she was in company of another man, and also, because she was disorderly on the street. He has been in the country since the arrest and it is not known what the outcome of the case will be. Some interesting developments are looked for.

STEPPED ON MONEY

Executed a Flip-Flop and Badly Sprained His Ankle.

Adam Oppenheimer met with a very peculiar accident yesterday. While walking across the floor at John McFadden's place on Railroad street, the young man stepped upon a fifty-cent piece which had been accidentally dropped, and after executing a few high kicks and several other acrobatic feats, fell to the floor. His right ankle was badly sprained, and he will not be able to work for several days.

Four East Liverpool Lads Disappear From the City Suddenly.

HIRED WITH THE SHOWMEN

Having Caught the Fever From Seeing the Ringling Aggregation.

PARENTS WERE DEEPLY ANXIOUS

Telegrams to Uhrichsville, Where the Circus Is Today, Failed to Bring Any Clue As to the Whereabouts of the Missing Ones.

The circus which exhibited in this city attracted more than the usual number of boys who became inspired with a desire to connect themselves with the aggregation, and at least four youngsters are today drawing stakes and hustling canvas with the big show at Uhrichsville. It is supposed they expect to become ringmasters, acrobats or clowns in a short time.

As a result there were a number of anxious mothers in the city this morning. The boys who left were Charles Hardie, Fred Bradley, Neeley McFadden and John Tasker. The boys were hired yesterday and worked at the show grounds throughout the day. A number of others decided to accompany the show late last night, but were put off the third section of the train at Washington street.

Mrs. Hardie became aware of her boy's absence this morning and at once went to the Western Union, where a message was addressed to the chief of police at Uhrichsville to stop her son and send him home. No word has been received from the official as yet, and it is not known whether he was captured.

Carl Shonberger and John Rayl were thought to be among the number who left last night and the parents of Rayl, who is but 19 years of age, at once set about to bring back the boy. Chief Thompson was consulted and telephoned to the chief of police at Uhrichsville, who made an investigation, but failed to find the boy among the employees of the circus. He so informed the authorities here and the mystery deepened. The boy's father and "Dink" Herron left at an early hour this morning for the next stand, where they expected to locate the youngster. Some time during the forenoon young Rayl walked into his home on Market street as though it had been his custom to join a circus every day in the week.

Upon being questioned by his mother it developed that the boys had gone to the country yesterday with a man named Burbick, and had spent the night at his home. Word was sent to Uhrichsville immediately to inform Mr. Rayl of the true state of affairs, in order that he might not be delayed on his return trip.

NO FUNERAL SERVICES

WERE HELD OVER ROBERT WILLIAMS' REMAINS.

Only the Undertaker Was Present When the Body Was Lowered Into the Grave.

The remains of Robert W. Williams, who was killed by a street car Thursday night, were taken to Wellsville this morning and interred in the Spring Hill cemetery. There were no funeral services held and not even a relative or friend was present when the body was lowered into the grave.

Reed Williams, a brother of the dead man, was thought to be working at Beaver Falls, but a message sent to him at that city failed to bring a reply. It is believed he has left there. No other near relatives of the deceased are known to reside in this part of the country.

The performing elephants have a world-wide reputation, and the trained horses were also exceptionally fine. In its entirety the Ringling Bros.' show is a marvel of excellence.

OFF FOR BUFFALO

CLERKS' UNION DELEGATES START FOR CONVENTION.

Important Matters to Come Up at the National Meeting Next Week.

D. M. McLane, R. C. Shenkel and J. E. Anderson, representatives of the local retail clerks' union, will leave on the late train tonight for Buffalo, in which city the national convention of that organization will be held next week.

The organization of retail clerks was started in the west only a few years ago, and so rapid had been its growth that it today one of the foremost in the country. It has grown to such proportions in the eastern and central states that the probabilities are some of the offices will be distributed in this section. The sitting president, B. F. Baer, is from Ottumwa, Iowa, and Max Morris, of Denver, is secretary-treasurer.

There will likely be no change in the latter position, as Mr. Morris has proved by his untiring work and close application to the affairs of the office that he is the right man in the right place.

However, it has been the custom to pass around the position of president, and if the plans of the Ohio delegation succeed the headquarters of the national body will not only be located in the Buckeye State, but in East Liverpool. Mr. McLane is a candidate for the place, and his friends expect to capture it for him.

WELLSVILLE WOMAN

ARRESTED IN THIS CITY BY CONSTABLE MILLER.

The Officer Took Her Watch And Pocketbook, But Failed to Prefer Charge Against Her.

Constable Miller arrested a Wellsville woman Thursday night in a Second street house and took her to the city jail. To avoid being locked up the woman allowed the officer to take her watch and pocketbook for security for her appearance at the trial. Miller instructed the woman to appear at Justice McLane's office last evening and at the time set she was there.

For more than an hour the woman waited, but the constable failed to make his appearance. He also neglected to leave her property with the justice and the female became indignant. She denied that Miller had any reason for arresting her, and as the officer had forgotten to file any charge against her, Squire McLane was unable to give her a trial. She returned to Wellsville, and as yet the constable has failed to either return the watch and pocketbook or prefer any charge.

The constable claims he took the woman in charge at the instance of her husband, who claimed she was in company of another man, and also because she was disorderly on the street. He has been in the country since the arrest and it is not known what the outcome of the case will be. Some interesting developments are looked for.

STEPPED ON MONEY

Excuted a Flip-Flop and Badly Sprained His Ankle.

Adam Oppenheimer met with a very peculiar accident yesterday. While walking across the floor at John McFadden's place on Railroad street, the young man stepped upon a fifty-cent piece which had been accidentally dropped, and after executing a few high kicks and several other acrobatic feats, fell to the floor. His right ankle was badly sprained, and he will not be able to work for several days.

Having Caught the Fever From Seeing the Ringling Aggregation.

Telegrams to Uhrichsville, Where the Circus Is Today, Failed to Bring Any Clue As to the Whereabouts of the Missing Ones.

The circus which exhibited in this city attracted more than the usual number of boys who became inspired with a desire to connect themselves with the aggregation, and at least four youngsters are today drawing stakes and hustling canvas with the big show at Uhrichsville. It is supposed they expect to become ringmasters, acrobats or clowns in a short time.

As a result there were a number of anxious mothers in the city this morning. The boys who left were Charles Hardie, Fred Bradley, Neeley McFadden and John Tasker. The boys were hired yesterday and worked at the show grounds throughout the day. A number of others decided to accompany the show late last night, but were put off the third section of the train at Washington street.

Mrs. Hardie became aware of her boy's absence this morning and at once went to the Western Union, where a message was addressed to the chief of police at Uhrichsville to stop her son and send him home. No word has been received from the official as yet, and it is not known whether he was captured.

Carl Shonberger and John Rayl were thought to be among the number who left last night and the parents of Rayl, who is but 10 years of age, at once set about to bring back the boy. Chief Thompson was consulted and telephoned to the chief of police at Uhrichsville, who made an investigation, but failed to find the boy among the employees of the circus. He so informed the authorities here and the mystery deepened. The boy's father and "Dink" Herron left at an early hour this morning for the next stand, where they expected to locate the youngster. Some time during the forenoon young Rayl walked into his home on Market street as though it had been his custom to join a circus every day in the week.

Upon being questioned by his mother it developed that the boys had gone to the country yesterday with a man named Burbick, and had spent the night at his home. Word was sent to Uhrichsville immediately to inform Mr. Rayl of the true state of affairs, in order that he might not be delayed on his return trip.

NO FUNERAL SERVICES

WERE HELD OVER ROBERT WILLIAMS' REMAINS.

Only the Undertaker Was Present When the Body Was Lowered Into the Grave.

The remains of Robert W. Williams, who was killed by a street car Thursday night, were taken to Wellsville this morning and interred in the Spring Hill cemetery. There were no funeral services held and not even a relative or friend was present when the body was lowered into the grave.

Reed Williams, a brother of the dead man, was thought to be working at Beaver Falls, but a message sent to him at that city failed to bring a reply. It is believed he has left there. No other near relatives of the deceased are known to reside in this part of the country.

EAST END NEW HOTEL PROJECT

Plans in Progress for a Fine Structure in the East End.

If what seems to be well founded reports are true the East End will soon have a much needed hotel. The building, it is stated, will be erected by Hal Harker and will be located on the corner of Central avenue and St. George street. The structure will be of brick and will be sufficiently large to meet the demands of the suburb in this line, but owing to the incomplete plans it is not known just what the size of the building will be. Mr. Harker stated to an East End man that the building would be erected either the coming fall or next spring, and that if it was possible to get the necessary workmen it would be built this year.

The East End people will be glad to learn that such a move is under consideration, as a good hotel has been long needed, the present facilities in this line being altogether inadequate to meet the demands of the rapidly growing suburb. It is generally believed that the enterprise would be a paying one, and it is hoped that the plans may be completed and the building erected soon.

OPEN AIR MEETINGS

Free Methodists Holding an Inter-Series at Oakland Grove.

At Oakland Grove the Free Methodists are holding meetings every evening at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow there will be preaching at 2:30 and 8 p. m. by A. L. Duncan and L. C. Andrie, preachers in charge. Other ministers are expected to take part.

The meetings started July 4 and have been well attended and much interest manifested. They will be continued for two or three weeks.

Two Games Today.

The chief amusement at the East End today was base ball. The East End Grays played two games. The first was played at 10 o'clock a. m., when the East Enders went up against the Ohioville Tigers. The other game was played this afternoon when the Grays were pitted against the Buckeyes, of the West End.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Thomas Finley and wife left this morning for Pittsburg, where they will remain for several days on a visit.

Mrs. Hugh Clark, who was struck with lightning, is slowly improving. There is now no doubt of her recovery.

Bert Hershner, of St. George street, has returned from Findlay, O., where he has been visiting for the past few days.

John Derringer, Howard Dawson and Dr. R. R. Dawson, of Esther, Pa., were visiting friends in the East End yesterday.

Irwin Noah, who has been visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. James Noah, of Burgettstown, Pa., has returned to the East End.

TWO NEGROS DROWNED

Had Been in Brilliant Drinking And Their Boat Capsized.

Steubenville, July 6.—George Hansberry, alias Hazen Witchard, and Samuel Logan, alias Logan McClelland, two colored coal miners, were drowned by the capsizing of a skiff in the Ohio river, opposite Brilliant. These two with three white men and another colored man, were in Brilliant drinking, and when they left the river landing were drunk and besides had a load of keg beer.

When they got out in the river some distance a boat came off the bottom of the boat, which capsized. The three white men clung to the overturned boat and were saved and one colored man swam ashore, but the two named were drowned.

FRANK M'KAY KILLED

Victim of an Injury at New Castle Yards—Born at Wellsville.

Alliance, July 6.—The funeral of Frank McKay will be held here this afternoon. He was so seriously injured in the New Castle yards Monday night that he died Friday morning. One of his limbs was amputated immediately and the doctor seemed undecided as to the other, hoping to save it.

Mr. McKay was an unmarried man about 22 years old. He was born in Wellsville, his father being John A. McKay, an engineer on the C. & P. Mr. McKay's mother is now Mrs. A. J. Hall, of Cleveland, and was with him since his accident. Arthur McKay, formerly of Utah, is an only brother. McKay had been employed at the New Castle yards about a week.

WELLSVILLE

A Wellsville Child Has a Very Narrow Escape From Death.

Mary, the two-year-old daughter of Mike Broderick, of Twelfth street, Wellsville, came very near to her death yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. She had gone over the street to her grandmother's house. The elder Mrs. Broderick was cleaning some clothes with gasoline. Not thinking of the child she set a cup half full of the gasoline on a chair. The little girl was thirsty. She took the gasoline for water and drank all of it. She immediately became black in the face and became unconscious. It was quite a while before she came to.

Dr. Rex, who attended her, said that it was a miracle that her life was saved. She is playing around today as if nothing had happened.

ORGANIZER AT WORK

Expects to Bring Wellsville Men Into the Organization.

KRUGER'S VISIT HERE.

Preparations For Oom Paul's Reception in America Being Made.

The Boer sympathizers in the United States are making preparations for Mr. Kruger's expected visit to the United States in the autumn, which was announced some time ago by Montague White, the Transvaal representative in Washington, says the New York Times. C. W. Van der Hoogt, an active Boer sympathizer of Washington, who recently returned from New York, says a conference of leading pro-Boers was held in that city a few days ago and that the chairman of the reception committee was chosen. He will be Consul General Pierce of the Orange Free State, whose office is in New York.

Mr. Van der Hoogt says the Boer agents in the United States are in possession of complete information, both by telegraph and mail, about the progress of the war and that their cable advices show that Mrs. Botha's visit to Mr. Kruger is in no way connected with peace negotiations. Mrs. Botha took with her to Europe detailed information from her husband and from General Schalkburger, the acting president.

"Cable advices of a private nature which I saw while in New York," said Mr. Van der Hoogt, "prove beyond all doubt that the Boers have gained great ground, that they are now in control of all the country in the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Natal and that all that the English control is the main cities and the stations along the railroad lines. The seat of the Boer government is still in the Ermelo district, which is within 40 miles of Pretoria. In the Orange Free State and in the Transvaal the Boers have 15,000 regular fighting men in the field, and the force invading Cape Colony is made up of about 4,000 picked men, divided up into mobile bands, who are recruiting constantly and sending the recruits to Botha and De Wet."

Mr. Van der Hoogt said that General Botha was permitted to communicate by cable with Mr. Kruger on condition that he would get Kruger to agree to certain peace terms, favorable to Great Britain, and that the British authorities should see the dispatches. Botha carried out the agreement, and Kruger's reply was that independence was the first basis of any terms of peace.

Europe's Ice Supply.

Few perhaps among the tourists who visit Norway for the pleasures of its scenery are aware that here they are at the headquarters of Europe's ice supply. To the mountain lakes of that country the continent looks for ice. The ice is of the finest quality, for the lakes are of crystal clear water, high up in the mountains, and are surrounded by very tall pines. The ice supply is controlled by syndicates.

After having been cut into great squares by ploys the blocks of ice are sent down the mountainside on slides. On the way they acquire amazing velocity and plunge into an inclosed pool beyond which are the ice ships awaiting their frozen cargo.

It sometimes happens that through delay in the starting of the vessels or the cutting of unusual quantities from the lakes to supply exceptional demands the supply runs short. Then it is that ice becomes dear and even in winter time is a luxury that must be indulged in sparingly. But ice is used in Europe far less commonly than in America, and a deficient supply does not occasion the sense of loss that it would cause in this country.—Youth's Companion.

She had gone over the street to her grandmother's house. The elder Mrs. Broderick was cleaning some clothes with gasoline. Not thinking of the child she set a cup half full of the gasoline on a chair. The little girl was thirsty. She took the gasoline for water and drank all of it. She immediately became black in the face and became unconscious. It was quite a while before she came to.

Dr. Rex, who attended her, said that it was a miracle that her life was saved. She is playing around today as if nothing had happened.

ORGANIZER AT WORK

Expects to Bring Wellsville Men Into the Organization.

George Evans, of Lisbon, deputy organizer of the Eighth (Wheeling) district for the Amalgamated association, is in Wellsville, talking to employees of the Wellsville Plate and Sheet Iron company, with a view of bringing them into the organization. He tells the men the present is their opportunity to come in, and is confident of seeing an Amalgamated lodge in operation in a short time.

KRUGER'S VISIT HERE.

Preparations For Oom Paul's Reception in America Being Made.

The Boer sympathizers in the United States are making preparations for Mr. Kruger's expected visit to the United States in the autumn, which was announced some time ago by Montague White, the Transvaal representative in Washington, says the New York Times. C. W. Van der Hoogt, an active Boer sympathizer of Washington, who recently returned from New York, says a conference of leading pro-Boers was held in that city a few days ago and that the chairman of the reception committee was chosen. He will be Consul General Pierce of the Orange Free State, whose office is in New York.

Mr. Van der Hoogt says the Boer agents in the United States are in possession of complete information, both by telegraph and mail, about the progress of the war and that their cable advices show that Mrs. Botha's visit to Mr. Kruger is in no way connected with peace negotiations. Mrs. Botha took with her to Europe detailed information from her husband and from General Schalkburg, the acting president.

"Cable advices of a private nature which I saw while in New York," said Mr. Van der Hoogt, "prove beyond all doubt that the Boers have gained great ground, that they are now in control of all the country in the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Natal and that all that the English control is the main cities and the stations along the railroad lines. The seat of the Boer government is still in the Ermelo district, which is within 40 miles of Pretoria. In the Orange Free State and in the Transvaal the Boers have 15,000 regular fighting men in the field, and the force invading Cape Colony is made up of about 4,000 picked men, divided up into mobile bands, who are recruiting constantly and sending the recruits to Botha and De Wet."

Mr. Van der Hoogt said that General Botha was permitted to communicate by cable with Mr. Kruger on condition that he would get Kruger to agree to certain peace terms, favorable to Great Britain, and that the British authorities should see the dispatches. Botha carried out the agreement, and Kruger's reply was that independence was the first basis of any terms of peace.

Europe's Ice Supply. Few perhaps among the tourists who visit Norway for the pleasures of its scenery are aware that here they are at the headquarters of Europe's ice supply. To the mountain lakes of that country the continent looks for ice. The ice is of the finest quality, for the lakes are of crystal clear water, high up in the mountains, and are surrounded by very tall pines. The ice supply is controlled by syndicates.

After having been cut into great squares by plows the blocks of ice are sent down the mountainside on slides. On the way they acquire amazing velocity and plunge into an inclosed pool beyond which are the ice ships awaiting their frozen cargo.

It sometimes happens that through delay in the starting of the vessels or the cutting of unusual quantities from the lakes to supply exceptional demands the supply runs short. Then it is that ice becomes dear and even in winter time is a luxury that must be indulged in sparingly. But ice is used in Europe far less commonly than in America, and a deficient supply does not occasion the sense of loss that it would cause in this country.—Youth's Companion.

STORMS IN PROSPECT

MORE DEATHS CHARGED TO HEAT

Gen. Darr Critically Ill In Washington—Dr. Edmund Weston Died There—9 Deaths In Pittsburgh—9 Deaths In Chicago—7 In New York.

Washington, July 6.—The tenth day of the present heated term was again a "scorcher," except where severe thunder storms, local rains or violent atmospheric changes brought cool weather. In Arkansas, the East Gulf states, Northern Ohio and New York thunder storms brought relief. In Southeastern New England also cooler weather prevailed, the temperatures falling from 6 to 10 degrees.

Last night the weather bureau officials again said the only prospect for relief from the heat lay in the occurrence of storms. There was no prospect, they said of general thunder storms sufficient to make a considerable fall in the temperature. Local thunder storms might give temporary local relief, but weather bureau officials said permanent relief likely would not come until heavy rain storms or local rains prevail.

In Chicago a prospect of a short respite from the heat was given. New York Friday had a two-inch downpour of rain, which sent the thermometer down to 76. East of the Allegheny mountains the temperature rose generally a few degrees over the highest of Thursday, and in portions of the southwest it warmed up so, in Arkansas and Oklahoma, maximum temperatures of over 100 being recorded.

Washington, D. C., was the warmest place east of the Allegheny mountains Friday, the maximum temperature recorded being 95. There was not much humidity, but the air was lively and the day was very trying.

General Joseph W. Darr, who served on the staff of General Garfield during the Civil War, is critically ill from heat prostration. Dr. Edmund Weston, formerly of Vermont, but who has lived in Washington for many years, died from the effects of the heat Wednesday night.

Some of the maximum temperatures reported to the weather bureau include the following: New York, 90; Philadelphia, 90; Chicago, 90; Cincinnati, 92; St. Louis, 100; Kansas City, 90; North Platte, Neb., 94; Dodge City, Kan., 96; Oklahoma City, 102.

Chicago, July 6.—Cool breezes from the northwest last evening broke the term of the hot weather, but before they came nine people had died, seven more were prostrated and one man attempted suicide.

New York, July 6.—Seven deaths and 12 prostrations were reported in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx between the hours of 2 a. m. Friday and 1:30 a. m. Saturday morning from the heat.

One death and five prostrations occurred in the borough of Brooklyn during the same hours.

Philadelphia, July 5.—Deaths and prostrations from the excessive heat continued Friday, about a dozen fatalities and nearly three times that many prostrations being reported.

Pittsburg, July 6.—There were nine deaths, due directly or indirectly to the heat here, some yesterday and some of the number that had not been reported which occurred July 4.

THREE MURDERS; TWO SUICIDES

Of the Murderers—Attributed to Mental Aberration, Supposed From Extreme Heat.

Albany, Mo., July 6.—E. A. McConkey, a farmer, killed John Bryant and his son with a club. Temporary insanity, induced by the heat, is supposed to have caused the tragedy. McConkey attempted suicide.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—P. A. Brackett, a retired farmer of Atlantic, Ia., killed his wife and then fatally shot himself at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Otis E. Powell, here. Brackett was 68 years old. Mental aberration from extreme heat is supposed to have been the cause of the shooting.

TWO OF MURDEROUS ITALIAN GANG CAUGHT.

Wellburg, W. Va., July 6.—Two of the Italians who took part in the bloody butchery at Wheeling Junction, in which Jacob Eidenour and his son were killed and three other members of the family stabbed, were placed in jail here. Frank Farle, one of the men under arrest, has made a confession. At the coroner's inquest William Linton, William Eidenour's brother-in-law, testified that he witnessed the fight, and that his brother-in-law was the sole aggressor. Officers had to guard Farle when first brought to town for fear of a lynching before being placed in jail.

Proposed New Railway Incorporated.

Columbus, O., July 6.—The Marysville, Delaware, Sunbury and Mt. Vernon Railway company was incorporated by B. L. McElroy, Mt. Vernon; James W. Holcomb, Cleveland; F. D. Simons, G. E. Miles and T. A. Simons, of Columbus. The proposed line will connect with the Columbus, Delaware and Marion road now being constructed. The capital stock of the new company is fixed in the incorporation papers at $10,000, but this amount will be increased to $1,000,000 as soon as the organization is completed.

Flowed About 4,000 Per Hour.

Beaumont, Tex., July 6.—Gusher No. 2, Heywood Oil company, was turned into a tank and flowed at the rate of 4,000 per hour.

LABOR TROUBLE A FEATURE.

Had Some Effect on Business—Some Jobbing and Retail Lines Busy. Crop Reports Gratifying.

New York, July 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Development of fresh labor troubles is a feature of the week that has made for conservatism in many directions, but throughout the country jobbing and retail lines are busy and are handling goods at prices which yield fair profits. There is a reflection of this activity in the continued improvement in the textile markets in the east, and the uneasiness over the money market does not extend beyond the ranks of speculators in stocks. Crop reports continue gratifying, much good having been done by rains in the middle west. Harvesting of winter wheat progresses favorably.

Manufacturing has been interrupted by the elements and labor agitation. Numerous prostrations from heat caused humane employers to close mills during the most distressing hours, while the sheet and hoop workers are ordered to stop work until certain disputed points were settled. No immediate settlement is anticipated, because many plants need repair and others are taking stock. Until the owners wish to resume, their position will not be known. The reduction of 25 cents on No. 28 sheets was unexpected, and not accompanied by any general weakening of prices. Foot wear shops in New England are active on fall lines, but local jobbers are less busy, and orders from salesmen on the road are light. Leather is quiet, but firmer, with a splendid export demand for hemlock sole. Woolens and worsteds are selling better, and raw wool is taken more freely, but the average of 100 grades, according to Coates Brothers' circular, was slightly lower at 17.06 cents on July 1. Manufacturing as a whole is unusually active for the season.

Staple products are quiet, speculation being restricted by depressing weather, and the lengthy holidays at most of the exchanges prevented new commitments. News from the west was full of promise as to the growing wheat yield, causing a further decline in prices, although foreign needs are known to be heavy. Corn steadied somewhat because of reported injury from heat and drought. Receipts continue light in comparison with last year's, but exports are equally unsatisfactory.

Sales of No. 7 Rio coffee have been below 6 cents, which is not surprising, since receipts at Rio and Santos ports for the crop year just ended were little short of 11,000,000 bags. Even this record breaking crop will be surpassed if the current yield is equal to expectations. Compared with the prices of a year ago, wheat shows a decline of about 11 cents a bushel, cottons $6.25 a bale and coffee 38c a pound, while corn is not higher than last year's price, and pork products alone of these commodities show any advance.

COMPTROLLER DAWES TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION.

Washington, July 6.—Comptroller of the Currency Dawes tendered his resignation to the president, to take effect Oct. 1. Mr. Dawes resigns his office in order to enter the Illinois senatorial contest this fall.

For Appointment of Lieutenants.

Washington, July 6.—It was stated at the war department that more than adequate provision had been made for the appointments to the rank of lieutenant in the regular army, both by appointments and by designation for examination, a surplus of applicants being allowed in order to provide for possible failure.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Ohio and West Virginia—Showers today, with somewhat lower temperature. Tomorrow probably fair; fresh southwesterly winds.

Western Pennsylvania—Local rains and thunder storms, with somewhat lower temperatures in western portion today. Tomorrow probably fair; fresh southeasterly winds, becoming southwesterly.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Mrs. John Thomas was mysteriously shot, perhaps fatally, at Youngstown.

At Martin's Ferry August Miller, saloonist, was held up and robbed of $325 and some valuable papers.

Mrs. Miller, of Medina, has been in Rogers several days endeavoring to organize a lodge of the Lady Macabees.

The 10-year-old son of M. J. McFadden, prominent business man, was drowned while bathing at Wheeling. Jeremiah Meade, mine inspector of the Wheeling district, also the New river district, dropped dead at breakfast at Wheeling.

Fire destroyed the fertilizer plant of the Wheeling Butchers' association at Fulton, two miles west of that city. The plant was valued at $12,000.

At Youngstown Dora Carosillo, aged 10, while watching a neighbor explode dynamite fire crackers, was struck in the right eye with one. The sight was destroyed.

A coroner's jury has found that the Monaca wreck was caused by an open switch and placed the blame on conductor H. Demorest and his crew, of the construction.

The Leetonia Tool company is the title of a company recently organized, which will operate the new machine shop in connection with the Leetonia boiler works. The principal products will be high grade miners' tools and supplies.

What More Can East Liverpool People Demand?

When old-time residents and highly respected people of East Liverpool make statements like the following, they must carry conviction to every reader:

Mr. Dave Devine, the well-known Second street restaurant keeper, says:

"I had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint. Procuring them at Larkins' drug store I followed up the treatment until I had taken three boxes. They cured me. If they act with every one else as they acted with me this preparation is up to the representations made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

Stoutsville, Mo., May 5, 1900.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with indigestion and constipation for the past two years, and have tried every remedy known, and had never received any relief until I was handed a trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin through our druggist, J. W. Watson, which gave me immediate relief, and I afterward bought a fifty cent bottle, which I can truthfully say gave me more relief than anything I have ever tried—R. B. Hurd. Sold by the W. & W. pharmacy.

A Professional Blunder.

"I am satisfied now that I have made a professional blunder in your case," the physician said, noting the symptoms of his patient.

"A blunder, doctor? Don't I seem to be improving fast enough?" "You are improving too fast. Your malady had begun to interest me exceedingly, and I wanted to see what it would develop into if allowed to run, but I stupidly gave you a prescription that has knocked it entirely out of your system."—Chicago Tribune.

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoea, and will strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

WINE OF CARDUI

Townsend, Ga., May 18, 1899.
I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's I Draught, and they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and not stop work at the monthly period.

STORMS IN PROSPECT

MORE DEATHS CHARGED TO HEAT

Gen. Darr Critically Ill In Washington—Dr. Edmund Weston Died There—9 Deaths In Pittsburgh—9 Deaths In Chicago—7 In New York.

Washington, July 6.—The tenth day of the present heated term was again a "scorcher," except where severe thunder storms, local rains or violent atmospheric changes brought cool weather. In Arkansas, the East Gulf states, Northern Ohio and New York thunder storms brought relief. In Southeastern New England also cooler weather prevailed, the temperatures falling from 6 to 10 degrees.

Last night the weather bureau officials again said the only prospect for relief from the heat lay in the occurrence of storms. There was no prospect, they said of general thunder storms sufficient to make a considerable fall in the temperature. Local thunder storms might give temporary local relief, but weather bureau officials said permanent relief likely would not come until heavy rain storms or local rains prevail.

In Chicago a prospect of a short respite from the heat was given. New York Friday had a two-inch downpour of rain, which sent the thermometer down to 76. East of the Allegheny mountains the temperature rose generally a few degrees over the highest of Thursday, and in portions of the southwest it warmed up so, in Arkansas and Oklahoma, maximum temperatures of over 100 being recorded.

Washington, D. C., was the warmest place east of the Allegheny mountains Friday, the maximum temperature recorded being 95. There was not much humidity, but the air was lively and the day was very trying.

General Joseph W. Darr, who served on the staff of General Garfield during the Civil War, is critically ill from heat prostration. Dr. Edmund Weston, formerly of Vermont, but who has lived in Washington for many years, died from the effects of the heat Wednesday night.

Some of the maximum temperatures reported to the weather bureau include the following: New York, 90; Philadelphia, 90; Chicago, 90; Cincinnati, 92; St. Louis, 100; Kansas City, 90; North Platte, Neb., 94; Dodge City, Kan., 96; Oklahoma City, 102.

Chicago, July 6.—Cool breezes from the northwest last evening broke the term of the hot weather, but before they came nine people had died, seven more were prostrated and one man attempted suicide.

New York, July 6.—Seven deaths and 12 prostrations were reported in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx between the hours of 2 a. m. Friday and 1:30 a. m. Saturday morning from the heat.

One death and five prostrations occurred in the borough of Brooklyn during the same hours.

Philadelphia, July 5.—Deaths and prostrations from the excessive heat continued Friday, about a dozen fatalities and nearly three times that many prostrations being reported.

Pittsburgh, July 6.—There were nine deaths, due directly or indirectly to the heat here, some yesterday and some of the number that had not been reported which occurred July 4.

THREE MURDERS; TWO SUICIDES

Of the Murderers—Attributed to Mental Aberration, Supposed From Extreme Heat.

Albany, Mo., July 6.—E. A. McConkey, a farmer, killed John Bryant and his son with a club. Temporary insanity, induced by the heat, is supposed to have caused the tragedy. McConkey attempted suicide.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—F. A. Brackett, a retired farmer of Atlantic, Ia., killed his wife and then fatally shot himself at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Otis E. Powell, here. Brackett was 68 years old. Mental aberration from extreme heat is supposed to have been the cause of the shooting.

TWO OF MURDEROUS ITALIAN GANG CAUGHT.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 6.—Two of the Italians who took part in the bloody butchery at Wheeling Junction, in which Jacob Eldenour and his son were killed and three other members of the family stabbed, were placed in jail here. Frank Farle, one of the men under arrest, has made a confession. At the coroner's inquest William Linton, William Eldenour's brother-in-law, testified that he witnessed the fight, and that his brother-in-law was the sole aggressor. Officers had to guard Farle when first brought to town for fear of a lynching before being placed in jail.

Proposed New Railway Incorporated.

Columbus, O., July 6.—The Marysville, Delaware, Sunbury and Mt. Vernon Railway company was incorporated by B. L. McElroy, Mt. Vernon; James W. Holcomb, Cleveland; F. D. Simons, G. E. Miles and T. A. Simons, of Columbus. The proposed line will connect with the Columbus, Delaware and Marion road now being constructed. The capital stock of the new company is fixed in the incorporation papers at $10,000, but this amount will be increased to $1,000,000 as soon as the organization is completed.

Flowed About 4,000 Per Hour.

Beaumont, Tex., July 6.—Gusher No. 2, Heywood Oil company, was turned into a tank and flowed at the rate of 4,000 per hour.

LABOR TROUBLE A FEATURE.

Had Some Effect on Business—Some Jobbing and Retail Lines Busy. Crop Reports Gratifying.

New York, July 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Development of fresh labor troubles is a feature of the week that has made for conservatism in many directions, but throughout the country jobbing and retail lines are busy and are handling goods at prices which yield fair profits. There is a reflection of this activity in the continued improvement in the textile markets in the east, and the uneasiness over the money market does not extend beyond the ranks of speculators in stocks. Crop reports continue gratifying, much good having been done by rains in the middle west. Harvesting of winter wheat progresses favorably.

Manufacturing has been interrupted by the elements and labor agitation. Numerous prostrations from heat caused humane employers to close mills during the most distressing hours, while the sheet and hoop workers are ordered to stop work until certain disputed points were settled. No immediate settlement is anticipated, because many plants need repair and others are taking stock. Until the owners wish to resume, their position will not be known. The reduction of 25 cents on No. 28 sheets was unexpected, and not accompanied by any general weakening of prices. Foot wear shops in New England are active on fall lines, but local jobbers are less busy, and orders from salesmen on the road are light. Leather is quiet, but firmer, with a splendid export demand for hemlock sole. Woolens and worsteds are selling better, and raw wool is taken more freely, but the average of 100 grades, according to Coates Brothers' circular, was slightly lower at 17.06 cents on July 1. Manufacturing as a whole is unusually active for the season.

Staple products are quiet, speculation being restricted by depressing weather, and the lengthy holidays at most of the exchanges prevented new commitments. News from the west was full of promise as to the growing wheat yield, causing a further decline in prices, although foreign needs are known to be heavy. Corn steadied somewhat because of reported injury from heat and drought. Receipts continue light in comparison with last year's, but exports are equally unsatisfactory.

Sales of No. 7 Rio coffee have been below 6 cents, which is not surprising, since receipts at Rio and Santos ports for the crop year just ended were little short of 11,000,000 bags. Even this record breaking crop will be surpassed if the current yield is equal to expectations. Compared with the prices of a year ago, wheat shows a decline of about 11 cents a bushel, cottons $6.25 a bale and coffee 33c a pound, while corn is not higher than last year's price, and pork products alone of these commodities show any advance.

COMPTROLLER DAWES TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION.

Washington, July 6.—Comptroller of the Currency Dawes tendered his resignation to the president, to take effect Oct. 1. Mr. Dawes resigns his office in order to enter the Illinois senatorial contest this fall.

For Appointment of Lieutenants.

Washington, July 6.—It was stated at the war department that more than adequate provision had been made for the appointments to the rank of lieutenant in the regular army, both by appointments and by designation for examination, a surplus of applicants being allowed in order to provide for possible failure.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Mrs. John Thomas was mysteriously shot, perhaps fatally, at Youngstown.

At Martin's Ferry August Miller, saloonist, was held up and robbed of $325 and some valuable papers.

Mrs. Miller, of Medina, has been in Rogers several days endeavoring to organize a lodge of the Lady Maccabees. The 10-year-old son of M. J. McFadden, prominent business man, was drowned while bathing at Wheeling. Jeremiah Meade, mine inspector of the Wheeling district, also the New river district, dropped dead at breakfast at Wheeling.

Fire destroyed the fertilizer plant of the Wheeling Butchers' association at Fulton, two miles west of that city. The plant was valued at $12,000.

At Youngstown Dora Carolillo, aged 10, while watching a neighbor explode dynamite fire crackers, was struck in the right eye with one. The sight was destroyed.

A coroner's jury has found that the Monaca wreck was caused by an open switch and placed the blame on conductor H. Demorest and his crew, of the construction.

The Leetonia Tool company is the title of a company recently organized, which will operate the new machine shop in connection with the Leetonia boiler works. The principal products will be high grade miners' tools and supplies.

What More Can East Liverpool People Demand?

When old-time residents and highly respected people of East Liverpool make statements like the following, they must carry conviction to every reader:

Mr. Dave Devine, the well-known second street restaurant keeper, says: "I had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint. Procuring them at Larkins' drug store I followed up the treatment until I had taken three boxes. They cured me. If they act with every one else as they acted with me this preparation is up to the representations made for it."

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

Stoutsville, Mo., May 5, 1900.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with indigestion and constipation for the past two years, and have tried every remedy known, and had never received any relief until I was handed a trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin through our druggist, J. W. Watson, which gave me immediate relief, and I afterward bought a fifty cent bottle, which I can truthfully say gave me more relief than anything I have ever tried.—R. B. Hurd. Sold by the W. & W. pharmacy.

A Professional Blunder.

"I am satisfied now that I have made a professional blunder in your case," the physician said, noting the symptoms of his patient. "A blunder, doctor? Don't I seem to be improving fast enough?" "You are improving too fast. Your malady had begun to interest me exceedingly, and I wanted to see what it would develop into if allowed to run, but I stupidly gave you a prescription that has knocked it entirely out of your system."—Chicago Tribune.

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoea, and will strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

WINE OF CARDUI

Townsend, Ga., May 18, 1899.

I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Drought, and they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and do not stop work at the monthly period.

WELCOME THE POTTERS.

Next week the national convention of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held in East Liverpool. The opening day will be a festive occasion, when the operative potters from all the Ohio valley towns will meet at Rock Springs park for their annual outing. The event promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the year for eastern Ohio wage-earners, and a fitting welcome for the scores of delegates from all parts of the union who are coming here to deliberate upon questions of moment to thousands who depend upon the pottery industry for a livelihood.

From all indications the greeting which East Liverpool will extend to the visitors will be spontaneous, cordial and sincere. We trust this will be the case and that the people of the Crockery City will leave nothing undone that can add to the pleasure and comfort of the Brotherhood delegates. The most successful year in the history of the Brotherhood and of the pottery industry should be crowned by a business-like and harmonious convention which will strengthen the spirit of unity and friendship among the potters of the many sections represented.

East Liverpool is proud of her title, the Crockery City, and rejoices in the opportunity of welcoming the representatives of the Brotherhood.

BOUNTY TO COLLEGES.

During the commencement season, which is not yet quite over, American colleges and universities have received gifts of money and pledges amounting to nearly $13,000,000, according to the list published in a contemporary, and we happen to know that the list is not complete, as the names of several Ohio colleges which have received donations are omitted. Probably $15,000,000 would not be in excess of the sum given by generous rich men and women in the past month for the advancement of higher education. It is a record no other country on the globe can match or approach, and bears out the oft-repeated assertion that our people are the most liberal givers in the world. Moreover, with their native shrewdness, they place the money where it will be useful. It is a grand investment, and the college benefactors at the same time are building for themselves monuments more enduring than brass, more splendid than gems or gold.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

Dr. Joseph Parker, of London, who proposed the health of President McKinley at the American society banquet in that city, said: "Despite the traditional prejudice, which happily has been weakening, it is now well recognized that no other nation can sustain the relations to Great Britain which the United States now holds, and, fortunately, Great Britain and the United States now hold the world's peace in the hollow of their hands."

Traditional prejudice against England, except with American demagogues who find the pastime of twisting the British lion's tail a cheap and expeditious method of gaining brief notoriety, is certainly well-nigh a thing of the past, and the people of both nations are the happier and the better for it. With the peace of the world in the hands of the two most enlightened nations, the dawn of universal peace ought to be near. There is nothing in the past, however, to justify quite such an optimistic view as that taken by the London orator. But be that as it may, the many and sincere tributes of honor and esteem bestowed by Englishmen of renown upon America and Americans at the banquet where the words quoted were uttered afford the best possible proof of the existence of an era of good feeling which is warmly reciprocated upon this side of the Atlantic.

A practical joker is to be tried in a Maryland town for murder. He put a giant fire cracker under the arm of his friend, exploded it and blew a hole in the friend's side. Such a joker as that ought to be hanged first and tried afterward.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kellaway.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Macbeth Kellaway, who lived at the end of the bridge over Little Yellow creek, at the East End, Wellsville, occurred yesterday. She had been ailing since the first of the year. For four weeks she had been confined to her bed. She was 62 years of age. Two sisters survive her. One is Mrs. Daniel Crawford, mother of ex-Mayor Crawford, of East Liverpool, and the other is a missionary among the Indians in Idaho. Mrs. Kellaway was a member of the First Presbyterian church of that city. Rev. L. Finley Lavery will officiate at the funeral tomorrow. Interment will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Rev. Thos. P. Childs.

Salem, July 6.—Rev. Thomas Perry Childs, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in this city, died at his home at Troy, O., aged 84 years. He was born at Woodstock, Conn., June 18, 1817, and was licensed to preach at the early age of 15 years. He assumed the pastorate of the local church in 1867, taking hold of it at a time when its existence was a vital matter. Under his leadership the church grew and prospered.

FUNERAL OF AL JOHNSON.

Rev. Dr. Clover Conducted Services. Members of Family Present. Numerous Floral Tributes.

New York, July 6.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Albert L. Johnson were held at the Italian villa, residence of the Johnson family at Fort Hamilton. The widow, the children, mother of the deceased, his two brothers, Tom L. Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, and William Johnson, of Michigan, were present. There were also present a large number of railroad officials and employees. There were numerous floral tributes from friends and railroad men, including a wreath from the Allentown Traction company and a pillar of flowers from the City hall, Cleveland.

The simple services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George Clover, chaplain of St. Luke's hospital, New York city, who made a brief eulogistic address. The interment was in the family vault at Greenwood, where Mr. Clover read the burial service of the Episcopal church.

CARNEGIES TO DOMINATE NATIONAL AND STEEL HOOP.

Pittsburgh, July 6.—Official announcement was made yesterday that a complete reorganization of the executive departments of the National Steel and American Steel Hoop companies had been effected at meetings of the directors on Wednesday in New York. The new officers are officials of the Carnegie Steel company. The reorganization means that the Carnegie idea will dominate the United States Steel corporation. A special train with 115 clerks and former officials of the National and Hoop companies left New York for Pittsburgh last night. Several who were high officials will be practically clerks.

MUST REMEMBER SUNDAY.

Attorney General Gibson Decides Excursions Can't Be Run on Lake Ontario.

Toronto, Canada, July 6.—Sunday excursions by boats in Ontario must cease. That is the decision of Attorney General Gibson, following on the conviction of a steamboat captain at Fort Erie for running excursions on Sunday from Buffalo to Port Colborne and back. The attention of Mr. Gibson has been directed to infractions of the law at Ottawa, Belleville, Brockville, Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto, and other ports, and the crown authorities will be instructed to prosecute. This is in accordance with a promise made by Premier Ross some time ago to Principal Caven and other leaders of the Lord's Day alliance.

Must Enforce Sunday Law.

Cape May, N. J., July 6.—In addition to the notices sent out Thursday by District Attorney Cole to the saloon men to close their places on Sunday, Mayor Millet Friday received word from Supreme Court Justice Hendrickson that the Sunday law must be enforced. Mayor Millet immediately notified Chief of Police Farrow and he in turn notified the policemen to see that the law shall be obeyed.

LORILLARD VERY ILL.

Dr. Flint Said Early This Morning He Was Failing.

New York, July 6.—Dr. Austin Flint about 1:30 o'clock this morning announced that Pierre Lorillard was failing.

Chicago, July 6.—John S. Hannah, one of the best known grain merchants in the west, and member of the board of trade firm of Carrington, Hannah & Co., died after a protracted illness. He was a Virginian.

WELCOME THE POTTERS.

Next week the national convention of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held in East Liverpool. The opening day will be a festive occasion, when the operative potters from all the Ohio valley towns will meet at Rock Springs park for their annual outing. The event promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the year for eastern Ohio wage-earners, and a fitting welcome for the scores of delegates from all parts of the union who are coming here to deliberate upon questions of moment to thousands who depend upon the pottery industry for a livelihood.

From all indications the greeting which East Liverpool will extend to the visitors will be spontaneous, cordial and sincere. We trust this will be the case and that the people of the Crockery City will leave nothing undone that can add to the pleasure and comfort of the Brotherhood delegates. The most successful year in the history of the Brotherhood and of the pottery industry should be crowned by a business-like and harmonious convention which will strengthen among the potters of the many sections represented.

East Liverpool is proud of her title, the Crockery City, and rejoices in the opportunity of welcoming the representatives of the Brotherhood.

BOUNTY TO COLLEGES.

During the commencement season, which is not yet quite over, American colleges and universities have received gifts of money and pledges amounting to nearly $13,000,000, according to the list published in a contemporary, and we happen to know that the list is not complete, as the names of several Ohio colleges which have received donations are omitted. Probably $15,000,000 would not be in excess of the sum given by generous rich men and women in the past month for the advancement of higher education. It is a record no other country on the globe can match or approach, and bears out the oft-repeated assertion that our people are the most liberal givers in the world. Moreover, with their native shrewdness, they place the money where it will be useful. It is a grand investment, and the college benefactors at the same time are building for themselves monuments more enduring than brass, more splendid than gems or gold.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

Dr. Joseph Parker, of London, who proposed the health of President McKinley at the American society banquet in that city, said: "Despite the traditional prejudice, which happily has been weakening, it is now well recognized that no other nation can sustain the relations to Great Britain which the United States now holds, and, fortunately, Great Britain and the United States now hold the world's peace in the hollow of their hands."

Traditional prejudice against England, except with American demagogues who find the pastime of twisting the British lion's tail a cheap and expeditious method of gaining brief notoriety, is certainly well-nigh a thing of the past, and the people of both nations are the happier and the better for it. With the peace of the world in the hands of the two most enlightened nations, the dawn of universal peace ought to be near. There is nothing in the past, however, to justify quite such an optimistic view as that taken by the London orator. But be that as it may, the many and sincere tributes of honor and esteem bestowed by Englishmen of renown upon America and Americans at the banquet where the words quoted were uttered afford the best possible proof of the existence of an era of good feeling which is warmly reciprocated upon this side of the Atlantic.

A practical joker is to be tried in a Maryland town for murder. He put a giant fire cracker under the arm of his friend, exploded it and blew a hole in the friend's side. Such a joker as that ought to be hanged first and tried afterward.

The youth who celebrated on the Fourth and visited the circus yesterday and still has change in his pocket may become a Russell Sage if he lives long enough.

In the death of Prof. John Fiske, of Harvard, the world of letters loses a conspicuous figure and America one of her ripest scholars.

Luck was against the Americans in the rowing race with the English, but just wait until the yacht race comes off.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kellaway.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Macbeth Kellaway, who lived at the end of the bridge over Little Yellow creek, at the East End, Wellsville, occurred yesterday. She had been ailing since the first of the year. For four weeks she had been confined to her bed. She was 62 years of age. Two sisters survive her. One is Mrs. Daniel Crawford, mother of ex-Mayor Crawford, of East Liverpool, and the other is a missionary among the Indians in Idaho. Mrs. Kellaway was a member of the First Presbyterian church of that city. Rev. L. Finley Lavery will officiate at the funeral tomorrow. Interment will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Rev. Thos. P. Childs.

Salem, July 6.—Rev. Thomas Perry Childs, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in this city, died at his home at Troy, O., aged 84 years. He was born at Woodstock, Conn., June 18, 1817, and was licensed to preach at the early age of 15 years. He assumed the pastorate of the local church in 1867, taking hold of it at a time when its existence was a vital matter. Under his leadership the church grew and prospered.

FUNERAL OF AL JOHNSON.

Rev. Dr. Clover Conducted Services.
Members of Family Present.
Numerous Floral Tributes.

New York, July 6.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Albert L. Johnson were held at the Italian villa, residence of the Johnson family at Fort Hamilton. The widow, the children, mother of the deceased, his two brothers, Tom L. Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, and William Johnson, of Michigan, were present. There were also present a large number of railroad officials and employees. There were numerous floral tributes from friends and railroad men, including a wreath from the Allentown Traction company and a pillar of flowers from the City hall, Cleveland.

The simple services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George Clover, chaplain of St. Luke's hospital, New York city, who made a brief eulogistic address. The interment was in the family vault at Greenwood, where Mr. Clover read the burial service of the Episcopal church.

CARNEGIES TO DOMINATE NATIONAL AND STEEL HOOP.

Pittsburg, July 6.—Official announcement was made yesterday that a complete reorganization of the executive departments of the National Steel and American Steel Hoop companies had been effected at meetings of the directors on Wednesday in New York. The new officers are officials of the Carnegie Steel company. The reorganization means that the Carnegie idea will dominate the United States Steel corporation. A special train with 115 clerks and former officials of the National and Hoop companies left New York for Pittsburg last night. Several who were high officials will be practically clerks.

A CENTER FOR C. E.'S,

Is Cincinnati Today, Where the International Convention
Convenes.

OHIO CONVENTION THIS WEEK.

Across the River, at Covington, the Kentucky Convention Will Meet Today—President Clark, Secretary
Baer and Treasurer Shaw Arrived.

Cincinnati, July 6.—There were many arrivals Friday and last night for the international Christian Endeavor convention, which was to begin today. The annual convention of Ohio and adjoining states will also be held here this week. Among the arrivals Friday were President Francis E. Clark, Secretary John Willis Baer, Treasurer William Shaw and others. There was a very large registration of members and visitors Friday. The business sessions will be held today and the opening meetings tonight. After the addresses of welcome and responses the annual address of Dr. Clark will be made and the reports of the secretary and treasurer submitted.

In addition to many arriving on regular trains, two Kentucky specials arrived at Covington, Ky., last night, where the Kentucky state convention will meet today. Advances received by the local committee indicate that all states will be represented by tonight. Robert Johnson, of London, Ont., one of the leading speakers, was accompanied by a large delegation from Canada. The California delegation is accompanied by delegates from China, Japan, India and Hawaii and Samoa, and the New York and Massachusetts delegates by those from Europe.

FOUR NEGROES HANGED.

Claimed to Be on Their Way to Heaven—Hung at Same
Time.

Chipley, Fla., July 6.—At Vernon, about 16 miles from here, four negroes, Delton Hamilton, John Simmons, Jim Harrison and Will Williams, were hanged for murder. Williams, Harrison and Hamilton had been convicted for murdering a helpless negro named Davis and attempting to kill his wife. John Simmons had killed another negro.

The four negroes were made to ascend the gallows at the same time. Each made short statements, claiming to be on the road to heaven.

EVANS SAW THE PRESIDENT.

Interview Said to Have Been an Extremely Pleasant One.

Washington, July 6.—Hon. H. Clay Evans, commissioner of pensions, called on the president to bid him goodby before his departure for Canton. He told Mr. McKinley that he had been taking an inventory of all pension claims; that he would have his annual report ready very soon, and asked the president if he had any instructions or orders to give. The president made no suggestions.

The interview was an extremely pleasant one, and nothing has developed to change the situation as it has existed for some time past.

BUENOS AYRES

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

New York, July 6.—The Western Union Telegraph company was advised that the Argentine congress had declared Buenos Ayres in a state of siege for six months, and has established censorship on all messages thereto.

YOUNG BOY KILLED LAD,

THEN HANGED HIMSELF.

Albany, N. Y., July 6.—Raymond Albers, a 12-year-old lad, shot and killed Emanuel Koehler, a boy of 12 years, and then hanged himself. The boys were playmates, and according to statements of neighbors they had quarrelled some days ago.

THE LEANDER CREW

BEAT U. OF P. MEN.

Henley-on-Thames, July 6.—The Leander crew won the grand challenge cup race from the University of Pennsylvania. Leander won by about a length.

Lyman A. Strong Assigned.

Mansfield, O., July 6.—Lyman A. Strong, of the Strong Elevator company, member of the grain firm of Strong & Lauck, of Bucyrus, and a heavy dealer in wool, filed a deed of assignment in the probate court to Attorney McWeldon and S. B. Leiter. The failure is attributed to the closing of the Struges bank last Monday. No schedule was filed, but the assets were estimated at $60,000.

Johnson Won't Attend Convention.

Cleveland, July 6.—Director of Public Works Charles P. Salen received a telegram from Mayor Tom L. Johnson stating that he would not attend the Democratic state convention in Columbus. The sudden death of Albert L. Johnson caused the mayor to reach this decision. He will remain in New York for a few days.

Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman Very Ill.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 6.—Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, one of the best known Presbyterian ministers in the country, is seriously ill here from acute indigestion. He rallied during Friday morning, but later suffered a relapse and sank rapidly.

Probably Fatally Wounded His Father

Milford, Del., July 6.—Upon the refusal of his father to allow him the use of a team for a drive, Edward Windsor later probably fatally wounded him. Officers were unable to find the son. It was supposed he suicided.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL RENOVATION

BEING PUSHED BY THE TIN
PLATE PEOPLE AT CHESTER.

Extensive Addition to Be Built on the River Front—Business-
Like Moves.

The work of renovating the Chester mill is going on rapidly. The three smoke stacks which were taken out some time ago were brought back this morning and will be replaced as fast as possible.

The original plan to move the office building back and extend the main building 50 feet has been changed and instead a larger addition will be built.

This annex will be built at the lower side of the mill and will extend farther to the river front than the mill itself. It will be 342 feet long and 66 feet wide with an alleyway 15 feet wide running between it and the main building.

This addition will furnish abundant room for the changes necessary to manufacture tin plate and will also increase the capacity of the mill somewhat. A Pittsburg surveyor is now at work staking off the ground for the new addition.

Several of the furnaces that were partly torn down have been repaired and everything about the mill looks business like.

BROKE HIS LEG

MISHAP OF A CHESTER LAD
WHILE STEALING A RIDE.

Got His Foot Between the Spokes of the Wheel And the Bone
Snapped.

Harry, the eight-year-old son of Joseph Kennedy, of Fairview street, broke his right leg above the knee while attempting to steal a ride on a buggy yesterday afternoon. He was hanging on to the bed of the buggy when his leg slipped between the spokes and the bone was snapped off. The child was removed to his home and Dr. Lewis was summoned.

It was found that it would be necessary to administer an anaesthetic and Dr. Elliott, of East Liverpool, was called. The child stood the effects of the drug all right and the injured member was reset. The boy is getting along nicely, but will be unable to use the injured member for some time.

Valuable.

A bulletin from the West Virginia University Agricultural station has the following about apple growing in the Panhandle:

In the north and west Hancock county leads all others, both in number and size of its orchards, as well as in the aggregate output. Here we find orchards ranging from a few hundred trees to the unusual number of 18,000, under a single management. Several orchards contain upwards of 4,000 trees, while the second largest contains not far from 9,000 bearing trees. As early as 1896 this now famous region reached the enormous number of 100,000 barrels, 300,000 bushels. This crop was borne by a land area not exceeding 2,000 acres. The value of the crop for that year alone was not far from $250,000, most of which was divided among about 20 men.

The one station of New Cumberland handled during that season 70,000 barrels in round numbers. The soil climate and skill of the growers all seem to be the best possible for the development of a commercial apple industry. So far, the orchards in Hancock county have been remarkably free from both insect pests and fungus diseases.

MORROW'S SENTENCE

Chester Liquor Seller Fined $100
And Costs And Jailed
for 30 Days.

In the case of Allison Morrow, tried at New Cumberland for keeping a speakeasy at Chester, the defendant was convicted and fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail in Wheeling for 30 days. Sheriff Allison took Morrow to Wheeling today.

A Badly Injured Finger.

Geo. A. Arner met with an accident yesterday afternoon. As he jumped from a delivery wagon a large set ring, which he wore on the third finger of his right hand, caught on between two rods on the side of the seat and was torn off. The flesh between the middle knuckle and the ring was torn off clean to the bone.

The injury was an exceedingly painful one.

A Quiet Circus Day.

The police officers state that yesterday was the quietest big day that Chester has had since she became a town. No one was badly intoxicated, no fights occurred and not a single arrest was made. A number of extra policemen were put on duty, but their services were not needed at any time during the day.

A Lost 4-Year-Old.

An Italian girl about 4 years old became separated from her parents while crossing the bridge yesterday. She was picked up by Pearl Spivey and taken to Spivey's restaurant. The matter was reported to the police, who found the lost child's parents in the show tent in search of their child.

Knocked Out by a Kick.

One of the circus employees was kicked in the stomach by a horse last night when the paraphernalia was being hauled to the cars. He was not seriously injured, but was unable to continue at work.

CHESTER NEWS NOTES.

Elmer Bennett, of Sebring, was a Chester visitor today.

Stella Cunningham, of Hookstown, is visiting friends in Chester.

George Westlake, of New Cumberland, was a Chester visitor today.

Elmer Wills and wife of Beaver, Pa., are visiting at the home of James Finley.

County Superintendent Geo. A. Allison was in Chester on business today.

Bud Willard left this morning for Buffalo, N. Y., where he will attend the exposition.

Reese Marshall and wife have returned from a short visit to Raven's Rock, W. Va.

Alex G. Pugh, Henry Riley and James Johnston are in New Cumberland attending court today.

Al McDonald, Will Messer and Dick Johnston went to New Cumberland as witnesses in the Morrow case.

What She Saw.

It was at the Normal school that this happened, and the class laughed. It was a laugh on the teacher, too, but he didn't get angry, although it did break into the serious contemplation of serious studies with which he was trying to interest the students.

It was in the study of psychology, and they were discussing what ideas first entered the human mind when certain words were spoken or written—whether the mind thought of one certain object designated by the word or the whole general class which is embodied in that word. To experiment on this mental phenomenon in order to bring it more clearly to the attention of the students the professor said he would write a word on the board and then let one of them tell instantly what impression was made upon her mind.

He called upon one of the pupils to be ready to think quickly and tell exactly what her first thought was after she saw the word which he was about to write. He stood close to the board, so that the word was hidden by his shoulders until he turned. He wrote the word "pig," and all of the class saw it except the girl who was standing ready to make reply. When he turned, he didn't get out of her way, and she couldn't see the word. In reply to his sharp, quick question, "Now, what do you see?" she replied naively, "I see you." And the class laughed.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Pinched on the House.

Jack—I just saw your wife, old man. She was simply stunning. By the way, you're looking rather miserable yourself. What's up?

Tom—Don't get enough nourishment; that's all. You see, I arranged with my wife a month ago to give her a certain amount each week, out of which she was to pay household expenses and buy her clothes.—Philadelphia Press.

Gilbert Islands Tippie.

Neither tea nor coffee is drunk in the Gilbert Islands, but liquor named karafee, or toddy. It is the juice of the coconut tree, from which it is drawn daily at sunrise and sunset. To obtain it the natives climb up the tall trees and while extracting it keep up a constant yelling to let those below know that they are at work. The sap when fresh is a harmless and delicious beverage, but after it has been kept a day or two fermentation sets in, and it becomes intoxicating. Karafee does not, however, fly to the head, but a man who drinks it to excess loses the control of his legs. However, when this befalls a native he has sense enough to remain indoors and shows his face to no one, for if his chief should ever hear of it he would be tried and sentenced to hard labor and a heavy fine.

In former days a native found intoxicated was tied to a tree and received a hundred lashes, the blood fairly streaming down his back. Besides this, all his lands were confiscated to the king forever.—Overland Monthly.

A CENTER FOR C. E.'S.

Is Cincinnati Today, Where the International Convention Convenes.

OHIO CONVENTION THIS WEEK.

Across the River, at Covington, the Kentucky Convention Will Meet Today—President Clark, Secretary Baer and Treasurer Shaw Arrived.

Cincinnati, July 6.—There were many arrivals Friday and last night for the international Christian Endeavor convention, which was to begin today. The annual convention of Ohio and adjoining states will also be held here this week. Among the arrivals Friday were President Francis E. Clark, Secretary John Willis Baer, Treasurer William Shaw and others. There was a very large registration of members and visitors Friday. The business sessions will be held today and the opening meetings tonight. After the addresses of welcome and responses the annual address of Dr. Clark will be made and the reports of the secretary and treasurer submitted.

In addition to many arriving on regular trains, two Kentucky specials arrived at Covington, Ky., last night, where the Kentucky state convention will meet today. Advices received by the local committee indicate that all states will be represented by tonight. Robert Johnson, of London, Ont., one of the leading speakers, was accompanied by a large delegation from Canada. The California delegation is accompanied by delegates from China, Japan, India and Hawaii and Samoa, and the New York and Massachusetts delegates by those from Europe.

FOUR NEGROES HANGED.

Claimed to Be on Their Way to Heaven—Hung at Same Time.

Chilpey, Fla., July 6.—At Vernon, about 16 miles from here, four negroes, Delton Hamilton, John Simmons, Jim Harrison and Will Williams, were hanged for murder. Williams, Harrison and Hamilton had been convicted for murdering a helpless negro named Davis and attempting to kill his wife. John Simmons had killed another negro.

The four negroes were made to ascend the gallows at the same time. Each made short statements, claiming to be on the road to heaven.

EVANS SAW THE PRESIDENT.

Interview Said to Have Been an Extremely Pleasant One.

Washington, July 6.—Hon. H. Clay Evans, commissioner of pensions, called on the president to bid him goodby before his departure for Canton. He told Mr. McKinley that he had been taking an inventory of all pension claims; that he would have his annual report ready very soon, and asked the president if he had any instructions or orders to give. The president made no suggestions.

The interview was an extremely pleasant one, and nothing has developed to change the situation as it has existed for some time past.

BUENOS AYRES IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

New York, July 6.—The Western Union Telegraph company was advised that the Argentine congress had declared Buenos Ayres in a state of siege for six months, and has established censorship on all messages thereto.

YOUNG BOY KILLED LAD, THEN HANGED HIMSELF.

Albany, N. Y., July 6.—Raymond Albers, a 13-year-old lad, shot and killed Emanuel Koehler, a boy of 12 years, and then hanged himself. The boys were playmates, and according to statements of neighbors they had quarrelled some days ago.

THE LEANDER CREW

BEAT U. OF P. MEN.

Henley-on-Thames, July 6.—The Leander crew won the grand challenge cup race from the University of Pennsylvania. Leander won by about a length.

Lyman A. Strong Assigned.

Mansfield, O., July 6.—Lyman A. Strong, of the Strong Elevator company, member of the grain firm of Strong & Launk, of Bucyrus, and a heavy dealer in wool, filed a deed of assignment in the probate court to Attorney McWeldon and S. B. Leiter. The failure is attributed to the closing of the Struges bank last Monday. No schedule was filed, but the assets were estimated at $60,000.

Johnson Won't Attend Convention.

Cleveland, July 6.—Director of Public Works Charles P. Salen received a telegram from Mayor Tom L. Johnson stating that he would not attend the Democratic state convention in Columbus. The sudden death of Albert L. Johnson caused the mayor to reach this decision. He will remain in New York for a few days.

Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman Very Ill.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 6.—Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, one of the best known Presbyterian ministers in the country, is seriously ill here from acute indigestion. He rallied during Friday morning, but later suffered a relapse and sank rapidly.

Probably Fatally Wounded His Father

Milford, Del., July 6.—Upon the refusal of his father to allow him the use of a team for a drive, Edward Windsor later probably fatally wounded him. Officers were unable to find the son. It was supposed he suicided.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL RENOVATION

BEING PUSHED BY THE TIN PLATE PEOPLE AT CHESTER.

Extensive Addition to Be Built on the River Front—Business Like Moves.

The work of renovating the Chester mill is going on rapidly. The three smoke stacks which were taken out some time ago were brought back this morning and will be replaced as fast as possible.

The original plan to move the office building back and extend the main building 50 feet has been changed and instead a larger addition will be built.

This annex will be built at the lower side of the mill and will extend farther to the river front than the mill itself. It will be 342 feet long and 66 feet wide with an alleyway 15 feet wide running between it and the main building.

This addition will furnish abundant room for the changes necessary to manufacture tin plate and will also increase the capacity of the mill somewhat. A Pittsburg surveyor is now at work staking off the ground for the new addition.

Several of the furnaces that were partly torn down have been repaired and everything about the mill looks business like.

BROKE HIS LEG

MISHAP OF A CHESTER LAD WHILE STEALING A RIDE.

Got His Foot Between the Spokes of the Wheel And the Bone Snapped.

Harry, the eight-year-old son of Joseph Kennedy, of Fairview street, broke his right leg above the knee while attempting to steal a ride on a buggy yesterday afternoon. He was hanging on to the bed of the buggy when his leg slipped between the spokes and the bone was snapped off. The child was removed to his home and Dr. Lewis was summoned.

It was found that it would be necessary to administer an anaesthetic and Dr. Elliott, of East Liverpool, was called. The child stood the effects of the drug all right and the injured member was reset. The boy is getting along nicely, but will be unable to use the injured member for some time.

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

"Be seated. What can I do for you?" Lisle did not reply. She stepped forward and without a word of explanation gave the letter which her father had addressed to Craig into the lawyer's hands. He read it through to the end, raised his eyes and asked:

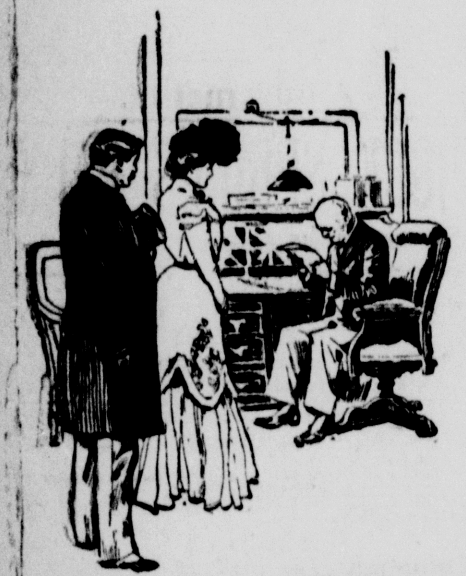

"Have you other proofs of your father's death?"

It was Craig's turn to act, and he stepped forward and laid the death certificate upon the table.

"H'm!" said the lawyer, examining it. "He has been dead something over two months. Now, young lady, if you will wait a few moments until I read a letter which your father left with me to be read by me after his death I will know how I am to talk to you."

He was exasperatingly slow in opening the great safe that was in one corner of the room, in the deliberation with which he took therefrom a bundle of papers, and at last separated one from the others. It was an envelope, sealed with wax, but he broke it open and, still crouching before the safe, read it to the end.

"Very good," he said at last, rising and resuming his chair. "Your father's letter places me entirely at my ease. I am told that, unless you otherwise determine, I am to act as your counsel in all things and that I am to exercise my own judgment in replying to any question upon which you may desire to be informed. Your father's will appoints me your guardian until you are of age. In addition to that, I am your attorney."

"H'm!" said the lawyer, examining it. "Fortunately for me, I can tell you all that you wish to know concerning your father. But, first, who is this gentleman?"

"He is the Mr. Thompson to whom that letter on your desk was addressed, and he is my friend and was my father's friend."

"Very good. We can continue the matter in his presence if you desire to do so."

"I certainly do."

"Do you know anything at all concerning yourself? Do you know if Maxwell is your name?"

"I know nothing whatever about myself. I did not until two months ago know that I was not a man. My father kept me in ignorance of everything which concerned the world or his past. Is my name Maxwell? Are you related to me?"

"No; we are not related. Your father was my friend and my client, and your name is not Maxwell. Your father borrowed the name from me when he went away. Did you never hear of him?"

"No."

"It was understood—at least by me—that you were to be told that I was your uncle. Doubtless Philip never regarded it as necessary."

"To whom do you refer as Philip?"

"To your father. His right name was Philip Barrington."

Craig Thompson, who had crossed the room and was examining the bookshelves, dropped with a sudden crash one of the books that he had taken down.

"I beg your pardon," he said and stooped and replaced the book.

"Barrington," murmured Lisle, not heeding the interruption, which, however, did not escape the keen eyes and shrewd surmise of the lawyer. "Then my true name is Lisle Barrington, or is the name Lisle also false?"

"No; that name was given to you in this room when you were a year old. You had not been named. It was necessary that you should be supplied with one in order that it might be inserted in the will. Your father's mother was a Lisle, and for that reason and also because the name is not indicative of sex you were called Lisle."

"Thank you. Now, sir—tremulously—"can you tell me about my mother?"

"Yes," replied the lawyer. He might have been a stone image for all the feeling he manifested, and yet he must have realized the heart eagerness with which Lisle asked the question.

"Will you do so, Mr. Maxwell? I would like to have you tell me as much as you can about her without question on my part."

"I will tell you all that it is necessary for me to mention. Whatever further information you require I think it best that you should obtain from her in person."

Lisle leaped to her feet in great excitement. Her agitation was so strong

"Yes," said the lawyer calmly, apparently unconscious of the effect produced by his statement, "your mother lives. Her home is not very far from here. I will give you the address when you leave me to go to her, which I suppose is your intention, but—"

"My intention?"

"—but I hope that you will hear me through first. I am very glad that you are here and that it is your evident intention to atone as far as you can for the great wrong that she has suffered. I want to say to you that your father did his wife a deep injustice, and in consequence she has been a great sufferer. But she has borne it bravely and without permitting the world to know of her sorrow. She is still a beautiful woman, she enjoys good health, and she has never despaired of your return. She has always insisted that your father would send you to her when he saw death beckoning to him. She has never looked for his return. Now, Miss Barrington—Lisle started at the name so calmly uttered—"the hour is still early. As your guardian, I regard it as my duty to advise you to go to your mother at once. Such business as we have to transact can be attended to at another time. This gentleman, I have no doubt, will accompany you."

"Yes, at once—at once! I thank you, sir, in my mother's name as well as in mine. Will you go now, Craig?"

"Ready, Lisle," replied Craig, but he did not turn his head, and in another moment they were in the street, and the card upon which Daniel Maxwell had written the address was tightly held in Lisle's firm grasp.

The distance that they had to travel was not great, and it was soon covered, and during the walk not a word was spoken between them until they had mounted the steps which led to the door of the house wherein Lisle was born. Then Craig Thompson put out one hand and detained his companion.

"Wait, Lisle," he said. "There is something that I want to say to you before you ring the bell. It isn't fair that you should have too many sudden surprises in one night, and I want to prepare you for another that is to come."

"What is it, Craig?" asked Lisle.

"Do you remember that night at your home in the west when you sang to me while I sat on the veranda?"

"Yes, I remember."

"Do you remember what you sang?"

"Yes; Asher's 'Alice.'"

"And how it affected me?"

"Yes."

"Do you remember what I said to you about the song at that time?"

"Not distinctly. What was it?"

"I told you that your voice sounded like my sister's. I told you that she used to sing it to me. I told you that I liked the song particularly well because its name was the same as her name—Alice. Do you remember, Lisle?"

"Yes; I remember now."

"Well, little woman, don't you see what I mean?"

"No, Craig. What do you mean?"

"This: When I went away from here 25 years ago, that sister and my worthless self were all there was left of our family. I went away, an outlaw, with state's prison staring me in the face, and it broke her heart. I wrote to her."

"You ought to marry, Mr. Thompson," said Erna. "You wouldn't be so lonely when Lisle and her mother are away."

"Well, I don't know about that. Maybe you're right, and maybe you're wrong. I can't tell, though, what I would do if you were a little older or I were a little younger. Perhaps in that case I'd ask you to marry me."

"It might be that the difference in our ages would not be objectionable to me," said Erna mischievously. "You might ask me anyhow. It is the only way to find out."

"No, it isn't. There is another."

"What is it?"

"Never to ask at all. You see, Erna."

I don't want you. I never would be contented anywhere unless I was boss, and if you made me stand around the way you do your dad I'd be the unhappiest fellow out of jail, and anyhow you're spoke for, so Tom tells me."

"I might give the other fellow the mitten for your sake," she retorted.

"Then I wouldn't have you anyway," he answered. "A gal that'll go back on one fellow for another will never be true to anybody, and I wouldn't give 2 cents for her—not if she was the prettiest critter this side of kingdom come. Come on, Tom. Let's go over to the corral and see the horses."

As they moved away Mr. Thomas murmured in an undertone:

"What a lovely woman Lisle is!"

"You bet!" replied Craig.

"Tonight reminds me of the first time that I ever saw her," continued Thomas. "She was a man then, but even then I noticed that she was not like other men."

"No, and now she ain't like other women either. She's got enough of both in her to make the finest woman on top of God's green earth, and that's what she is."

After that they changed the subject and talked horse.

When I recovered, Alice was insens on the floor, and he had disappeared, carried her to the sofa, saw that she had only fainted, kissed her and went away more than ever convinced that the greatest service I could do for her was to keep out of her life forever. I never once thought that her husband would so misjudge her that she would have no opportunity to explain my identity. I did not know him; I had never seen him; I knew his name; that was all. That night when he struck me I did not see his face. The blow fell before I knew that he was in the room. Lisle, the name of my sister's husband was Philip Barrington."

"Craig!"

"Hush, Lisle; it is true! Your mother is my sister. Her name was Alice Craig. My name is Thomas Craig. I am your uncle. Come, now; let us go in. God has given us the right this night to make one woman happy."

"Two, Craig—I shall always call you that if you are my uncle—two, for I am happy!"

A moment later they passed into the house together.

CHAPTER XVII.

"NOT LIKE OTHER WOMEN EITHER?"

THE scene changes once more to Nevada—to the ranchhouse where Lisle passed the years of her youth. Gathered upon the veranda near where the low windows of the library opened from it were Lisle and her mother, Thomas O. Thomas of Kansas City and his daughter, and, sitting upon the balustrade, with his long legs dangling over it, Craig Thompson.

A year had passed since that same party, with the exception of Mrs. Barrington, was assembled there—a year that had meant much to Lisle and in fact to them all. Craig was just the same old Craig, not a whit altered except by the disappearance of the beard, which he had not again permitted to grow, and the fact that he wore his hair shorter than formerly. In other respects he was the same. He had resumed his western manner and habits with his western dress, and, if the truth be told, Lisle liked him better so. There was something incongruous and unfamiliar about him while he was in the east, and, after the trip abroad, during which he accompanied Lisle and her mother, they all elected to return to Nevada, at least for the summer, and Erna and her father were invited to join the party.

Regarding the reunion of mother and daughter at that time one year ago, when, with Craig, Lisle had left the presence of her lawyer to call upon her mother, very little need be said. To look upon them now, side by side, one seemed to be the counterpart of the other, with the difference wrought by years alone, for, although Lisle had resembled her father, she certainly was "the image of her mother."

The two ranches were combined into one, and both were under the management of Craig Thompson, who had lived the free western life so long that he preferred it to any other and who also clung to his western name with the same tenacity with which he adhered to habits which had become second nature to him.

"Tell you what, Lisle," he said when the conversation lagged somewhat, "people who live in the great cities of the east don't know what life is. You can't live to please yourself in such a place, no matter how hard you try, and out here you can't help it. The only times in my life when I feel independent of all creation are when I have got my legs astraddle of a good horse, with a colled riata on the pommel of my saddle, a pair of forty-fours in my belt, a cool breeze from the peaks of the Sierras filling my lungs and my eyes roaming over a bunch of cattle that stretches away just as far as I can see. That's the life for me, and I'm going to live it to the end of my days. You and your mother can go poking round the world seeing things all you want to, but I'll stay here and see that the bank accounts don't dwindle and keep my account with the Lord straight too, for I don't believe I could do it in the east."

"You ought to marry, Mr. Thompson," said Erna. "You wouldn't be so lonely when Lisle and her mother are away."

"Well, I don't know about that. Maybe you're right, and maybe you're wrong. I can't tell, though, what I would do if you were a little older or I were a little younger. Perhaps in that case I'd ask you to marry me."

"It might be that the difference in our ages would not be objectionable to me," said Erna mischievously. "You might ask me anyhow. It is the only way to find out."

"No, it isn't. There is another."

"What is it?"

"Never to ask at all. You see, Erna."

I don't want you. I never would be contented anywhere unless I was boss, and if you made me stand around the way you do your dad I'd be the unhappiest fellow out of jail, and anyhow you're spoke for, so Tom tells me."

"I might give the other fellow the mitten for your sake," she retorted.

THE END.

SOME NEWS OF INTEREST.

Events of More or Less Importance From Different Parts of the World.

The McKees Rocks Gazette received a letter from Andrew Carnegie, in which he offers to build a $20,000 library in the town if the people will agree to pay $2,000 a year to maintain the institution.

A cable to Paris from Vancouver, B. C., is to the effect that M. Pinchon, French minister to China, has arrived there. He believes there will be no more trouble in China for many years to come.

In the house of commons H. O. Arnold Forster, secretary of the admiralty, announced that the naval program for 1901 included the building of three battleships, six cruisers and 10 destroyers.

Nine persons at the home of John E. Hurford, Euclid avenue, Bellevue, near Allegheny City, Pa., were mysteriously poisoned, and for a time their lives were in great danger. The services of four doctors and a stomach pump were required to get the stricken individuals out of danger.

General Chaffee's first official dispatch from Manila announces the death by dysentery of First Lieutenant Charles McClure, Jr., of the Thirtieth infantry, July 1, at Catalogan, Samar. Lieutenant McClure, a native of Iowa, was appointed from Minnesota, a second lieutenant from civil life, June 1, 1889.

Julius Bolinski, aged 42, a Pittsburgh Polish-German laborer, residing at 1912 South Eighteenth street, extension, is in jail in default of $200 bail for felonious assault on his brother-in-law, Anton Daringer, 1910 South Eighteenth street. Daringer is at the point of death as a result of the injuries he received.

A Washington special said that P. J. Conlon, of Cincinnati, second vice president of the Machinists' association, has arrived there for a conference with the officials of the association. A meeting will be held on the return on Monday of President O'Connell from Pittsburgh. Mr. Conlon states that the strike situation in Cincinnati is unchanged.

A Brussels telegram states that in the parliament a liberal member, Lorand, interpolated the government regarding the threat to expel Andries De Wet, the Boer lecturer. An acrimonious discussion followed, during the course of which a socialist, Demblon, described Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain as a robber and attacked the moral character of King Edward.

General MacArthur, as the last act of his military governorship of the Philippines, cabled that the Meads sailed Friday with himself and three officers and 140 enlisted men of the Eighth battery field artillery. This marks the beginning of the return to America of regular troops who have served their full time in the Philippines.

A Columbus, O., special stated that Allen O. Myers, newspaper writer, author and politician, sued in the United States circuit court the Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Elks of the United States for $50,000. Of this $45,000 is claimed as damages on account of his expulsion from the order by the grand lodge in 1897, and $5,000 for compensation for writing the ritual of the order.

There were no new developments Friday morning in the controversy between the officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and those of the billion dollar steel trust. The labor officials have decided to do nothing rash, but they have also taken a stand, and according to what could be learned not a single backward step will be taken by them.

The cabinet held its last meeting for the summer Friday. Secretaries Hay, Gage and Wilson were absent. Some time was spent in discussing Porto Rican matters. On July 25, according to the declaration of the island's legislature, Porto Rico will be officially in a solvent state and the president will immediately thereafter issue a proclamation ordering free trade between the ports of the island and those of the United States.

Enlata Dexter, head nurse at the State Institution for Feeble Minded Children at Syracuse, N. Y., was attacked by an unknown man as she was crossing the institution grounds Thursday night. The man hit her on the head and shoulders with a dozen savage blows with a club and her condition Friday was serious. There is reason to believe the man mistook Miss Dexter for another woman who used to be a nurse there. He escaped.

A special received from Reading states that the Philadelphia and Reading shop strikers were still out, notwithstanding the signing of a preliminary agreement to go to work. This was the situation that existed there Friday. The men, at a largely attended meeting held in the opera house Friday morning, decided to continue the strike. They say they will stay out until the strikers at Wayne Junction, whose places were filled, are reinstated.

From Butte, Mont., it was telegraphed that no additional word had been received, there Friday morning of the corraling by a sheriff's posse of the men who held up the Great Northern flyer near Wagner Wednesday afternoon. At last accounts the robbers were surrounded on a ranch near Havre and a fight was expected. The bandits have been identified as "Kid" Curry, of the famous Curry outlaws, a man named Longhole and Texas cowboys, whose names have not been learned.

It was announced in the house of lords Friday that the trial of Lord Russell for bigamy would take place July 18, the date originally set. Thursday the lords, in response to a request for more time, postponed the trial till Aug. 6. This did not suit Lord Russell and his counsel and the latter notified the earl of Salisbury, the lord chancellor, that the time allowed was not sufficient to get the American affidavits required. The lord chancellor thereupon ordered the trial to proceed on the day originally set.

Pennsylvania Weasels.

Possibly few who read of "kings' robes of royal ermine" appreciate that the rightful and first possessors of the beautiful coat is sometimes a denizen of the Keystone State. It may be that some subtle force suggested to turncoat monarchs to choose the pelt of this animal for their own. In fact, during the greater portion of the year the ermine is a plain egg sucking weasel. As winter comes on he assumes a white coat, with a black tipped tail.

Putolus noveboracensis, as the scientist calls the weasel or ermine, ranges from North Carolina away up into Canada. It is rare, however, to take ermine or white coated weasels in Pennsylvania, although two specimens have just been received at the Academy of Natural Sciences from Sullivan county. In fact, south of Pennsylvania the weasel never changes color in winter, and this fact goes far to substantiate the theory of protective coloration. Thus when snow covers the ground the white ermine becomes nearly invisible, while in his weasel's guise during the summer he is not nearly so conspicuous as he would be did he wear his white coat all the year round.

Another interesting fact is that while the animals that live in the north always change color those in the south do not, the reason being that their white color would not protect, but destroy, them, as there is almost no snow in the south.—Philadelphia Record.

Witty Barrymore.

Talking of Maurice Barrymore recently, a man who knew him well told this story of him:

Once a wine agent intruded upon a party of which Barrymore was one. The agent told Barrymore he was a man of good taste, and all that, and wound up by saying:

"When you want a bottle of wine in future, will you not gratify me by asking for my wine?"

"Why, of course," answered Barrymore most graciously. "I shall be delighted to ask for your wine. But, heavens! Suppose they should have it!"—Beverages.

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

"Be silent. What can I do for you?" Lisle did not reply. She stepped forward and without a word of explanation gave the letter which her father had addressed to Craig into the lawyer's hands. He read it through to the end, raised his eyes and asked:

"Have you other proofs of your father's death?"

It was Craig's turn to act, and he stepped forward and laid the death certificate upon the table.

"H'm!" said the lawyer, examining it. "He has been dead something over two months. Now, young lady, if you will wait a few moments until I read a letter which your father left with me to be read by me after his death I will know how I am to talk to you."

"This: When I went away from here 25 years ago, that sister and my worthless self were all there left of our family. I went away, an outlaw, with state's prison staring me in the face, and it broke her heart. I wrote to her."

"You ought to marry, Mr. Thompson," said Erna. "You wouldn't be so lonely when Lisle and her mother are away."

"Well, I don't know about that. Maybe you're right, and maybe you're wrong. I can't tell, though, what I would do if you were a little older or I were a little younger. Perhaps in that case I'd ask you to marry me."

"It might be that the difference in our ages would not be objectionable to me," said Erna mischievously. "You might ask me anyhow. It is the only way to find out."

"No, it isn't. There is another."

"What is it?"

"Never to ask at all. You see, Erna, I don't want you. I never would be contented anywhere unless I was boss, and if you made me stand around the way you do your dad I'd be the unhappiest fellow out of jail, and anyhow you're spoke for, so Tom tells me."

"I might give the other fellow the miter for your sake," she retorted.

"Then I wouldn't have you anyway," he answered. "A gal that'll go back on one fellow for another will never be true to anybody, and I wouldn't give 2 cents for her—not if she was the prettiest critter this side of kingdom come. Come on, Tom. Let's go over to the corral and see the horses."

As they moved away Mr. Thomas murmured in an undertone:

"What a lovely woman Lisle is!"

"You bet!" replied Craig.

"Tonight reminds me of the first time that I ever saw her," continued Thomas. "She was a man then, but even then I noticed that she was not like other men."

"No, and now she ain't like other women either. She's got enough of both in her to make the finest woman on top of God's green earth, and that's what she is."

After that they changed the subject and talked horse.

had only fainted, kissed her and went away more than ever convinced that the greatest service I could do for her was to keep out of her life forever. I never once thought that her husband would so misjudge her that she would have no opportunity to explain my identity. I did not know him; I had never seen him; I knew his name; that was all. That night when he struck me I did not see his face. The blow fell before I knew that he was in the room. Lisle, the name of my sister's husband was Philip Barrington."

"Craig?"

"Hush, Lisle; it is true! Your mother is my sister. Her name was Alice Craig. My name is Thomas Craig. I am your uncle. Come, now; let us go in. God has given us the right this night to make one woman happy."

"Two, Craig—I shall always call you that if you are my uncle—two, for I am happy!"

A moment later they passed into the house together.

CHAPTER XVII.

"NOT LIKE OTHER WOMEN EITHER."

THE scene changes once more to Nevada—to the ranchhouse where Lisle passed the years of her youth. Gathered upon the veranda near where the low windows of the library opened from it were Lisle and her mother, Thomas O. Thomas of Kansas City and his daughter, and, sitting upon the balustrade, with his long legs dangling over it, Craig Thompson.

A year had passed since that same party, with the exception of Mrs. Barrington, was assembled there—a year that had meant much to Lisle and in fact to them all. Craig was just the same old Craig, not a whit altered except by the disappearance of the beard, which he had not again permitted to grow, and the fact that he wore his hair shorter than formerly. In other respects he was the same. He had resumed his western manner and habits with his western dress, and, if the truth be told, Lisle liked him better so. There was something incongruous and unfamiliar about him while he was in the east, and, after the trip abroad, during which he accompanied Lisle and her mother, they all elected to return to Nevada, at least for the summer, and Erna and her father were invited to join the party.

Regarding the reunion of mother and daughter at that time one year ago, when, with Craig, Lisle had left the presence of her lawyer to call upon her mother, very little need be said. To look upon them now, side by side, one seemed to be the counterpart of the other, with the difference wrought by years alone, for, although Lisle had resembled her father, she certainly was "the image of her mother."

The two ranches were combined into one, and both were under the management of Craig Thompson, who had lived the free western life so long that he preferred it to any other and who also clung to his western name with the same tenacity with which he adhered to habits which had become second nature to him.

"Tell you what, Lisle," he said when the conversation lagged somewhat, "people who live in the great cities of the east don't know what life is. You can't live to please yourself in such a place, no matter how hard you try, and out here you can't help it. The only times in my life when I feel independent of all creation are when I have got my legs a-straddle of a good horse, with a colled riata on the pommel of my saddle, a pair of forty-fours in my belt, a cool breeze from the peaks of the Sierras filling my lungs and my eyes roaming over a bunch of cattle that stretches away just as far as I can see. That's the life for me, and I'm going to live it to the end of my days. You and your mother can go poking round the world seeing things all you want to, but I'll stay here and see that the bank accounts don't dwindle and keep my account with the Lord straight, too, for I don't believe I could do it in the east."

"You ought to marry, Mr. Thompson," said Erna. "You wouldn't be so lonely when Lisle and her mother are away."

"Well, I don't know about that. Maybe you're right, and maybe you're wrong. I can't tell, though, what I would do if you were a little older or I were a little younger. Perhaps in that case I'd ask you to marry me."

"It might be that the difference in our ages would not be objectionable to me," said Erna mischievously. "You might ask me anyhow. It is the only way to find out."

"No, it isn't. There is another."

"What is it?"

"Never to ask at all. You see, Erna, I don't want you. I never would be contented anywhere unless I was boss, and if you made me stand around the way you do your dad I'd be the unhappiest fellow out of jail, and anyhow you're spoke for, so Tom tells me."

"I might give the other fellow the miter for your sake," she retorted.

As they moved away Mr. Thomas murmured in an undertone:

"What a lovely woman Lisle is!"

THE END.

SOME NEWS OF INTEREST.

Events of More or Less Importance From Different Parts of the World.

The McKees Rocks Gazette received a letter from Andrew Carnegie, in which he offers to build a $20,000 library in the town if the people will agree to pay $2,000 a year to maintain the institution.

A cable to Paris from Vancouver, B. C., is to the effect that M. Pinchou, French minister to China, has arrived there. He believes there will be no more trouble in China for many years to come.

In the house of commons H. O. Arnold Forster, secretary of the admiralty, announced that the naval program for 1901 included the building of three battleships, six cruisers and 10 destroyers.

Nine persons at the home of John E. Hurford, Euclid avenue, Bellevue, near Allegheny City, Pa., were mysteriously poisoned, and for a time their lives were in great danger. The services of four doctors and a stomach pump were required to get the stricken individuals out of danger.

General Chaffee's first official dispatch from Manila announces the death by dysentery of First Lieutenant Charles McClure, Jr., of the Thirtieth infantry, July 1, at Catalogan, Samar. Lieutenant McClure, a native of Iowa, was appointed from Minnesota, a second lieutenant from civil life, June 1, 1899.

Julius Bolinski, aged 42, a Pittsburgh Polish-German laborer, residing at 1912 South Eighteenth street extension, is in jail in default of $300 bail for felonious assault on his brother-in-law, Anton Daringer, 1910 South Eighteenth street. Daringer is at the point of death as a result of the injuries he received.

A Washington special said that P. J. Conlon, of Cincinnati, second vice president of the Machinists' association, has arrived there for a conference with the officials of the association. A meeting will be held on the return on Monday of President O'Connell from Pittsburgh. Mr. Conlon states that the strike situation in Cincinnati is unchanged.

A Brussels telegram states that in the parliament a liberal member, Lorand, interpolated the government regarding the threat to expel Andries DeWet, the Boer lecturer. An acrimonious discussion followed, during the course of which a socialist, Demblon, described Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain as a robber and attacked the moral character of King Edward.

General MacArthur, as the last act of his military governorship of the Philippines, cabled that the Meads sailed Friday with himself and three officers and 140 enlisted men of the Eighth battery field artillery. This marks the beginning of the return to America of regular troops who have served their full time in the Philippines.

A Columbus, O., special stated that Allen O. Myers, newspaper writer, author and politician, sued in the United States circuit court the Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Elks of the United States for $50,000. Of this $45,000 is claimed as damages on account of his expulsion from the order by the grand lodge in 1897, and $5,000 for compensation for writing the ritual of the order.

There were no new developments Friday morning in the controversy between the officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and those of the billion dollar steel trust. The labor officials have decided to do nothing rash, but they have also taken a stand, and according to what could be learned not a single backward step will be taken by them.

The cabinet held its last meeting for the summer Friday. Secretaries Hay, Gage and Wilson were absent. Some time was spent in discussing Porto Rico matters. On July 25, according to the declaration of the island's legislature, Porto Rico will be officially in a solvent state and the president will immediately thereafter issue a proclamation ordering free trade between the ports of the island and those of the United States.

Eulalia Dexter, head nurse at the State Institution for Feeble Minded Children at Syracuse, N. Y., was attacked by an unknown man as she was crossing the institution grounds Thursday night. The man hit her on the head and shoulders half a dozen savage blows with a club and her condition Friday was serious. There is reason to believe the man mistook Miss Dexter for another woman who used to be a nurse there. He escaped.

A special received from Reading states that the Philadelphia and Reading shop strikers were still out, notwithstanding the signing of a preliminary agreement to go to work. This was the situation that existed there Friday. The men, at a largely attended meeting held in the opera house Friday morning, decided to continue the strike. They say they will stay out until the strikers at Wayne Junction, whose places were filled, are reinstated.

From Butte, Mont., it was telegraphed that no additional word had been received there Friday morning of the corralling by a sheriff's posse of the men who held up the Great Northern flyer near Wagner Wednesday afternoon. At last accounts the robbers were surrounded on a ranch near Havre and a fight was expected. The bandits have been identified as "Kid" Curry, of the famous Curry outlaws, a man named Longhelo and Texas cowboys, whose names have not been learned.

It was announced in the house of lords Friday that the trial of Lord Russell for bigamy would take place July 18, the date originally set. Thursday the lords, in response to a request for more time, postponed the trial till Aug. 6. This did not suit Lord Russell and his counsel and the latter notified the earl of Salisbury, the lord chancellor, that the time allowed was not sufficient to get the American affidavits required. The lord chancellor thereupon ordered the trial to proceed on the day originally set.

Pennsylvania Weasels.

Possibly few who read of "kings" robes of royal ermine appreciate that the rightful and first possessors of the beautiful coat is sometimes a denizen of the Keystone State. It may be that some subtle force suggested to turncoat monarchs to choose the pelt of this animal for their own. In fact, during the greater portion of the year the ermine is a plain egg sucking weasel. As winter comes on he assumes a white coat, with a black tipped tail.

Putolus noveboracensis, as the scientist calls the weasel or ermine, ranges from North Carolina away up into Canada. It is rare, however, to take ermine or white coated weasels in Pennsylvania, although two specimens have just been received at the Academy of Natural Sciences from Sullivan county. In fact, south of Pennsylvania the weasel never changes color in winter, and this fact goes far to substantiate the theory of protective coloration. Thus when snow covers the ground the white ermine becomes nearly invisible, while in his weasel's guise during the summer he is not nearly so conspicuous as he would be did he wear his white coat all the year round.

Another interesting fact is that while the animals that live in the north always change color those in the south do not, the reason being that their white color would not protect, but destroy, them, as there is almost no snow in the south.—Philadelphia Record.

Witty Barrymore.

Talking of Maurice Barrymore recently, a man who knew him well told this story of him:

Once a wine agent intruded upon a party of which Barrymore was one. The agent told Barrymore he was a man of good taste, and all that, and wound up by saying:

"When you want a bottle of wine in future, will you not gratify me by asking for my wine?"

"Why, of course," answered Barrymore most graciously. "I shall be delighted to ask for your wine. But, heavens! Suppose they should have it!"—Beverages.

DUE IN CANTON TODAY

Are President and Mrs. McKinley and Those With Them.

MRS. MCKINLEY WAS ALERT

In Her Movements as She Went From the Carriage to the Train, in Washington, but Her Face Was Thin and Pallid.

Washington, July 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley left Washington last night for their former home at Canton, O., where they are to spend the remainder of the heated term, except that the former may visit the Buffalo exposition and run on to Washington for a few days. They were accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. P. M. Rixey, several clerical attaches of the white house and servants. The party occupied the private cars Olympia and Hungary, the president and Mrs. McKinley being assigned to the former. The cars were attached to a regular train on the Pennsylvania railroad. They were expected to reach Canton this forenoon.

Mrs. McKinley, as she boarded the train, showed unmistakable evidences of her recent severe illness in the thinness and pallor of her face, but she moved with alacrity from the carriage, boarded the train without any material assistance, and appeared to be in a contented and cheerful state of mind and quite at ease during about the 15 minutes preceding the departure of the train. She cordially acknowledged the greetings of the friends who had assembled at the station. The weather last night was extremely sultry, but Dr. Rixey did not think it would have any serious effect on Mrs. McKinley, as the mountainous country, with its cool breezes, would be reached during the early evening.

There were a considerable number of people at the station, mostly ladies, who came to see the party depart. Those in official life who came included Secretaries Root and Hitchcock, Comptroller Dawes and the ladies of their families.

Occasional visits at intervals of several weeks may be made by the president to the capital to dispose of any accumulated business demanding his attention. These visits to Washington, and probably one to the Buffalo exposition, it was likely, will be the extent to which the president will be away from Canton during the summer.

SERIOUS EXPLOSION IN A PIT.

Four Fatally Hurt and Three Seriously Injured.

Cincinnati, July 6.—Four men were fatally and three others seriously injured by a gas explosion in pit No. 1 of the series of shafts of the new water works at Torrence road. Those fatally injured are:

Martin McLaughlin,
James O'Brien,
Robert Barnett,
James Bryant.

Seriously injured: John Smith, Robert Thomas and William Thomas. The explosion is supposed to have been due to a small vein of gas that was struck in the excavation. All of the injured are badly burned and several were frightfully crushed.

EXPENSIVE CONNECTING ROAD.

Asserted Lake Shore and P. & L. E. Are to Build One in Youngstown.

Youngstown, O., July 6.—Surveyors, said to be in the employ of the Lake Shore and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads, are running a line for a new track through the residence portion of the city. The track will cross the Mahoning river, giving access to the big plant of the National Steel company.

The line through the city will cost upward of a million dollars, owing to the expensive right of way. It is said the new road will be the connecting link in a direct route from Pittsburgh to Chicago.

Inventor Paroled From Prison.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—S. R. Dawson, who has served about five years of a 10-year penitentiary sentence for shooting Walter Scott, his son-in-law, has been paroled by Governor Shaw. He claims to have recovered the arts of making Damascus steel and of hardening copper. Capitalists who are interested in a company to develop Dawson's processes secured the evidence upon which he was paroled.

To Compete With Oil Trust.

Houston, Tex., July 6.—A charter was filed at Austin for the Houston Oil company, with a capitalization of $50,000,000. The company has been organized to handle oil produced in the Texas field, and is primarily intended as a competitor of the Standard Oil company, first in Texas and afterwards in the domestic and export trade.

Tobacco Makers May Strike.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 6.—Today a committee from the union stogie workers was to wait upon the manufacturers with a demand for an increase of 25 cents a thousand, advancing the scale to $3.75 a thousand. The manufacturers are violently opposed, and it is thought there will be a strike.

One Dead; Seven Ill.

Pomeroy, O., July 6.—Stephen Kay, aged 14, is dead and seven other boys are dangerously ill from drinking wine containing belladonna at New Haven, W. Va. The boys, whose ages range from 14 to 16, secured several bottles of belladonna by mistake.

A WOMAN ART LEADER.

Pan-American Fair Owe Much of Its Beauty to Miss Thorpe.

Miss Adelaide Jane Thorpe, assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American exposition, deserves credit for the beautiful interiors of most of the buildings of the great fair. She has wrought wonders, in many cases with the most commonplace of materials. She is a true artist in every sense of the term. Although nominally under control of C. Y. Turner, the artist who is director of color for the entire exposition, Miss Thorpe really works independently, for Mr. Turner has full confidence in her. The result justifies his trust.

Miss Thorpe is young, bright and intensely vivacious, although a business-like young woman. She is necessarily a hard worker, for her connection with the Pan-American entails much labor. It needs but a minute's interview with Miss Thorpe to convince one that her heart is in her work.

The assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American has had no art training in the usual meaning of the term. Her artistic instincts are self-developed, and she is not the product of any school. Miss Thorpe is the daughter of an expert cabinet maker and the sister of an expert upholsterer and interior decorator. Her first work was done in her chosen field while she was still a child, and she has steadily advanced. Miss Thorpe's opinions on interior decoration are now sought by such eminent artists as Blashfield, Edwin A. Abbey, Benjamin Constant, F. S. Church, De Thulstrup and Smedley.

Miss Thorpe's first work was in the line of tapestry and embroidery, and she became exceedingly deft in repairing products of the needle sometimes centuries old. The work, however, proved injurious to her eyes, and she gave it up for the designing of historical costumes. She also began to take commissions for color designs for rooms and even for entire houses. She has been very successful.

The ideas of Miss Thorpe run beyond interior decoration. "If red, yellow and a touch of green are the dominant Pan-American colors, what would be the combination for Greater New York?" she was asked. "I would add a little more green," answered Miss Thorpe.

CARACAS TO LISBON.

Why Mr. Loomis Was Transferred From Venezuela to Portugal.

As persona non grata to President Castro of Venezuela Mr. Francis B. Loomis could not of course remain at Caracas as minister. So the state department recalled Mr. Loomis ostensibly for consultation. He is not going back to Caracas, for he has been assigned instead to represent us at the court of Portugal. Minister Bowen, until now in Persia, goes to Venezuela. It is understood that by transferring Minister Loomis our government does not in any degree disapprove of his course in Venezuela. He is transferred merely to avoid friction, and his instructions hold good to his successor.

Minister Loomis is one of the numerous examples of newspaper men who have become diplomatic. On leaving college Mr. Loomis engaged in journalism, mingling also in politics. In 1884 he accompanied James G. Blaine on his trip from Maine to Wisconsin, and two years later Mr. Loomis became state historian of Ohio. After more journalism and political literary work Mr. Loomis in 1890 became United States consul at St. Etienne, France. His consular reports were conspicuous for their literary quality. President Cleveland offered him a reappointment, but it was declined. In 1897 Mr. Loomis became our minister to Venezuela.

A Cruel Blunder.

Two brothers had the habit of calling on the same South Side girl. One of the brothers, George, was to take part in some private theatricals, and the girl had promised to fix up a shirt and a pair of shoes for his costume. The articles were to be delivered to her on a certain evening.

Frank, the second brother, took it into his head to call on the girl that same evening. Frank knew nothing of the arrangements George had made with her to help him with his costume. He rang the bell, asked the maid to tell the girl that Mr. Allen had called and sat down in the parlor.

The maid went up stairs and presently returned, trying hard not to smile.

"Miss Jones says she is busy just now and that you are to send up your shirt and shoes," was the message she handed Frank.

"What?" he yelled.

"I'm to take up your shirt and shoes."

"Thanks, but I may need them myself to go home with. I hope Miss Jones will be better in the morning. Never mind; I will close the door myself."—Chicago Chronicle.

Where He Failed.

The young man drew himself up to his full height.

"I have," he cried, "an unsullied character, an ardent heart, a versatile mind and strenuous biceps."

The young girl yawned and seemed interested.

He was quick to push his advantage.

"I am the possessor of a town and country house, a yacht, a stable of thoroughbreds and a box at the opera."

She hesitated, and a slight flush betrayed that she was listening.

"I have got," he continued, with a certain fierceness, "30 servants, 40 pairs of trousers, 50 ancestors, three automobiles, six prize bull pups and an army commission."

Ah, she had found her tongue at last!

"And how many golf medals?" she hissed.

The young man shuddered.

He felt that he had lost. He had played nervily and high, but she was above his limit.—Judge.

Settled.

Two ladies contended for precedence in the court of Charles V. They appealed to the monarch, who, like Solomon, awarded, "Let the eldest go first." Such a dispute was never known afterward.

RECOGNITION SERVICE

To Be Held by the Baptists of East Liverpool Next Thursday Evening.

The Baptists of the city are now about to crown their efforts of the past two years with success. On Thursday, July 11, in the United Presbyterian church they will be recognized as a regular Baptist church. For this purpose invitations have been sent out to numerous churches to send representatives to the council, which will examine the articles of faith of the East Liverpool Baptists, and if approved, the Baptist church here will be formally and publicly recognized as a church of that faith.

Among those invited are W. H. Doane, Cincinnati; Rev. G. E. Leonard, D. D., Granville; Rev. Chaney, Ph. D., Wooster, and Rev. C. B. Allen, D. D., Canton. These, with others of recognized ability and influence, will form the council and make it one of value and influence to those who attend.

Arrangements are being made also for addresses by some of the patrons of the church in this city. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to be informed of the doctrines and practices of the Baptist denomination. The formal council will meet in the church named at 2:30 p. m., standard time, and at 8 p. m., city time, there will be a more public recognition service to which the public is urged to come.

To All Manufacturers And Water Consumers.

For the next ten days, commencing this day, June 26, the reservoir will be empty so that a connection can be made between the old and new reservoirs. Therefore, we request all consumers to be careful and use as little as possible.

The water department will furnish ample water for all purposes during the time the reservoir is empty, but you can help the department by being careful and by not allowing any waste.

Respectfully,

As a Food For the Skin.

To Make It Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin irritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking an application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the smarting and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Tim

In Effect May 26, 1901.

DUE IN CANTON TODAY

Are President and Mrs. McKinley and Those With Them.

MRS. MCKINLEY W.S. ALERT

In Her Movements as She Went From the Carriage to the Train, in Washington, but Her Face Was Thin and Pallid.

Washington, July 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley left Washington last night for their former home at Canton, O., where they are to spend the remainder of the heated term, except that the former may visit the Buffalo exposition and run on to Washington for a few days. They were accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. P. M. Rixey, several clerical attaches of the white house and servants. The party occupied the private cars Olympia and Hungary, the president and Mrs. McKinley being assigned to the former. The cars were attached to a regular train on the Pennsylvania railroad. They were expected to reach Canton this forenoon.

Mrs. McKinley, as she boarded the train, showed unmistakable evidences of her recent severe illness in the thinness and pallor of her face, but she moved with alacrity from the carriage, boarded the train without any material assistance, and appeared to be in a contented and cheerful state of mind and quite at ease during about the 15 minutes preceding the departure of the train. She cordially acknowledged the greetings of the friends who had assembled at the station. The weather last night was extremely sultry, but Dr. Rixey did not think it would have any serious effect on Mrs. McKinley, as the mountainous country, with its cool breezes, would be reached during the early evening. There were a considerable number of people at the station, mostly ladies, who came to see the party depart. Those in official life who came included Secretaries Root and Hitchcock, Comptroller Dawes and the ladies of their families.

Occasional visits at intervals of several weeks may be made by the president to the capital to dispose of any accumulated business demanding his attention. These visits to Washington, and probably also to the Buffalo exposition, it was likely, will be the extent to which the president will be away from Canton during the summer.

SERIOUS EXPLOSION IN A PIT.

Four Fatally Hurt and Three Seriously Injured.

Cincinnati, July 6.—Four men were fatally and three others seriously injured by a gas explosion in pit No. 1 of the series of shafts of the new water works at Torrence road. Those fatally injured are:

Martin McLaughlin, James O'Brien, Robert Barnett, James Bryant.

Seriously injured: John Smith, Robert Thomas and William Thomas. The explosion is supposed to have been due to a small vein of gas that was struck in the excavation. All of the injured are badly burned and several were frightfully crushed.

EXPENSIVE CONNECTING ROAD.

Asserted Lake Shore and P. & L. E. Are to Build One in Youngstown.

Youngstown, O., July 6.—Surveyors, said to be in the employ of the Lake Shore and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads, are running a line for a new track through the residence portion of the city. The track will cross the Mahoning river, giving access to the big plant of the National Steel company.

The line through the city will cost upward of a million dollars, owing to the expensive right of way. It is said the new road will be the connecting link in a direct route from Pittsburgh to Chicago.

Inventor Paroled From Prison.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—S. R. Dawson, who has served about five years of a 10-year penitentiary sentence for shooting Walter Scott, his son-in-law, has been paroled by Governor Shaw. He claims to have recovered the arts of making Damascus steel and of hardening copper. Capitalists who are interested in a company to develop Dawson's processes secured the evidence upon which he was paroled.

To Compete With Oil Trust.

Houston, Tex., July 6.—A charter was filed at Austin for the Houston Oil company, with a capitalization of $50,000,000. The company has been organized to handle oil produced in the Texas field, and is primarily intended as a competitor of the Standard Oil company, first in Texas and afterwards in the domestic and export trade.

Tobacco Makers May Strike.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 6.—Today a committee from the union stogie workers was to wait upon the manufacturers with a demand for an increase of 25 cents a thousand, advancing the scale to $3.75 a thousand. The manufacturers are violently opposed, and it is thought there will be a strike.

One Dead; Seven Ill.

Pomeroy, O., July 6.—Stephen Kay, aged 14, is dead and seven other boys are dangerously ill from drinking wine containing belladonna at New Haven, W. Va. The boys, whose ages range from 14 to 16, secured several bottles of belladonna by mistake.

Yachts to Race Today.

Newport, R. I., July 6.—The Constitution, Independence and Columbia were to race today.

A WOMAN ART LEADER.

Pan-American Fair Owe Much of Its Beauty to Miss Thorpe.

Miss Adelaide Jane Thorpe, assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American exposition, deserves credit for the beautiful interiors of most of the buildings of the great fair. She has wrought wonders, in many cases with the most commonplace of materials. She is a true artist in every sense of the term. Although nominally under control of C. Y. Turner, the artist who is director of color for the entire exposition, Miss Thorpe really works independently, for Mr. Turner has full confidence in her. The result justifies his trust.

Miss Thorpe is young, bright and intensely vivacious, although a business-like young woman. She is necessarily a hard worker, for her connection with the Pan-American entails much labor. It needs but a minute's interview with Miss Thorpe to convince one that her heart is in her work.

The assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American has had no art training in the usual meaning of the term. Her artistic instincts are self-developed, and she is not the product of any school. Miss Thorpe is the daughter of an expert cabinet maker and the sister of an expert upholsterer and interior decorator. Her first work was done in her chosen field while she was still a child, and she has steadily advanced. Miss Thorpe's opinions on interior decoration are now sought by such eminent artists as Blashfield, Edwin A. Abbey, Benjamin Constant, F. S. Church, De Thulstrup and Smedley.

Miss Thorpe's first work was in the line of tapestry and embroidery, and she became exceedingly deft in repairing products of the needle sometimes centuries old. The work, however, proved injurious to her eyes, and she gave it up for the designing of historical costumes. She also began to take commissions for color designs for rooms and even for entire houses. She has been very successful.

The ideas of Miss Thorpe run beyond interior decoration. "If red, yellow and a touch of green are the dominant Pan-American colors, what would be the combination for Greater New York?" she was asked. "I would add a little more green," answered Miss Thorpe.

CARACAS TO LISBON.

Why Mr. Loomis Was Transferred From Venezuela to Portugal.

As persona non grata to President Castro of Venezuela Mr. Francis B. Loomis could not of course remain at Caracas as minister. So the state department recalled Mr. Loomis ostensibly for consultation. He is not going back to Caracas, for he has been assigned instead to represent us at the court of Portugal. Minister Bowen, until now in Persia, goes to Venezuela. It is understood that by transferring Minister Loomis our government does not in any degree disapprove of his course in Venezuela. He is transferred merely to avoid friction, and his instructions hold good to his successor.

Minister Loomis is one of the numerous examples of newspaper men who have become diplomatic. On leaving college Mr. Loomis engaged in journalism, mingling also in politics. In 1884

he accompanied James G. Blaine on his trip from Maine to Wisconsin, and two years later Mr. Loomis became state historian of Ohio. After more journalism and political literary work Mr. Loomis in 1890 became United States consul at St. Etienne, France. His consular reports were conspicuous for their literary quality. President Cleveland offered him a reappointment, but it was declined. In 1897 Mr. Loomis became our minister to Venezuela.

A Cruel Murder.

Two brothers had the habit of calling on the same South Side girl. One of the brothers, George, was to take part in some private theatricals, and the girl had promised to fix up a shirt and a pair of shoes for his costume. The articles were to be delivered to her on a certain evening.

Frank, the second brother, took it into his head to call on the girl that same evening. Frank knew nothing of the arrangements George had made with her to help him with his costume. He rang the bell, asked the maid to tell the girl that Mr. Allen had called and sat down in the parlor.

The maid went up stairs and presently returned, trying hard not to smile.

"Miss Jones says she is busy just now and that you are to send up your shirt and shoes," was the message she handed Frank.

"What?" he yelled. "I'm to take up your shirt and shoes." "Thanks, but I may need them myself to go home with. I hope Miss Jones will be better in the morning. Never mind; I will close the door myself."—Chicago Chronicle.

Where He Failed.

The young man drew himself up to his full height. "I have," he cried, "an unsullied character, an ardent heart, a versatile mind and strenuous biceps."

The young girl yawned and seemed interested.

He was quick to push his advantage. "I am the possessor of a town and country house, a yacht, a stable of thoroughbreds and a box at the opera." She hesitated, and a slight flush betrayed that she was listening.

"I have got," he continued, with a certain fierceness, "30 servants, 40 pairs of trousers, 50 ancestors, three automobiles, six prize bull pups and an army commission."

Ah, she had found her tongue at last! "And how many golf medals?" she hisped.

The young man shuddered. He felt that he had lost. He had played nervily and high, but she was above his limit.—Judge.

Settled.

Two ladies contended for precedence in the court of Charles V. They appealed to the monarch, who, like Solomon, awarded, "Let the eldest go first." Such a dispute was never known afterward.

RECOGNITION SERVICE

To Be Held by the Baptists of East Liverpool Next Thurs. day Evening.

The Baptists of the city are now about to crown their efforts of the past two years with success. On Thursday, July 11, in the United Presbyterian church they will be recognized as a regular Baptist church. For this purpose invitations have been sent out to numerous churches to send representatives to the council, which will examine the articles of faith of the East Liverpool Baptists, and if approved, the Baptist church here will be formally and publicly recognized as a church of that faith.

Among those invited are W. H. Doane, Cincinnati; Rev. G. E. Leonard, D. D. Granville; Rev. Chansey Ph. D. Wooster, and Rev. C. B. Allen, D. D. Canton. These, with others of recognized ability and influence, will form the council and make it one of value and influence to those who attend.

Arrangements are being made also for addresses by some of the patrons of the church in this city. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to be informed of the doctrines and practices of the Baptist denomination. The formal council will meet in the church named at 2:30 p. m., standard time, and at 8 p. m., city time, there will be a more public recognition service to which the public is urged to come.

To All Manufacturers And Water Consumers.

For the next ten days, commencing this day, June 26, the reservoir will be empty so that a connection can be made between the old and new reservoirs. Therefore, we request all consumers to be careful and use as little as possible.

The water department will furnish ample water for all purposes during the time the reservoir is empty, but you can help the department by being careful and by not allowing any waste.

Respectfully,

As a Food For the Skin.

To Make It Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin irritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

A Celebration Victim—John Milliron about 10 years of age, of Third street, celebrated the Fourth. His hand was badly injured by a horse pistol which he was firing.

Shipped Away—The following movements were this morning shipped from the freight station: R. Smith and Herbert Smith, to Ford City, and Ed T. Miller to Sebring.

Pastor Gladden's Mother Ill—Rev. W. H. Gladden was summoned to Waynesburg, Pa., this morning by the serious illness of his aged mother. Mr. and Mrs. Gladden left on the early train for that town.

Off for the Seashore—The following people left yesterday afternoon for Atlantic City: Mrs. C. A. Bostick and children, Arthur and Florence; George Jackson, Robert Webb, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. I. Bentley Pope and daughter Jessie, and William Wildblood.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings—The experiment of holding the Y. M. C. A. meetings in the gymnasium was tried last Sunday and the room found so cool and pleasant that the meetings will be continued there during the hot weather. The boys' meeting will be held at 2 and the men's at 4 as usual tomorrow.

Two Baseball Clubs—Two baseball clubs have been formed by the Y. M. C. A. members. Secretary Wright has engaged the West End park for one evening each week, and practice games will be held, commencing next Wednesday. After that the boys will meet for practice every Thursday evening, and they expect ere long to have teams able to compete with some of the leading clubs of this vicinity.

Toyed With a Pistol—James Pickering, a clerk at the First National bank, is suffering from a badly swollen finger, the result of a wound, received while toying with a pistol yesterday. The weapon contained only blank cartridges, and for that reason the finger was not torn off. The pistol was accidentally discharged while the first finger of the left hand was partly in front of the barrel. The member was considerably mangled and burned.

Will Save Her Sight. Lisbon, July 6, (Special)—The little daughter of John Welch, whose left eye was injured by the explosion of a fire cracker on the Fourth is improving. Her eye will be saved.

BEER AND GAS PROVED FATAL FOR FOUR.

Monongahela, Pa., July 6.—Four Italian miners, while on a spree, went to an abandoned coal mine at Catsburg, about a mile from Monongahela. They were overcome with fire damp and were found dead.

BOERS WRECKED A TRAIN, NINETEEN WERE KILLED.

London, July 6.—General Lord Kitchener reports that Boers wrecked a train at North Nabroomspuit. Nineteen persons were killed, including four natives.

Dorman Case Postponed.

Pittsburg, July 6.—In this city testimony was to have been taken Friday in criminal court before Judges John D. Shafer and Elliot Rodgers to enable the court to determine the grade of murder for which Walter Dorman is to be sentenced for his complicity in the murder of Thomas Donnell Kahney, but because of Mrs. Kahney's illness the hearing had to be adjourned to 1 p. m. After calling one or two witnesses the case was again postponed until Monday. The motion for a new trial for Ed Biddle was argued Friday.

A Labor Organization Sued.

Dayton, July 6.—The Dayton Manufacturing company, which underwent a long strike with the metal polishers, brought suit for $25,000 damages against the polishers, as a local organization and as individuals. The purpose of the suit is to establish the equity of personal liability in strike troubles where damages ensue to the

A Business Proposition.
A successful business career cannot be achieved without sound health. The business man should guard his health as he guards his capital; for health is part of his capital and the impairment of that capital affects every business interest. A sedentary occupation and quick lunches, soon show their effects in a sluggish liver. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure "liver trouble" as well as indigestion and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. The "Discovery" strengthens the body by supplying Nature with strength making materials. It contains no whiskey, alcohol or other intoxicant. "After three years of suffering with liver trouble and malaria," writes Mr. Edward Jacobs of Marengo, Crawford Co., Indiana, "I gave up all hopes of ever getting stout again, and the last chance was to try your medicine. I had tried all the home doctors and received but little relief. After taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' I am stout and hearty. It is due entirely to your wonderful medicines." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Free Methodist.

Sabbath school at 2:30 p. m., followed by class meeting. Preaching services at 7:30 p. m.

Evangelical Lutheran.

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Third and Jackson streets, Rev. J. G. Reinartz, pastor—German services at 10:45 a. m.; English services at 8 p. m.; Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.

Protestant Episcopal.

St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Rev. Edwin Weary, rector—Fifth Sunday after Trinity. Services as usual.

WELLSVILLE CHURCHES.

Second Presbyterian.

Rev. C. L. V. McKee, pastor. Morning: "A Stirring Up;" Evening: "Piety and Patriotism."

Immaculate Conception.

Rev. Father Halligan, pastor. The hours for services will be changed during July and August to 6:30 and 8:30 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Christian.

Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor. Services at the usual hours. The pastor will not be in the pulpit tomorrow. He will attend the Christian Endeavor convention in Cincinnati.

Evangelical.

Rev. C. F. Spreng, pastor. Services morning and evening at the usual hours. Evening subject: "Elijah on Mt. Horeb."

United Presbyterian.

Rev. W. M. Glasgow, pastor. Preaching at the usual times by the pastor.

Winding Timepieces.

"I have been doing a little figuring on time," remarked an erratic citizen yesterday, "and I have reached some rather interesting conclusions. I wanted to find out how much time man consumed in keeping tab on time, and I found that, if the whole world is considered in the computation, years would be crowded into a second of time."

"To illustrate what I mean, take a city where 100,000 watches are wound up every day. Now, it takes probably an average of 15 seconds to wind a watch. It would take, then, 1,500,000 seconds to wind 100,000 watches. This would mean 25,000 minutes or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 25 days and 10 hours. I suppose there are in the city of New Orleans 100,000 watches and clocks to be wound up every day, so that nearly a month is spent in the city every day in winding watches and clocks."

"One man in a year's time would consume 5,475 seconds in winding his watch if he is prompt about it and is willing to give 15 seconds every day to this useful article. This would mean several hours during every year that he kept up the practice. Allowing 35 years as the average life, a man would spend 191,525 seconds, or 3,190 minutes and 41 seconds, or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 22 days and 20 hours, in winding his watch."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Not Needed.

He was obviously anxious, and she seemed almost willing. "I shall refer you to papa," said she, with a becoming blush, "before giving you a final answer."

"But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," said he magnanimously.—Indianapolis News.

No Possibility.

"Are you never afraid, Uncle Rastus," asked one of the scoffers, "of falling from grace?" "Cannel," replied Uncle Rastus, "how in a pussen fall I'm de bedrock?"—Chicago Tribune.

East Liverpool, O.

When Mayor Meets Mayor. Civic characters of local fame imbued with a sense of their own importance are not wholly unknown in this country, a fact which may account for the familiar ring of the following story found in "Highways and Byways in East Anglia."

Mayor Wakefield one day set out for the next town with a load of hay. On the way a truss fell from the load, and he applied to a passerby for assistance in replacing it. The man addressed, instead of rendering willing aid, drew himself up to rather more than his normal height and said:

"Are you aware that you are addressing the mayor of Lynn?"

"Man," replied Wakefield, "that don't make no odds. I'm the mayor of Catte Rising. Now will you lend a hand?"

"With pleasure," replied the mayor of Lynn.

Antique Clocks.

A common trick of clock makers and repairers of years ago, when the craze for antique "grandfather" clocks first showed itself, was to alter the names and dates of the original makers on each of these clocks as came to them. This trick has made it difficult to prove the exact age of an old clock now, even by experts, and still more difficult to learn the name of the real maker. Reputable repairers do not follow the practice in these days, having realized that it results in the end in injury to the business.—Jewellers' Circular-Week-ly.

ARTISTIC DESIGN IN WALL PAPER

A Business Proposition.

A successful business career cannot be achieved without sound health. The business man should guard his health as he guards his capital; for health is part of his capital and the impairment of that capital affects every business interest. A sedentary occupation and quick lunches, soon show their effects in a sluggish liver. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure "liver trouble" as well as indigestion and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Discovery" strengthens the body by supplying Nature with strength making materials. It contains no whiskey, alcohol or other intoxicant. "After three years of suffering with liver trouble and malaria," writes Mr. Edward Jacobs, of Marengo, Crawford Co., Indiana, "I gave up all hopes of ever getting stout again, and the last chance was to try your medicine. I had tried all the home doctors and received but little relief. After taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his Pleasant Pellets I am stout and hearty. It is due entirely to your wonderful medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Winding Timepieces.

"I have been doing a little figuring on time," remarked an erratic citizen yesterday, "and I have reached some rather interesting conclusions. I wanted to find out how much time man consumed in keeping tab on time, and I found that, if the whole world is considered in the computation, years would be crowded into a second of time."

"To illustrate what I mean, take a city where 100,000 watches are wound up every day. Now, it takes probably an average of 15 seconds to wind a watch. It would take, then, 1,500,000 seconds to wind 100,000 watches. This would mean 25,000 minutes or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 25 days and 16 hours. I suppose there are in the city of New Orleans 100,000 watches and clocks to be wound up every day, so that nearly a month is spent in the city every day in winding watches and clocks."

"One man in a year's time would consume 5,475 seconds in winding his watch if he is prompt about it and is willing to give 15 seconds every day to this useful article. This would mean several hours during every year that he kept up the practice. Allowing 35 years as the average life, a man would spend 191,525 seconds, or 3,190 minutes and 41 seconds, or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 22 days and 20 hours, in winding his watch."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Not Needed.

He was obviously anxious, and she seemed almost willing. "I shall refer you to papa," said she, with a becoming blush, "before giving you a final answer."

"But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," said he magnanimously.—Indianapolis News.

When Mayor Meets Mayor.

Civic characters of local fame imbued with a sense of their own importance are not wholly unknown in this country, a fact which may account for the familiar ring of the following story found in "Highways and Byways in East Anglia."

Mayor Wakefield one day set out for the next town with a load of hay. On the way a truss fell from the load, and he applied to a passerby for assistance in replacing it. The man addressed, instead of rendering willing aid, drew himself up to rather more than his normal height and said:

"Are you aware that you are addressing the mayor of Lynn?"

"Man," replied Wakefield, "that don't make no odds. I'm the mayor of Catte Rising. Now will you lend a hand?"

"With pleasure," replied the mayor of Lynn.

Antique Clocks.

A common trick of clock makers and repairers of years ago, when the craze for antique "grandfather" clocks first showed itself, was to alter the names and dates of the original makers on each of these clocks as came to them.

This trick has made it difficult to prove the exact age of an old clock now, even by experts, and still more difficult to learn the name of the real maker. Reputable repairers do not follow the practice in these days, having realized that it results in the end in injury to the business.—Jewellers' Circular-Week-ly.

18TH YEAR. NO 18.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1901.

TWO CENTS

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON

They Will Go Over Brotherhood
Work of the Past Year.

HALL WAS DECORATED TODAY

The Question of a Union Label To Represent the Craft.

TO BE CONSIDERED NEXT WEEK

The Delegates Will Begin to Arrive
Tonight And All Are Not Expected in Before Monday—All Arrangements for the Picnic Complete.

The opening session of the eleventh annual convention of the National Brotherhood will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The business of this session will not likely occupy more than an hour and will be taken up with the appointment of the credential committee and a partial report of the same.

The executive board of the U. B. of O. P. is in session this afternoon with all members present. Vice President J. J. Jackson got in from Akron yesterday and Vice President F. H. Hutchins and Henry Broughan, of Trenton, and George Gould, of East Palestine, arrived this morning. These, with A. S. Hughes, T. J. Duffy and A. E. Stevenson, of this city, compose the board.

A number of matters of vital importance to the trade are being considered this afternoon, as well as a review of the affairs of the year's work and the result of the board's deliberations will be recommended to the convention.

The arrangements for the picnic on Monday have been completed. The committee has been hard at work for the past two weeks arranging for the event, and it is anticipated that the affair will be one of the most successful ever held.

The handicap races will start at 2 o'clock and three heats will likely be required.

At 4 o'clock the ball game between the members of Nos. 4 and 12 will be played. Dancing will be indulged in all of the afternoon.

A large committee, headed by Leroy Orr, is today engaged in decorating the hall in which the convention will be held.

One of the most important matters with which the convention will be called upon to deal will be the placing in general use of a label to represent the product of union potters.

The question is by no means a new one, as it has figured in at least two previous conventions. At Trenton in '99 the label agitation had reached a point among the members of the N. B. of O. P. where it could not be put off and a committee consisting of C. J. Bloomensteel, of Cincinnati; Mr. Braithwaite, Trenton, and A. Brannan, of Wellsville, was appointed to adopt a design to be affixed to every piece of ware turned out by a strictly union concern.

This committee reported at the Wheeling convention last year, and the insignia was adopted. Several designs were submitted, but the one adopted was presented by Mr. Brannan, and although it was made the official label at that time, it has not yet been placed in use in any of the factories of the country.

During the past year the executive board appointed a committee to draft and get in shape a code of regulations to be entered into, by the management of a firm and its employees, that would enable the plant to use the label.

It is expected that at the meeting next week steps will be taken to place the label in general use. The benefits accruing from the adoption and use of a union stamp will be incalculable, as it will give the positive assurance that every department of the plant using it and which has any connection whatever with its making is strictly union.

SUED BY HIS WIFE

Mrs. William E. Frank Charged Her Husband With Non-Support of a Minor Child.

William E. Frank, proprietor of a restaurant at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets, was the defendant in a case brought by his wife, which was tried before Justice Rose this morning. Frank was charged with non-support of his minor child. Two weeks ago he was arrested on the same charge, but agreed to pay his wife $6 a week and the case was dropped.

Justice Rose collected one or two payments from Frank, but he refused to further fulfill his agreement, claiming that his wife had violated certain stipulations in the contract. The trial today was the result of the man's second arrest. He agreed to support the child and the justice allowed him two weeks' time in order to determine whether or not he does so.

GRANTED DIVORCE

LEETONIA WOMAN SEPARATED FROM DRUNKEN HUSBAND.

Deserted Wife in Salem Seeks Legal Separation—Probate Court News.

Lisbon, July 6.—(Special).—Mrs. Katie Coleman, of Leetonia, satisfied Judge Hole that her husband, Matthias Coleman, is a habitual drunkard and was granted a divorce.

Mrs. Mollie Berckheimer, of Salem, has petitioned for a divorce from Louis C. Berckheimer on the ground of three years' willful absence. She asks for the custody of her child Robert and for the restoration of her maiden name, Mollie Finley.

The will of the late James R. Criss, of Center township, was probated yesterday. It directs that his executor shall sell all his property, worth about $2,000, and divide it equally between his wife, Kate H. Criss and his daughter, Mary A. Beckwith.

David Wickersham, of Fairfield township, by his will probated today, leaves $50 to Abbie T. Rawlings; $100 to Rachel P. Gilbert and his eight-acre homestead in Middleton township to his daughter, Miriam C. Wickersham.

Judge Hole has adjourned court until July 16 at 10 a. m., when he will return to render opinions in cases submitted and wind up the routine business of the term.

GROOM'S ARREST

FOLLOWS A RECENT SENSATION-AL ELOPEMENT.

Wilson Davis Brought From Toledo to Lisbon to Answer a Young Woman's Charge.

Lisbon, July 6.—(Special).—Miss Belle Brown, living near Summitville, has brought suit before Squire Riddle against Wilson Davis, formerly of Millport, but now of Toledo. Davis recently eloped with a daughter of Robert Treffinger, a well-to-do farmer near Summitville. Mr. Treffinger objected to his suit, but Davis by a prearrangement met the girl and took her from her home at night, went to a neighboring minister and was married, while Mr. Treffinger followed with a shot gun, arriving after the ceremony. The couple took a train for Toledo.

Davis and wife were but settled in their new home when an officer arrived and took Davis to Lisbon to answer a charge preferred by Miss Brown. The case will be heard today.

HEARTROKEN FATHER

Came Here in Search of the Body of His Boy Who Was Drowned in the River.

A. W. Cottell, of Allegheny, was in the city this morning in search of the body of his 9-year-old son, who was drowned in the Ohio river several days ago. He claimed to have been told that a boy's body had been caught here, but it is believed the information he received concerned the finding of the bodies of young Beatty and Hodgson.

Mr. Cottell stated to a reporter that his wife had not slept a single night since her boy met his death. He was also on the verge of prostration and was sadly disappointed on learning that the body had not been recovered. He left this afternoon for Wellsville.

JAMES MARTIN WAS KILLED

Well Known Resident of This City Thought to Have Met Death.

RUN OVER BY A TRAIN

Has Long Been Missing From His Home And It Is Believed He Was Killed on the Railroad at Beaver Falls.

From information received by relatives it now seems almost certain that the unknown killed by an Erie express at Beaver Falls and subsequently buried there was James Martin, of this city.

Martin, who is aged about 50 years, had been a resident of East Liverpool almost all his life, left this city several weeks ago, intending to go to some of the mining towns of Pennsylvania to seek employment. He was a miner in his early youth, having been injured by a mine explosion many years ago. When his body was found at Beaver Falls very little effort was made to have the remains identified, and it was buried without much ceremony.

The dead man was a brother of Hugh Martin, formerly of this city, but now an inmate of the Dayton home. He is survived by four children: Mrs. Hugh Clark and Mrs. Charles Finney, of East End; William Martin, of this city, and Joseph Martin, of Canada.

William Martin was seen by a reporter yesterday evening and stated that he had little doubt that the man was his father, as he had gone in that direction. He expects to go to Beaver Falls next week to investigate the matter, and if the dead man proves to be his father, he will have the body taken up and brought to this city.

POTTERY NEWS

The Trenton Potteries company has extensive plans for improvements, including a brick addition to the kiln shed building, 52x69 feet and one story high; two-story brick stable 30x11½ feet; a boiler and engine house 30½ x38 feet, one story high; the excavation of a cellar under the rear end of the two four-story buildings for a slip house, the added room from which will be about 40 by 100 feet. The company further contemplates the erection of a large two or three-story brick building, 40x120 feet, the lower floor being divided into bins for the storage of clays and the upper stories being used for molds, straw and similar purposes. The company will have expended from $30,000 to $40,000 when all the contemplated improvements have been made.

Another addition is to be built to the Sherwood Bros.' pottery at New Brighton. The local contractors are now bidding on a warehouse 38x150 feet in size, which will be erected just below the present office building. It will be of frame, one store, roofed and sided with corrugated iron.

Ed Martin, a prominent member of the National Brotherhood from Canonsburg, arrived in the city this morning and will attend the convention.

Oliver H. Sebring, of Sebring, has presented the Ladies' society of the Presbyterian church, of Leetonia, a cask of dishes.

Part of It Pulled Away By the Nancy Hanks in Trying to Move It.

The freight car on the East Liverpool and Wellsville street railway line was badly damaged at Wellsville this morning. The "Nancy Hanks" had got off the track at the lower switch and the baggage car was attached to it in order to attempt to put in back on the track.

The power was thrown on with the result that the one end was pulled out of the baggage car while the "Nancy Hanks" remained in her old position. The car was too light in construction to stand the heavy pull.

Sunday School Picnic.

The Sabbath school of the Second Presbyterian church will picnic at Rock Springs Park on Saturday, July 13.

SCALDING TEARS SHED COPIOUSLY

Mayor Davidson Had a "Heart Rendering" Experience With a Culpit.

GUS CRAFT BROKE DOWN

When His Honor Pointed Out to Him
the Error of His Ways—Circus Day Brought Two New Victims Before the Bar of Justice—Police News.

When Gus Craft, who was arrested yesterday in the East End, was brought before Mayor Davidson this morning he was very penitent, and the sorrowful expression on his countenance told plainly that he had seen the error of his ways. Gus was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and after his honor had read the affidavit the accused sighed once or twice and in a husky voice said "guilty."

Mayor Davidson, previous to pronouncing sentence, told Gus that the court's endurance had become too burdened to permit of any further leniency. He explained to the accused that complaints had reached him at various times from indignant neighbors who stated that Mrs. Craft had been abused repeatedly and that such doings would have to cease. "Why," said the mayor, "I would almost hang a man, if it were in my power, for abusing his family."

Gus trembled from head to foot and as he sat in his chair before the bar of justice great tears began to trickle down his cheeks. This did not affect the court. He had seen Gus do the same thing many times previously, and when the accused heard his sentence—$10 and costs—the tears came with more pronounced frequency. He was committed to the workhouse, but he surprised the mayor by arranging to pay his fine.

Two more subjects were up before his honor. Tom McKeever was one of them and Vince Conkle the other. McKeever was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct by Officers Mahoney and Special Officer Goddard. He is an old offender, and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed on him. He was committed to the workhouse.

Conkle was arrested for intoxication by Patrolman Woods. He paid a fine of $1 and costs. Six special policemen were on duty yesterday, in addition to the regular force. Notwithstanding the large crowds there was little disorder and the officers were given no particular trouble.

THOUSANDS SAW IT

RINGLING BROS.' CIRCUS AT-TRACTED BIG CROWDS.

The Exhibition a Fine One in Every Respect—Spectators Delighted.

Thousands of people saw the Ringling Bros.' big shows. Both the afternoon and evening exhibitions attracted great crowds and the performances given were by all odds the finest ever seen in this city. Not only did East Liverpool people liberally patronize the shows, but country people and others from surrounding towns came early in the morning and the most of them stayed until the night performance closed. Many who were present in the afternoon were so delighted they went the second time in the evening.

There was not a feature of the great circus lacking in any way. Almost every act was entirely new, and the only fault found by any one was that there was too much going on at one time. Nothing of an objectionable nature was tolerated on the show grounds, and the ushers so well attended to their duties that the multitudes were handled with exact nicety.

The menagerie was complete and attracted great interest. Aside from containing the only living giraffe known to exist there were scores of other rare animals from all parts of the globe. A giant hippopotamus gave an exhibition of its swimming capabilities, with the result that when it plunged into the tank of water in one end of its cage several young ladies had their dainty dresses badly soiled. The cage of black tigers also was a center of interest.

When the big show started everything moved like clock work. All the way through the performers, together with the trained animals, were at their respective places on time and not once was there a cessation in the procedure of the exhibition. The trapeze artists, tumblers, slack wire walkers, bar performers, contortionists, etc., were among the world's greatest. The performing elephants have a world-wide reputation, and the trained horses were also exceptionally fine. In its entirety the Ringling Bros.' show is a marvel of excellence.

OFF FOR BUFFALO

CLERKS' UNION DELEGATES START FOR CONVENTION.

Important Matters to Come Up at the National Meeting Next Week.

D. M. McLane, R. C. Shenkel and J. E. Anderson, representatives of the local retail clerks' union, will leave on the late train tonight for Buffalo, in which city the national convention of that organization will be held next week.

The organization of retail clerks was started in the west only a few years ago, and so rapid had been its growth that it today one of the foremost in the country. It has grown to such proportions in the eastern and central states that the probabilities are some of the offices will be distributed in this section. The sitting president, B. F. Baer, is from Ottumwa, Iowa, and Max Morris, of Denver, is secretary-treasurer.

There will likely be no change in the latter position, as Mr. Morris has proved by his untiring work and close application to the affairs of the office that he is the right man in the right place.

However, it has been the custom to pass around the position of president, and if the plans of the Ohio delegation succeed the headquarters of the national body will not only be located in the Buckeye State, but in East Liverpool. Mr. McLane is a candidate for the place, and his friends expect to capture it for him.

WELLSVILLE WOMAN

ARRESTED IN THIS CITY BY CON-STABLE MILLER.

The Officer Took Her Watch And Pocketbook, But Failed to Prefer Charge Against Her.

Constable Miller arrested a Wellsville woman Thursday night in a Second street house and took her to the city jail. To avoid being locked up the woman allowed the officer to take her watch and pocketbook for security for her appearance at the trial. Miller instructed the woman to appear at Justice McLane's office last evening and at the time set she was there.

For more than an hour the woman waited, but the constable failed to make his appearance. He also neglected to leave her property with the justice and the female became indignant. She denied that Miller had any reason for arresting her, and as the officer had forgotten to file any charge against her, Squire McLane was unable to give her a trial. She returned to Wellsville, and as yet the constable has failed to either return the watch and pocketbook or prefer any charge.

The constable claims he took the woman in charge at the instance of her husband, who claimed she was in company of another man, and also because she was disorderly on the street. He has been in the country since the arrest and it is not known what the outcome of the case will be. Some interesting developments are looked for.

STEPPED ON MONEY

Excused a Flip-Flop and Badly Sprained His Ankle.

Adam Oppenheimer met with a very peculiar accident yesterday. While walking across the floor at John McFadden's place on Railroad street, the young man stepped upon a fifty-cent piece which had been accidentally dropped, and after executing a few high kicks and several other acrobatic feats, fell to the floor. His right ankle was badly sprained, and he will not be able to work for several days.

HIRED WITH THE SHOWMEN

Having Caught the Fever From Seeing the Ringling Aggregation.

PARENTS WERE DEEPLY ANXIOUS

Telegrams to Uhrichsville, Where the Circus Is Today, Failed to Bring Any Clue As to the Whereabouts of the Missing Ones.

The circus which exhibited in this city attracted more than the usual number of boys who became inspired with a desire to connect themselves with the aggregation, and at least four youngsters are today drawing stakes and hustling canvas with the big show at Uhrichsville. It is supposed they expect to become ringmasters, acrobats or clowns in a short time.

As a result there were a number of anxious mothers in the city this morning. The boys who left were Charles Hardie, Fred Bradley, Neeley McFadden and John Tasker. The boys were hired yesterday and worked at the show grounds throughout the day. A number of others decided to accompany the show late last night, but were put off the third section of the train at Washington street.

Mrs. Hardie became aware of her boy's absence this morning and at once went to the Western Union, where a message was addressed to the chief of police at Uhrichsville to stop her son and send him home. No word has been received from the official as yet, and it is not known whether he was captured.

Carl Shonberger and John Rayl were thought to be among the number who left last night and the parents of Rayl, who is but 10 years of age, at once set about to bring back the boy. Chief Thompson was consulted and telephoned to the chief of police at Uhrichsville, who made an investigation, but failed to find the boy among the employees of the circus. He so informed the authorities here and the mystery deepened. The boy's father and "Dink" Herron left at an early hour this morning for the next stand, where they expected to locate the youngster. Some time during the forenoon young Rayl walked into his home on Market street as though it had been his custom to join a circus every day in the week.

Upon being questioned by his mother it developed that the boys had gone to the country yesterday with a man named Burbick, and had spent the night at his home. Word was sent to Uhrichsville immediately to inform Mr. Rayl of the true state of affairs, in order that he might not be delayed on his return trip.

NO FUNERAL SERVICES

WERE HELD OVER ROBERT WILL-IAMS' REMAINS.

Only the Undertaker Was Present
When the Body Was Lowered Into the Grave.

The remains of Robert W. Williams, who was killed by a street car Thursday night, were taken to Wellsville this morning and interred in the Spring Hill cemetery. There were no funeral services held and not even a relative or friend was present when the body was lowered into the grave.

Reed Williams, a brother of the dead man, was thought to be working at Beaver Falls, but a message sent to him at that city failed to bring a reply. It is believed he has left there. No other near relatives of the deceased are known to reside in this part of the country.

A fight took place in Locust alley last night in which a potter named Mercer is said to have had one of his arms badly slashed with a knife. As yet no report of the affair has been received at police headquarters.

EAST END

NEW HOTEL PROJECT

Plans in Progress for a Fine Structure in the East End.

If what seems to be well founded reports are true the East End will soon have a much needed hotel. The building, it is stated, will be erected by Hal Harker and will be located on the corner of Central avenue and St. George street. The structure will be of brick and will be sufficiently large to meet the demands of the suburb in this line, but owing to the incomplete plans it is not known just what the size of the building will be. Mr. Harker stated to an East End man that the building would be erected either the coming fall or next spring, and that if it was possible to get the necessary workmen it would be built this year.

The East End people will be glad to learn that such a move is under consideration, as a good hotel has been long needed, the present facilities in this line being altogether inadequate to meet the demands of the rapidly growing suburb. It is generally believed that the enterprise would be a paying one, and it is hoped that the plans may be completed and the building erected soon.

OPEN AIR MEETINGS

Free Methodists Holding an Inter-Series at Oakland Grove.

At Oakland Grove the Free Methodists are holding meetings every evening at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow there will be preaching at 2:30 and 8 p. m. by A. L. Duncan and L. C. Andrie, preachers in charge. Other ministers are expected to take part.

The meetings started July 4 and have been well attended and much interest manifested. They will be continued for two or three weeks.

Two Games Today.

The chief amusement at the East End today was base ball. The East End Grays played two games. The first was played at 10 o'clock a. m., when the East Enders went up against the Ohioville Tigers. The other game was played this afternoon when the Grays were pitted against the Buckeyes, of the West End.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyce, of St. George street, a daughter.

Roy Whitney has gone to Port Homer, where he will remain for a week camping out.

D. C. O'Neil, of Kennen, Ky., has arrived in the East End and will make his home at Chaffinville.

Thomas Finley and wife left this morning for Pittsburgh, where they will remain for several days on a visit.

Mrs. Hugh Clark, who was struck with lightning, is slowly improving. There is now no doubt of her recovery.

Bert Hersher, of St. George street, has returned from Findlay, O., where he has been visiting for the past few days.

John Derringer, Howard Dawson and Dr. R. R. Dawson, of Esther, Pa., were visiting friends in the East End yesterday.

Irwin Noah, who has been visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. James Noah, of Burgetstown, Pa., has returned to the East End.

Had Been in Brilliant Drinking And Their Boat Capsized.

Steubenville, July 6.—George Hansberry, alias Hazen Witchard, and Samuel Logan, alias Logan McClelland, two colored coal miners, were drowned by the capsizing of a skiff in the Ohio river, opposite Brilliant. These two with three white men and another colored man, were in brilliant drinking, and when they left the river landing were drunk and besides had a load of keg beer.

When they got out in the river some distance a board came off the bottom of the boat, which capsized. The three white men clung to the overturned boat and were saved and one colored man swam ashore, but the two named were drowned.

FRANK M'KAY KILLED

Victim of an Injury at New Castle Yards—Born at Wellsville.

Alliance, July 6.—The funeral of Frank McKay will be held here this afternoon. He was so seriously injured in the New Castle yards Monday night that he died Friday morning. One of his limbs was amputated immediately and the doctor seemed undecided as to the other, hoping to save it.

Mr. McKay was an unmarried man about 22 years old. He was born in Wellsville, his father being John A. McKay, an engineer on the C. & P. Mr. McKay's mother is now Mrs. A. J. Hall, of Cleveland, and was with him since his accident. Arthur McKay, formerly of Utah, is an only brother. McKay had been employed at the New Castle yards about a week.

A LIGHTNING STROKE

Deals Damage at a Toronto Minister's House, Shocking the Inmates.

Toronto, July 6.—During a hard thunder storm the residence of Rev. E. T. Mohn, on Henry street, was struck by lightning and considerably damaged. The bolt shattered the chimney and went down the side of the house into the room occupied by Harold Mohn, who is seriously ill with typhoid fever, and where the members of the family were gathered.

All were more or less stunned by the stroke. The telephone in Rev. Mr. Mohn's study was burnt out and this is thought to have lessened the shock, the electricity being carried off by the wire.

ERIE MAY BUY IT

Latest Rumor Regarding the Disposal of the Salem Railway.

Cleveland, July 6.—The Erie railroad is said to be negotiating with Colonel Myron T. Herrick for the purchase of the Salem railroad, which Colonel Herrick came into possession of on May 1. The road is only seven miles long and has some valuable coal property.

Took Carbolic Acid.

Youngstown, June 6.—Blanche J. Kennedy, aged 18, residing at Church Hill and employed in a chalk factory near Girard, was found near her home suffering from having swallowed carbolic acid. She declined to talk and no motive is known for her courting death. Physicians stated that her chances for recovery were about even.

WELLSVILLE

A Wellsville Child Has a Very Narrow Escape From Death.

Mary, the two-year-old daughter of Mike Broderick, of Twelfth street, Wellsville, came very near to her death yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. She had gone over the street to her grandmother's house. The elder Mrs. Broderick was cleaning some clothes with gasoline. Not thinking of the child she set a cup half full of the gasoline on a chair. The little girl was thirsty. She took the gasoline for water and drank all of it. She immediately became black in the face and became unconscious. It was quite a while before she came to.

Dr. Rex, who attended her, said that it was a miracle that her life was saved. She is playing around today as if nothing had happened.

ORGANIZER AT WORK

Expects to Bring Wellsville Men Into the Organization.

George Evans, of Lisbon, deputy organizer of the Eighth (Wheeling) district for the Amalgamated association, is in Wellsville, talking to employees of the Wellsville Plate and Sheet Iron company, with a view of bringing them into the organization. He tells the men the present is their opportunity to come in, and is confident of seeing an Amalgamated lodge in operation in a short time.

KRUGER'S VISIT HERE.

Preparations For Oom Paul's Reception in America Being Made.

The Boer sympathizers in the United States are making preparations for Mr. Kruger's expected visit to the United States in the autumn, which was announced some time ago by Montague White, the Transvaal representative in Washington, says the New York Times. C. W. Van der Hoogt, an active Boer sympathizer of Washington, who recently returned from New York, says a conference of leading pro-Boers was held in that city a few days ago and that the chairman of the reception committee was chosen. He will be Consul General Pierce of the Orange Free State, whose office is in New York.

Mr. Van der Hoogt says the Boer agents in the United States are in possession of complete information, both by telegraph and mail, about the progress of the war and that their cable advices show that Mrs. Botha's visit to Mr. Kruger is in no way connected with peace negotiations. Mrs. Botha took with her to Europe detailed information from her husband and from General Schalkburger, the acting president.

"Cable advices of a private nature which I saw while in New York," said Mr. Van der Hoogt, "prove beyond all doubt that the Boers have gained great ground, that they are now in control of all the country in the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Natal and that all that the English control is the main cities and the stations along the railroad lines. The seat of the Boer government is still in the Ermelo district, which is within 40 miles of Pretoria. In the Orange Free State and in the Transvaal the Boers have 15,000 regular fighting men in the field, and the force invading Cape Colony is made up of about 4,000 picked men, divided up into mobile bands, who are recruiting constantly and sending the recruits to Botha and De Wet."

Mr. Van der Hoogt said that General Botha was permitted to communicate by cable with Mr. Kruger on condition that he would get Kruger to agree to certain peace terms, favorable to Great Britain, and that the British authorities should see the dispatches. Botha carried out the agreement, and Kruger's reply was that independence was the first basis of any terms of peace.

Europe's Ice Supply. Few perhaps among the tourists who visit Norway for the pleasures of its scenery are aware that here they are at the headquarters of Europe's ice supply. To the mountain lakes of that country the continent looks for ice. The ice is of the finest quality, for the lakes are of crystal clear water, high up in the mountains, and are surrounded by very tall pines. The ice supply is controlled by syndicates.

After having been cut into great squares by plows the blocks of ice are sent down the mountainside on slides. On the way they acquire amazing velocity and plunge into an inclosed pool beyond which are the ice ships awaiting their frozen cargo.

It sometimes happens that through delay in the starting of the vessels or the cutting of unusual quantities from the lakes to supply exceptional demands the supply runs short. Then it is that ice becomes dear and even in winter time is a luxury that must be indulged in sparingly. But ice is used in Europe far less commonly than in America, and a deficient supply does not occasion the sense of loss that it would cause in this country.—Youth's Companion.

STORMS IN PROSPECT

MORE DEATHS CHARGED TO HEAT

Gen. Darr Critically Ill In Washington—Dr. Edmund Weston Died There—9 Deaths In Pittsburgh—2 Deaths In Chicago—7 In New York.

Washington, July 6.—The tenth day of the present heated term was again a "scorching" one, except where severe thunder storms, local rains or violent atmospheric changes brought cool weather. In Arkansas, the East Gulf states, Northern Ohio and New York thunder storms brought relief. In Southeastern New England also cooler weather prevailed, the temperatures falling from 6 to 19 degrees.

Last night the weather bureau officials again said the only prospect for relief from the heat lay in the occurrence of storms. There was no prospect, they said, of general thunder storms sufficient to make a considerable fall in the temperature. Local thunder storms might give temporary local relief, but weather bureau officials said permanent relief likely would not come until heavy rain storms or local rains prevail.

In Chicago a prospect of a short respite from the heat was given. New York Friday had a two-inch downpour of rain, which sent the thermometer down to 76. East of the Allegheny mountains the temperature rose generally a few degrees over the highest of Thursday, and in portions of the southwest it warmed up so, in Arkansas and Oklahoma, maximum temperatures of over 100 being recorded.

Washington, D. C., was the warmest place east of the Allegheny mountains Friday, the maximum temperature recorded being 95. There was not much humidity, but the air was lively and the day was very trying.

General Joseph W. Darr, who served on the staff of General Garfield during the Civil War, is critically ill from heat prostration. Dr. Edmund Weston, formerly of Vermont, but who has lived in Washington for many years, died from the effects of the heat Wednesday night.

Some of the maximum temperatures reported to the weather bureau include the following: New York, 90; Philadelphia, 90; Chicago, 90; Cincinnati, 92; St. Louis, 100; Kansas City, 90; North Platte, Neb., 94; Dodge City, Kan., 96; Oklahoma City, 102.

Chicago, July 6.—Cool breezes from the northwest last evening broke the term of the hot weather, but before they came nine people had died, seven more were prostrated and one man attempted suicide.

New York, July 6.—Seven deaths and 12 prostrations were reported in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx between the hours of 2 a. m. Friday and 1:30 a. m. Saturday morning from the heat.

One death and five prostrations occurred in the borough of Brooklyn during the same hours.

Philadelphia, July 5.—Deaths and prostrations from the excessive heat continued Friday, about a dozen fatalities and nearly three times that many prostrations being reported.

Pittsburgh, July 6.—There were nine deaths, due directly or indirectly to the heat here, some yesterday and some of the number that had not been reported which occurred July 4.

THREE MURDERS; TWO SUICIDES

Of the Murderers—Attributed to Mental Aberration, Supposed From Extreme Heat.

Albany, Mo., July 6.—E. A. McConkey, a farmer, killed John Bryant and his son with a club. Temporary insanity, induced by the heat, is supposed to have caused the tragedy. McConkey attempted suicide.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—F. A. Brackett, a retired farmer of Atlantic, Ia., killed his wife and then fatally shot himself at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Otis E. Powell, here. Brackett was 68 years old. Mental aberration from extreme heat is supposed to have been the cause of the shooting.

TWO OF MURDEROUS ITALIAN GANG CAUGHT.

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 6.—Two of the Italians who took part in the bloody butchery at Wheeling Junction, in which Jacob Eidenour and his son were killed and three other members of the family stabbed, were placed in jail here. Frank Farle, one of the men under arrest, has made a confession. At the coroner's inquest William Linton, William Eidenour's brother-in-law, testified that he witnessed the fight, and that his brother-in-law was the sole aggressor. Officers had to guard Farle when first brought to town for fear of a lynching before being placed in jail.

Proposed New Railway Incorporated.

Columbus, O., July 6.—The Marysville, Delaware, Sunbury and Mt. Vernon Railway company was incorporated by B. L. McElroy, Mt. Vernon; James W. Holcomb, Cleveland; F. D. Simons, G. E. Miles and T. A. Simons, of Columbus. The proposed line will connect with the Columbus, Delaware and Marion road now being constructed. The capital stock of the new company is fixed in the incorporation papers at $10,000, but this amount will be increased to $1,000,000 as soon as the organization is completed.

Flowed About 4,000 Per Hour.

Beaumont, Tex., July 6.—Gusher No. 2, Heywood Oil company, was turned into a tank and flowed at the rate of 4,000 per hour.

LABOR TROUBLE A FEATURE.

Had Some Effect on Business—Some Jobbing and Retail Lines Busy. Crop Reports Gratifying.

New York, July 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Development of fresh labor troubles is a feature of the week that has made for conservatism in many directions, but throughout the country jobbing and retail lines are busy and yield of fair profits. There is a reflection of this activity in the continued improvement in the textile markets in the east, and the uneasiness over the money market does not extend beyond the ranks of speculators in stocks. Crop reports continue gratifying, much good having been done by rains in the middle west. Harvesting of winter wheat progresses favorably.

Manufacturing has been interrupted by the elements and labor agitation. Numerous prostrations from heat caused humane employers to close mills during the most distressing hours, while the sheet and hoop workers are ordered to stop work until certain disputed points were settled. No immediate settlement is anticipated, because many plants need repair and others are taking stock. Until the owners wish to resume, their position will not be known. The reduction of 25 cents on No. 28 sheets was unexpected, and not accompanied by any general weakening of prices. Foot wear shops in New England are active on fall lines, but local jobbers are less busy, and orders from salesmen on the road are light. Leather is quiet, but firmer, with a splendid export demand for hemlock sole. Woolens and worsteds are selling better, and raw wool is taken more freely, but the average of 100 grades, according to Coates Brothers' circular, was slightly lower at 17.06 cents on July 1. Manufacturing as a whole is unusually active for the season.

Staple products are quiet, speculation being restricted by depressing weather, and the lengthy holidays at most of the exchanges prevented new commitments. News from the west was full of promise as to the growing wheat yield, causing a further decline in prices, although foreign needs are known to be heavy. Corn steadied somewhat because of reported injury from heat and drought. Receipts continue light in comparison with last year's, but exports are equally unsatisfactory.

Sales of No. 7 Rio coffee have been below 6 cents, which is not surprising, since receipts at Rio and Santos ports for the crop year just ended were little short of 11,000,000 bags. Even this record breaking crop will be surpassed if the current yield is equal to expectations. Compared with the prices of a year ago, wheat shows a decline of about 11 cents a bushel, cottons $6.25 a bale and coffee 34c a pound, while corn is not higher than last year's price, and pork products alone of these commodities show any advance.

COMPTROLLER DAWES

TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION.

Washington, July 6.—Comptroller of the Currency Dawes tendered his resignation to the president, to take effect Oct. 1. Mr. Dawes resigns his office in order to enter the Illinois senatorial contest this fall.

For Appointment of Lieutenants.

Washington, July 6.—It was stated at the war department that more than adequate provision had been made for the appointments to the rank of lieutenant in the regular army, both by appointments and by designation for examination, a surplus of applicants being allowed in order to provide for possible failure.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Ohio and West Virginia—Showers today, with somewhat lower temperature. Tomorrow probably fair; fresh southwesterly winds.

Western Pennsylvania—Local rains and thunder storms, with somewhat lower temperatures in western portion today. Tomorrow probably fair; fresh southeasterly winds, becoming southwesterly.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Mrs. John Thomas was mysteriously shot, perhaps fatally, at Youngstown.

At Martin's Ferry August Miller, saloonist, was held up and robbed of $325 and some valuable papers.

Mrs. Miller, of Medina, has been in Rogers several days endeavoring to organize a lodge of the Lady Maccabees.

The 10-year-old son of M. J. McFadden, prominent business man, was drowned while bathing at Wheeling. Jeremiah Meade, mine inspector of the Wheeling district, also the New river district, dropped dead at breakfast at Wheeling.

Fire destroyed the fertilizer plant of the Wheeling Butchers' association at Fulton, two miles west of that city. The plant was valued at $12,000.

At Youngstown Dora Carosillo, aged 10, while watching a neighbor explode dynamite fire crackers, was struck in the right eye with one. The sight was destroyed.

A coroner's jury has found that the Monaca wreck was caused by an open switch and placed the blame on conductor H. Demorest and his crew, of the construction.

The Leetonia Tool company is the title of a company recently organized, which will operate the new machine shop in connection with the Leetonia boiler works. The principal products will be high grade miners' tools and supplies.

What More Can East Liverpool People Demand?

When old-time residents and highly respected people of East Liverpool make statements like the following, they must carry conviction to every reader:

Mr. Dave Devine, the well-known second street restaurant keeper, says: "I had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint. Procuring them at Larkins' drug store I followed up the treatment until I had taken three boxes. They cured me. If they act with every one else as they acted with me this preparation is up to the representations made for it."

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

Stoutsville, Mo., May 5, 1900.

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with indigestion and constipation for the past two years, and have tried every remedy known, and had never received any relief until I was handed a trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin through our druggist, J. W. Watson, which gave me immediate relief, and I afterward bought a fifty cent bottle, which I can truthfully say gave me more relief than anything I have ever tried—R. B. Hurd. Sold by the W. & W. pharmacy.

A Professional Blunder.

"I am satisfied now that I have made a professional blunder in your case," the physician said, noting the symptoms of his patient. "A blunder, doctor? Don't I seem to be improving fast enough?" "You are improving too fast. Your malady had begun to interest me exceedingly, and I wanted to see what it would develop into if allowed to run, but I stupidly gave you a prescription that has knocked it entirely out of your system."—Chicago Tribune.

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoea, and will strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

WINE OF CARDUI

Townsend, Ga., May 18, 1899.
I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Draught, and they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and not stop work at the monthly period.

WELCOME THE POTTERS.

Next week the national convention of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters will be held in East Liverpool.
The opening day will be a festive occasion, when the operative potters from all the Ohio valley towns will meet at Rock Springs park for their annual outing. The event promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the year for eastern Ohio wage-earners, and a fitting welcome for the scores of delegates from all parts of the union who are coming here to deliberate upon questions of moment to thousands who depend upon the pottery industry for a livelihood.

From all indications the greeting which East Liverpool will extend to the visitors will be spontaneous, cordial and sincere. We trust this will be the case and that the people of the Crockery City will leave nothing undone that can add to the pleasure and comfort of the Brotherhood delegates.
The most successful year in the history of the Brotherhood and of the pottery industry should be crowned by a business-like and harmonious convention which will strengthen the spirit of unity and friendship among the potters of the many sections represented.

East Liverpool is proud of her title, the Crockery City, and rejoices in the opportunity of welcoming the representatives of the Brotherhood.

BOUNTY TO COLLEGES.

During the commencement season, which is not yet quite over, American colleges and universities have received gifts of money and pledges amounting to nearly $13,000,000, according to the list published in a contemporary, and we happen to know that the list is not complete, as the names of several Ohio colleges which have received donations are omitted. Probably $15-000,000 would not be in excess of the sum given by generous rich men and women in the past month for the advancement of higher education. It is a record no other country on the globe can match or approach, and bears out the oft-repeated assertion that our people are the most liberal givers in the world. Moreover, with their native shrewdness, they place the money where it will be useful. It is a grand investment, and the college benefactors at the same time are building for themselves monuments more enduring than brass, more splendid than gems or gold.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

Dr. Joseph Parker, of London, who proposed the health of President Mc-Kinley at the American society banquet in that city, said: "Despite the traditional prejudice, which happily has been weakening, it is now well recognized that no other nation can sustain the relations to Great Britain which the United States now holds, and, fortunately, Great Britain and the United States now hold the world's peace in the hollow of their hands."

Traditional prejudice against England, except with American demagogues who find the pastime of twisting the British lion's tail a cheap and expedient method of gaining brief notoriety, is certainly well-nigh a thing of the past, and the people of both nations are the happier and the better for it. With the peace of the world in the hands of the two most enlightened nations, the dawn of universal peace ought to be near. There is nothing in the past, however, to justify quite such an optimistic view as that taken by the London orator.
But be that as it may, the many and sincere tributes of honor and esteem bestowed by Englishmen of renown upon America and Americans at the banquet where the words quoted were uttered afford the best possible proof of the existence of an era of good feeling which is warmly reciprocated upon this side of the Atlantic.

A practical joker is to be tried in a Maryland town for murder. He put a giant fire cracker under the arm of his friend, exploded it and blew a hole in the friend's side. Such a joker as that ought to be hanged first and tried afterward.

The youth who celebrated on the Fourth and visited the circus yesterday and still has change in his pocket may become a Russell Sage if he lives long enough.

In the death of Prof. John Fiske, of Harvard, the world of letters loses a conspicuous figure and America one of her ripest scholars.

Luck was against the Americans in the rowing race with the English, but just wait until the yacht race comes off.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kellaway.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Macbeth Kellaway, who lived at the end of the bridge over Little Yellow creek, at the East End, Wellsville, occurred yesterday. She had been ill since the first of the year. For four weeks she had been confined to her bed. She was 62 years of age.
Two sisters survive her. One is Mrs.
Daniel Crawford, mother of ex-Mayor Crawford, of East Liverpool, and the other is a missionary among the Indians in Idaho. Mrs. Kellaway was a member of the First Presbyterian church of that city. Rev. L. Finley Laverty will officiate at the funeral tomorrow. Interment will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Rev. Thos. P. Childs.

Salem, July 6.—Rev. Thomas Perry
Childs, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in this city, died at his home at Troy, O., aged 84 years. He was born at Woodstock, Conn., June 18, 1817, and was licensed to preach at the early age of 15 years. He assumed the pastorate of the local church in 1867, taking hold of it at a time when its existence was a vital matter. Under his leadership the church grew and prospered.

FUNERAL OF AL JOHNSON.

Rev. Dr. Clover Conducted Services.
Members of Family Present.
Numerous Floral Tributes.

New York, July 6.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Albert L. Johnson were held at the Italian villa, residence of the Johnson family at Fort Hamilton. The widow, the children, mother of the deceased, his two brothers, Tom L.
Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, and William Johnson, of Michigan, were present. There were also present a large number of railroad officials and employees. There were numerous floral tributes from friends and railroad men, including a wreath from the Allentown Traction company and a pillar of flowers from the City hall, Cleveland.

The simple services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George Clover, chaplain of St. Luke's hospital, New York city, who made a brief eulogistic address. The interment was in the family vault at Greenwood, where Mr.
Clover read the burial service of the Episcopal church.

CARNEGIES TO DOMINATE

NATIONAL AND STEEL HOOP.

Pittsburg, July 6.—Official announcement was made yesterday that a complete reorganization of the executive departments of the National Steel and American Steel Hoop companies had been effected at meetings of the directors on Wednesday in New York. The new officers are officials of the Carnegie Steel company.
The reorganization means that the Carnegie idea will dominate the United States Steel corporation. A special train with 115 clerks and former officials of the National and Hoop companies left New York for Pittsburg last night. Several who were high officials will be practically clerks.

MUST REMEMBER SUNDAY.

Attorney General Gibson Decides Excursions Can't Be Run on Lake Ontario.

Toronto, Canada, July 6.—Sunday excursions by boats in Ontario must cease. That is the decision of Attorney General Gibson, following on the conviction of a steamboat captain at Fort Erie for running excursions on Sunday from Buffalo to Port Colborne and back. The attention of Mr. Gibson has been directed to infractions of the law at Ottawa, Belleville, Brockville, Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto, and other ports, and the crown authorities will be instructed to prosecute.
This is in accordance with a promise made by Premier Ross some time ago to Principal Caven and other leaders of the Lord's Day alliance.

Must Enforce Sunday Law.

Cape May, N. J., July 6.—In addition to the notices sent out Thursday by District Attorney Cole to the saloon men to close their places on Sunday, Mayor Millet Friday received word from Supreme Court Justice
Hendrickson that the Sunday law must be enforced. Mayor Millet immediately notified Chief of Police Farrow and he in turn notified the police men to see that the law shall be obeyed.

A CENTER FOR C. E.'S,

Is Cincinnati Today, Where the International Convention
Convenes.

OHIO CONVENTION THIS WEEK.

Across the River, at Covington, the Kentucky Convention Will Meet Today—President Clark, Secretary
Baer and Treasurer Shaw Arrived.

Cincinnati, July 6.—There were many arrivals Friday and last night for the international Christian Endeavor convention, which was to begin today. The annual convention of Ohio and adjoining states will also be held here this week. Among the arrivals Friday were President Francis E. Clark, Secretary John Willis Baer, Treasurer William Shaw and others. There was a very large registration of members and visitors Friday. The business sessions will be held today and the opening meetings tonight. After the addresses of welcome and responses the annual address of Dr. Clark will be made and the reports of the secretary and treasurer submitted.

In addition to many arriving on regular trains, two Kentucky specials arrived at Covington, Ky., last night, where the Kentucky state convention will meet today. Advice received by the local committee indicate that all states will be represented by tonight. Robert Johnson, of London, Ont., one of the leading speakers, was accompanied by a large delegation from Canada. The California delegation is accompanied by delegates from China, Japan, India and Hawaii and Samoa, and the New York and Massachusetts delegates by those from Europe.

FOUR NEGROES HANGED.

Claimed to Be on Their Way to Heaven—Hung at Same
Time.

Chipley, Fla., July 6.—At Vernon, about 16 miles from here, four negroes, Delton Hamilton, John Simmons, Jim Harrison and Will Williams, were hanged for murder. Williams, Harrison and Hamilton had been convicted for murdering a helpless negro named Davis and attempting to kill his wife. John Simmons had killed another negro.

The four negroes were made to ascend the gallows at the same time. Each made short statements, claiming to be on the road to heaven.

EVANS SAW THE PRESIDENT.

Interview Said to Have Been an Extremely Pleasant One.

Washington, July 6.—Hon. H. Clay Evans, commissioner of pensions, called on the president to bid him goodbye before his departure for Canton. He told Mr. McKinley that he had been taking an inventory of all pension claims; that he would have his annual report ready very soon, and asked the president if he had any instructions or orders to give. The president made no suggestions.

The interview was an extremely pleasant one, and nothing has developed to change the situation as it has existed for some time past.

BUENOS AYRES

New York, July 6.—The Western Union Telegraph company was advised that the Argentine congress had declared Buenos Ayres in a state of siege for six months, and has established censorship on all messages thereto.

YOUNG BOY KILLED LAD,

THEN HANGED HIMSELF.

Albany, N. Y., July 6.—Raymond Albers, a 13-year-old lad, shot and killed Emanuel Koehler, a boy of 12 years, and then hanged himself. The boys were playmates, and according to statements of neighbors they had quarrelled some days ago.

THE LEANDER CREW

BEAT U. OF P. MEN.

Henley-on-Thames, July 6.—The Leander crew won the grand challenge cup race from the University of Pennsylvania. Leander won by about a length.

Lyman A. Strong Assigned.

Mansfield, O., July 6.—Lyman A. Strong, of the Strong Elevator company, member of the grain firm of Strong & Lauck, of Bucyrus, and a heavy dealer in wool, filed a deed of assignment in the probate court to Attorney McWeldon and S. B. Leiter. The failure is attributed to the closing of the Struges bank last Monday. No schedule was filed, but the assets were estimated at $60,000.

Johnson Won't Attend Convention.

Cleveland, July 6.—Director of Public Works Charles P. Salen received a telegram from Mayor Tom L. Johnson stating that he would not attend the Democratic state convention in Columbus. The sudden death of Albert L. Johnson caused the mayor to reach this decision. He will remain in New York for a few days.

Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman Very Ill.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 6.—Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, one of the best known Presbyterian ministers in the country, is seriously ill here from acute indigestion. He rallied during Friday morning, but later suffered a relapse and sank rapidly.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL RENOVATION

BEING PUSHED BY THE TIN
PLATE PEOPLE AT CHESTER.

Extensive Addition to Be Built on the River Front—Business-
Like Moves.

The work of renovating the Chester mill is going on rapidly. The three smoke stacks which were taken out some time ago were brought back this morning and will be replaced as fast as possible.

The original plan to move the office building back and extend the main building 50 feet has been changed and instead a larger addition will be built.

This annex will be built at the lower side of the mill and will extend farther to the river front than the mill itself. It will be 342 feet long and 66 feet wide with an alleyway 15 feet wide running between it and the main building.

This addition will furnish abundant room for the changes necessary to manufacture tin plate and will also increase the capacity of the mill somewhat. A Pittsburg surveyor is now at work staking off the ground for the new addition.

Several of the furnaces that were partly torn down have been repaired and everything about the mill looks business like.

BROKE HIS LEG

MISHAP OF A CHESTER LAD
WHILE STEALING A RIDE.

Got His Foot Between the Spokes of
the Wheel and the Bone
Snapped.

Harry, the eight-year-old son of Joseph Kennedy, of Fairview street, broke his right leg above the knee while attempting to steal a ride on a buggy yesterday afternoon. He was hanging on to the bed of the buggy when his leg slipped between the spokes and the bone was snapped off. The child was removed to his home and Dr. Lewis was summoned.

It was found that it would be necessary to administer an anesthetic and Dr. Elliott, of East Liverpool, was called. The child stood the effects of the drug all right and the injured member was reset. The boy is getting along nicely, but will be unable to use the injured member for some time.

APPLE CROWING

Hancock County Leads And Its Crop Is Exceedingly Valuable.

A bulletin from the West Virginia University Agricultural station has the following about apple growing in the Panhandle:

In the north and west Hancock county leads all others, both in number and size of its orchards, as well as in the aggregate output. Here we find orchards ranging from a few hundred trees to the unusual number of 18,000, under a single management. Several orchards contain upwards of 4,000 trees, while the second largest contains not far from 9,000 bearing trees. As early as 1896 this now famous region reached the enormous number of 100,000 barrels, 300,000 bushels. This crop was borne by a land area not exceeding 2,000 acres. The value of the crop for that year alone was not far from $250,000, most of which was divided among about 20 men.

The one station of New Cumberland handled during that season 70,000 barrels in round numbers. The soil climate and skill of the growers all seem to be the best possible for the development of a commercial apple industry. So far, the orchards in Hancock county have been remarkably free from both insect pests and fungus diseases.

MORROW'S SENTENCE

Chester Liquor Seller Fined $100
And Costs And Jailed
for 30 Days.

In the case of Allison Morrow, tried at New Cumberland for keeping a speakeasy at Chester, the defendant was convicted and fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail in Wheeling for 30 days. Sheriff Allison took Morrow to Wheeling today.

A Badly Injured Finger.

Geo. A. Arner met with an accident yesterday afternoon. As he jumped from a delivery wagon a large set ring, which he wore on the third finger of his right hand, caught on between two rods on the side of the seat and was torn off. The flesh between the middle knuckle and the ring was torn off clean to the bone.

The injury was an exceedingly painful one.

A Quiet Circus Day.

The police officers state that yesterday was the quietest big day that Chester has had since she became a town. No one was badly intoxicated, no fights occurred and not a single arrest was made. A number of extra policemen were put on duty, but their services were not needed at any time during the day.

A Lost 4-Year-Old.

An Italian girl about 4 years old became separated from her parents while crossing the bridge yesterday. She was picked up by Pearl Spivey and taken to Spivey's restaurant. The matter was reported to the police, who found the lost child's parents in the show tent in search of their child.

Knocked Out by a Kick.

One of the circus employees was kicked in the stomach by a horse last night when the paraphernalia was being hauled to the cars. He was not seriously injured, but was unable to continue at work.

What She Saw.

It was at the Normal school that this happened, and the class laughed. It was a laugh on the teacher, too, but he didn't get angry, although it did break into the serious contemplation of serious studies with which he was trying to interest the students.

It was in the study of psychology, and they were discussing what ideas first entered the human mind when certain words were spoken or written—whether the mind thought of one certain object designated by the word or the whole general class which is embodied in that word. To experiment on this mental phenomenon in order to bring it more clearly to the attention of the students the professor said he would write a word on the board and then let one of them tell instantly what impression was made upon her mind.

He called upon one of the pupils to be ready to think quickly and tell exactly what her first thought was after she saw the word which he was about to write. He stood close to the board, so that the word was hidden by his shoulders until he turned. He wrote the word "pig," and all of the class saw it except the girl who was standing ready to make reply. When he turned, he didn't get out of her way, and she couldn't see the word. In reply to his sharp, quick question, "Now, what do you see?" she replied naively, "I see you." And the class laughed.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Pinched on the Nose.

Jack—I just saw your wife, old man. She was simply stunning. By the way, you're looking rather miserable yourself. What's up?

Tom—Don't get enough nourishment; that's all. You see, I arranged with my wife a month ago to give her a certain amount each week, out of which she was to pay household expenses and buy her clothes.—Philadelphia Press.

"THE BIG STORE"

Gilbert Islands Tiptoe.

Neither tea nor coffee is drunk in the Gilbert Islands, but liquor named karafee, or toddy. It is the juice of the coconut tree, from which it is drawn daily at sunrise and sunset. To obtain it the natives climb up the tall trees and while extracting it keep up a constant yelling to let those below know that they are at work. The sap when fresh is a harmless and delicious beverage, but after it has been kept a day or two fermentation sets in, and it becomes intoxicating. Karafee does not, however, fly to the head, but a man who drinks it to excess loses the control of his legs. However, when this befalls a native he has sense enough to remain indoors and shows his face to no one, for if his chief should ever hear of it he would be tried and sentenced to hard labor and a heavy fine.

In former days a native found intoxicated was tied to a tree and received a hundred lashes, the blood fairly streaming down his back. Besides this, all his lands were confiscated to the king forever.—Overland Monthly.

"Be so tell. What can I do for you?" Lisle did not reply. She stepped forward and without a word of explanation gave the letter which her father had addressed to Craig into the lawyer's hands. He read it through to the end, raised his eyes and asked:

"Have you other proofs of your father's death?"

It was Craig's turn to act, and he stepped forward and laid the death certificate upon the table.

"H'm!" said the lawyer, examining it. "He has been dead something over two months. Now, young lady, if you will wait a few moments until I read a letter which your father left with me to be read by me after his death I will know how I am to talk to you."

He was exasperatingly slow in opening the great safe that was in one corner of the room, in the deliberation with which he took therefrom a bundle of papers, and at last separated one from the others. It was an envelope, sealed with wax, but he broke it open and, still crumpling before the safe, read it to the end.

"Very good," he said at last, rising and resuming his chair. "Your father's letter places me entirely at my ease. I am told that, unless you otherwise determine, I am to act as your counsel in all things and that I am to exercise my own judgment in replying to any question upon which you may desire to be informed. Your father's will appoints me your guardian until you are of age. In addition to that, I am your attorney.

"H'm!" said the lawyer, examining it. Fortunately for you, I can tell you all that you wish to know concerning your father. But, first, who is this gentleman?"

"He is the Mr. Thompson to whom that letter on your desk was addressed, and he is my friend and was my father's friend."

"Very good. We can continue the matter in his presence if you desire to do so."

"I certainly do."

"Do you know anything at all concerning yourself? Do you know if Maxwell is your name?"

"I know nothing whatever about myself. I did not until two months ago know that I was not a man. My father kept me in ignorance of everything which concerned the world or his past. Is my name Maxwell? Are you related to me?"

"No; we are not related. Your father was my friend and my client, and your name is not Maxwell. Your father borrowed the name from me when he went away. Did you never hear of me?"

"No."

"It was understood—at least by me—that you were to be told that I was your uncle. Doubtless Philip never regarded it as necessary."

"To whom do you refer as Philip?"

"To your father. His right name was Philip Barrington."

Craig Thompson, who had crossed the room and was examining the bookshelves, dropped with a sudden crash one of the books that he had taken down.

"I beg your pardon," he said and stooped and replaced the book.

"Barrington," murmured Lisle, not heeding the interruption, which, however, did not escape the keen eyes and shrewd surmise of the lawyer. "Then my true name is Lisle Barrington, or is the name Lisle also false?"

"No; that name was given to you in this room when you were a year old. You had not been named. It was necessary that you should be supplied with one in order that it might be inserted in the will. Your father's mother was a Lisle, and for that reason and also because the name is not indicative of sex you were called Lisle."

"Thank you. Now, sir—tremulously—can you tell me about my mother?"

"Yes," replied the lawyer. He might have been a stone image for all the feeling he manifested, and yet he must have realized the heart eagerness with which Lisle asked the question.

"Will you do so, Mr. Maxwell? I would like to have you tell me as much as you can about her without question on my part."

"I will tell you all that it is necessary for me to mention. Whatever further information you require I think it best that you should obtain from her in person."

that for a moment she could not utter a word. At last, however, she sank back upon the chair and more to herself than to the lawyer murmured: "She lives! My mother lives! Thank God!"

"Yes," said the lawyer calmly, apparently unconscious of the effect produced by his statement, "your mother lives. Her home is not very far from here. I will give you the address when you leave me to go to her, which I suppose is your intention, but—"

"My intention?"

"—but I hope that you will hear me through first. I am very glad that you are here and that it is your evident intention to atone as far as you can for the great wrong that she has suffered. I want to say to you that your father did his wife a deep injustice, and in consequence she has been a great sufferer. But she has borne it bravely and without permitting the world to know of her sorrow. She is still a beautiful woman, she enjoys good health, and she has never despaired of your return. She has always insisted that your father would send you to her when he saw death beckoning to him. She has never looked for his return. Now, Miss Barrington—Lisle started at the name so calmly uttered—"the hour is still early. As your guardian, I regard it as my duty to advise you to go to your mother at once. Such business as we have to transact can be attended to at another time. This gentleman, I have no doubt, will accompany you."

"Yes, at once—at once! I thank you, sir, in my mother's name as well as in mine. Will you go now, Craig?"

"Ready, Lisle," replied Craig, but he did not turn his head, and in another moment they were in the street, and the card upon which Daniel Maxwell had written the address was tightly held in Lisle's firm grasp.

The distance that they had to travel was not great, and it was soon covered, and during the walk not a word was spoken between them until they had mounted the steps which led to the door of the house wherein Lisle was born. Then Craig Thompson put out one hand and detained his companion.

"Wait, Lisle," he said. "There is something that I want to say to you before you ring the bell. It isn't fair that you should have too many sudden surprises in one night, and I want to prepare you for another that is to come."

"What is it, Craig?" asked Lisle.

"Do you remember that night at your home in the west when you sang to me while I sat on the veranda?"

"Yes, I remember."

"Do you remember what you sang?"

"Yes; Asher's 'Alice.'"

"And how it affected me?"

"Yes."

"Do you remember what I said to you about the song at that time?"

"Not distinctly. What was it?"

"I told you that your voice sounded like my sister's. I told you that she used to sing it to me. I told you that I liked the song particularly well because its name was the same as mine—Alice. Do you remember, Lisle?"

"Yes; I remember now."

"Well, little woman, don't you see what I mean?"

"No, Craig. What do you mean?"

"This: When I went away from here 25 years ago, that sister and my worthless self were all there was left of our family. I went away, an outlaw, with state's prison staring me in the face, and it broke her heart. I wrote to her."

"Come, now; let us go in," and she begged me to return, and after seven years I came, but I came in the night, for I was afraid to appear in the daylight, and I went to her house."

"Why do you tell me this now, Craig?"

"Be patient, Lisle. I went to her house. I had sent her word that I was coming. I had been two hours with her and was on the point of taking my departure when her husband appeared. My sister was in my arms. I was kissing her, and she was clinging to me, begging me not to go. Her husband had never seen me. He misunderstood what he saw. He struck me with his cane, and I was knocked senseless."

When I recovered, Alice was insens on the floor, and he had disappeared. I carried her to the sofa, saw that she had only fainted, kissed her and went away more than ever convinced that the greatest service I could do for her was to keep out of her life forever. I never once thought that her husband would so misjudge her that she would have no opportunity to explain my identity. I did not know him; I had never seen him; I knew his name; that was all. That night when he struck me I did not see his face. The blow fell before I knew that he was in the room. Lisle, the name of my sister's husband was Philip Barrington."

"Craig?"

"Hush, Lisle; it is true! Your mother is my sister. Her name was Alice Craig. My name is Thomas Craig. I am your uncle. Come, now; let us go in. God has given us the right this night to make one woman happy."

"Two, Craig—I shall always call you that if you are my uncle—two, for I am happy!"

A moment later they passed into the house together.

CHAPTER XVII.

"NOT LIKE OTHER WOMEN EITHER!"

THE scene changes once more to Nevada—to the ranchhouse where Lisle passed the years of her youth. Gathered upon the veranda near where the low windows of the library opened from it were Lisle and her mother, Thomas O. Thomas of Kansas City and his daughter and, sitting upon the balustrade, with his long legs dangling over it, Craig Thompson.

A year had passed since that same party, with the exception of Mrs. Barrington, was assembled there—a year that had meant much to Lisle and in fact to them all. Craig was just the same old Craig, not a whit altered except by the disappearance of the beard, which he had not again permitted to grow, and the fact that he wore his hair shorter than formerly. In other respects he was the same. He had resumed his western manner and habits with his western dress, and, if the truth be told, Lisle liked him better so. There was something incongruous and unfamiliar about him while he was in the east, and after the trip abroad, during which he accompanied Lisle and her mother, they all elected to return to Nevada, at least for the summer, and Erna and her father were invited to join the party.

Regarding the reunion of mother and daughter at that time one year ago, when, with Craig, Lisle had left the presence of her lawyer to call upon her mother, very little need be said. To look upon them now, side by side, one seemed to be the counterpart of the other, with the difference wrought by years alone, for, although Lisle had resembled her father, she certainly was "the image of her mother."

The two ranches were combined into one, and both were under the management of Craig Thompson, who had lived the free western life so long that he preferred it to any other and who also clung to his western name with the same tenacity with which he adhered to habits which had become second nature to him.

"Tell you what, Lisle," he said when the conversation lagged somewhat, "people who live in the great cities on the east don't know what life is. You can't live to please yourself in such a place, no matter how hard you try, and out here you can't help it. The only times in my life when I feel independent of all creation are when I have got my legs astraddle of a good horse, with a coiled riata on the pommel of my saddle, a pair of forty-fours in my belt, a cool breeze from the peaks of the Sierras filling my lungs and my eyes roaming over a bunch of cattle that stretches away just as far as I can see. That's the life for me, and I'm going to live it to the end of my days. You and your mother can go poking round the world seeing things all you want to, but I'll stay here and see that the bank accounts don't dwindle and keep my account with the Lord straight, too, for I don't believe I could do it in the east."

"You ought to marry, Mr. Thompson," said Erna. "You wouldn't be so lonely when Lisle and her mother are away."

"Well, I don't know about that. Maybe you're right, and maybe you're wrong. I can't tell, though, what I would do if you were a little older or I were a little younger. Perhaps in that case I'd ask you to marry me."

"It might be that the difference in our ages would not be objectionable to me," said Erna mischievously. "You might ask me anyhow. It is the only way to find out."

"No, it isn't. There is another."

"What is it?"

"Never to ask at all. You see, Erna, I don't want you. I never would be contented anywhere unless I was boss, and if you made me stand around the way you do your dad I'd be the unhappiest fellow out of jail, and anyhow you're spoke for, so Tom tells me."

"I might give the other fellow the mitten for your sake," she retorted.

"Then I wouldn't have you anyway," he answered. "A gal that'll go back on one fellow for another will never be true to anybody, and I wouldn't give 2 cents for her—not if she was the prettiest critter this side of kingdom come. Come on, Tom. Let's go over to the corral and see the horses."

As they moved away Mr. Thomas murmured in an undertone:

"What a lovely woman Lisle is!"

"You bet!" replied Craig.

"Tonight reminds me of the first time that I ever saw her," continued Thomas. "She was a man then, but even then I noticed that she was not like other men."

"No, and now she ain't like other women either. She's got enough of both in her to make the finest woman on top of God's green earth, and that's what she is."

After that they changed the subject and talked horse.

THE END.

SOME NEWS OF INTEREST.

Events of More or Less Importance From Different Parts of the World.

The McKees Rocks Gazette received a letter from Andrew Carnegie, in which he offers to build a $20,000 library in the town if the people will agree to pay $2,000 a year to maintain the institution.

A cable to Paris from Vancouver, B. C., is to the effect that M. Pinchon, French minister to China, has arrived there. He believes there will be no more trouble in China for many years to come.

In the house of commons H. O. Arnold Forster, secretary of the admiralty, announced that the naval program for 1901 included the building of three battleships, six cruisers and 10 destroyers.

Nine persons at the home of John E. Hurford, Euclid avenue, Bellevue, near Allegheny City, Pa., were mysteriously poisoned, and for a time their lives were in great danger. The services of four doctors and a stomach pump were required to get the stricken individuals out of danger.

General Chaffee's first official dispatch from Manila announces the death by dysentery of First Lieutenant Charles McClure, Jr., of the Thirtieth Infantry, July 1, at Catalogan, Samar. Lieutenant McClure, a native of Iowa, was appointed from Minnesota, a second lieutenant from civil life, June 1, 1889.

Julius Bolinski, aged 42, a Pittsburgh Polish-German laborer, residing at 1912 South Eighteenth street extension, is in jail in default of $300 bail for felonious assault on his brother-in-law, Anton Daringer, 1910 South Eighteenth street. Daringer is at the point of death as a result of the injuries he received.

A Washington special said that P. J. Conlon, of Cincinnati, second vice president of the Machinists' association, has arrived there for a conference with the officials of the association. A meeting will be held on the return on Monday of President O'Connell from Pittsburgh. Mr. Conlon states that the strike situation in Cincinnati is unchanged.

A Brussels telegram states that in the parliament a liberal member, Lorand, interpolated the government regarding the threat to expel Andries DeWet, the Boer lecturer. An acrimonious discussion followed, during the course of which a socialist, Demblon, described Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain as a robber and attacked the moral character of King Edward.

General MacArthur, as the last act of his military governorship of the Philippines, cabled that the Meads sailed Friday with himself and three officers and 140 enlisted men of the Eighth battery field artillery. This marks the beginning of the return to America of regular troops who have served their full time in the Philippines.

A Columbus, O., special stated that Allen O. Myers, newspaper writer, author and politician, sued in the United States circuit court the Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Elks of the United States for $50,000. Of this $45,000 is claimed as damages on account of his expulsion from the order by the grand lodge in 1897, and $5,000 for compensation for writing the ritual of the order.

There were no new developments Friday morning in the controversy between the officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and those of the billion dollar steel trust. The labor officials have decided to do nothing rash, but they have also taken a stand, and according to what could be learned not a single backward step will be taken by them.

The cabinet held its last meeting for the summer Friday. Secretaries Hay, Gage and Wilson were absent. Some time was spent in discussing Porto Rico matters. On July 25, according to the declaration of the island's legislature, Porto Rico will be officially in a solvent state and the president will immediately thereafter issue a proclamation ordering free trade between the ports of the island and those of the United States.

Eulalia Dexter, head nurse at the State Institution for Feeble Minded Children at Syracuse, N. Y., was attacked by an unknown man as she was crossing the institution grounds Thursday night. The man hit her on the head and shoulders half a dozen savage blows with a club and her condition Friday was serious. There is reason to believe the man mistook Miss Dexter for another woman who used to be a nurse there. He escaped.

A special received from Reading states that the Philadelphia and Reading shop strikers were still out, notwithstanding the signing of a preliminary agreement to go to work. This was the situation that existed there Friday. The men, at a largely attended meeting held in the opera house Friday morning, decided to continue the strike. They say they will stay out until the strikers at Wayne Junction, whose places were filled, are reinstated.

From Butte, Mont., it was telegraphed that no additional word had been received there Friday morning of the corraling by a sheriff's posse of the men who held up the Great Northern flyer near Wagner Wednesday afternoon. At last accounts the robbers were surrounded on a ranch near Havre and a fight was expected. The bandits have been identified as "Kid" Curry, of the famous Curry outlaws, a man named Longbello and Texas cowboys, whose names have not been learned.

It was announced in the house of lords Friday that the trial of Lord Russell for bigamy would take place July 18, the date originally set. Thursday the lords, in response to a request for more time, postponed the trial till Aug. 6. This did not suit Lord Russell and his counsel and the latter notified the earl of Salisbury, the lord chancellor, that the time allowed was not sufficient to get the American affidavits required. The lord chancellor thereupon ordered the trial to proceed on the day originally set.

Pennsylvania Weasels.

Possibly few who read of "kings' robes of royal ermine" appreciate that the rightful and first possessors of the beautiful coat is sometimes a denizen of the Keystone State. It may be that some subtle force suggested to turncoat monarchs to choose the pelt of this animal for their own. In fact, during the greater portion of the year the ermine is a plain egg sucking weasel. As winter comes on he assumes a white coat, with a black tipped tail.

Putorius noveboracensis, as the scientist calls the weasel or ermine, ranges from North Carolina away up into Canada. It is rare, however, to take ermine or white coated weasels in Pennsylvania, although two specimens have just been received at the Academy of Natural Sciences from Sullivan county. In fact, south of Pennsylvania the weasel never changes color in winter, and this fact goes far to substantiate the theory of protective coloration. Thus when snow covers the ground the white ermine becomes nearly invisible, while in his weasel's guise during the summer he is not nearly so conspicuous as he would be did he wear his white coat all the year round.

Another interesting fact is that while the animals that live in the north always change color those in the south do not, the reason being that their white color would not protect, but destroy, them, as there is almost no snow in the south.—Philadelphia Record.

Witty Barrymore.

Talking of Maurice Barrymore recently, a man who knew him well told this story of him:

Once a wine agent intruded upon a party of which Barrymore was one. The agent told Barrymore he was a man of good taste, and all that, and wound up by saying:

"When you want a bottle of wine in future, will you not gratify me by asking for my wine?"

"Why, of course," answered Barrymore most graciously. "I shall be delighted to ask for your wine. But, heavens! Suppose they should have it!"—Beverages.

The Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Says Americans are successful in what they undertake

Pan-American Fair Owe Much of Its Beauty to Miss Thorpe.

Miss Adelaide Jane Thorpe, assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American exposition, deserves credit for the beautiful interiors of most of the buildings of the great fair. She has wrought wonders, in many cases with the most commonplace of materials. She is a true artist in every sense of the term. Although nominally under control of C. Y. Turner, the artist who is director of color for the entire exposition, Miss Thorpe really works independently, for Mr. Turner has full confidence in her. The result justifies his trust.

Miss Thorpe is young, bright and intensely vivacious, although a business-like young woman. She is necessarily a hard worker, for her connection with the Pan-American entails much labor. It needs but a minute's interview with Miss Thorpe to convince one that her heart is in her work.

The assistant director of interior decoration of the Pan-American has had no art training in the usual meaning of the term. Her artistic instincts are self-developed, and she is not the product of any school. Miss Thorpe is the daughter of an expert cabinet maker and the sister of an expert upholsterer and interior decorator. Her first work was done in her chosen field while she was still a child, and she has steadily advanced. Miss Thorpe's opinions on interior decoration are now sought by such eminent artists as Blashfield, Edwin A. Abbey, Benjamin Constant, F. S. Church, De Thulstrup and Smoedley.

Miss Thorpe's first work was in the line of tapestry and embroidery, and she became exceedingly deft in repairing products of the needle sometimes centuries old. The work, however, proved injurious to her eyes, and she gave it up for the designing of historical costumes. She also began to take commissions for color designs for rooms and even for entire houses. She has been very successful.

The ideas of Miss Thorpe run beyond interior decoration. "If red, yellow and a touch of green are the dominant Pan-American colors, what would be the combination for Greater New York?" she was asked. "I would add a little more green," answered Miss Thorpe.

CARACAS TO LISBON.

Why Mr. Loomis Was Transferred From Venezuela to Portugal.

As persona non grata to President Castro of Venezuela Mr. Francis B. Loomis could not of course remain at Caracas as minister. So the state department recalled Mr. Loomis ostensibly for consultation. He is not going back to Caracas, for he has been assigned instead to represent us at the court of Portugal. Minister Bowen, until now in Persia, goes to Venezuela. It is understood that by transferring Minister Loomis our government does not in any degree disapprove of his course in Venezuela. He is transferred merely to avoid friction, and his instructions hold good to his successor.

Minister Loomis is one of the numerous examples of newspaper men who have become diplomatic. On leaving college Mr. Loomis engaged in journalism, mingling also in politics. In 1884

he accompanied James G. Blaine on his trip from Maine to Wisconsin, and two years later Mr. Loomis became state historian of Ohio. After more journalism and political literary work Mr. Loomis in 1890 became United States consul at St. Etienne, France. His consular reports were conspicuous for their literary quality. President Cleveland offered him a reappointment, but it was declined. In 1897 Mr. Loomis became our minister to Venezuela.

A Cruel Murder.

Two brothers had the habit of calling on the same South Side girl. One of the brothers, George, was to take part in some private theatricals, and the girl had promised to fix up a shirt and a pair of shoes for his costume. The articles were to be delivered to her on a certain evening.

Frank, the second brother, took it into his head to call on the girl that same evening. Frank knew nothing of the arrangements George had made with her to help him with his costume. He rang the bell, asked the maid to tell the girl that Mr. Allen had called and sat down in the parlor.

The maid went up stairs and presently returned, trying hard not to smile.

"Miss Jones says she is busy just now and that you are to send up your shirt and shoes," was the message she handed Frank.

"What?" he yelled.

"I'm to take up your shirt and shoes."

"Thanks, but I may need them myself to go home with. I hope Miss Jones will be better in the morning. Never mind; I will close the door myself."

Chicago Chronicle.

Where He Failed.

The young man drew himself up to his full height.

"I have," he cried, "an unsullied character, an ardent heart, a versatile mind and strenuous biceps."

The young girl yawned and seemed interested.

He was quick to push his advantage.

"I am the possessor of a town and country house, a yacht, a stable of thoroughbreds and a box at the opera."

She hesitated, and a slight flush betrayed that she was listening.

"I have got," he continued, with a certain fierceness, "30 servants, 40 pairs of trousers, 50 ancestors, three automobiles, six prize bull pups and an army commission."

Ab, she had found her tongue at last!

"And how many golf medals?" she lisped.

The young man shuddered.

He felt that he had lost. He had played nervily and high, but she was above his limit.—Judge.

Settled.

Two ladies contended for precedence in the court of Charles V. They appealed to the monarch, who, like Solomon, awarded, "Let the eldest go first." Such a dispute was never known afterward.

RECOGNITION SERVICE

To Be Held by the Baptists of East Liverpool Next Thursday Evening.

The Baptists of the city are now about to crown their efforts of the past two years with success. On Thursday, July 11, in the United Presbyterian church they will be recognized as a regular Baptist church. For this purpose invitations have been sent out to numerous churches to send representatives to the council, which will examine the articles of faith of the East Liverpool Baptists, and if approved, the Baptist church here will be formally and publicly recognized as a church of that faith.

Among those invited are W. H. Doane, Cincinnati; Rev. G. E. Leonard, D. D., Granville; Rev. Chaney, Ph. D., Wooster, and Rev. C. B. Allen, D. D., Canton. These, with others of recognized ability and influence, will form the council and make it one of value and influence to those who attend.

Arrangements are being made also for addresses by some of the patrons of the church in this city. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to be informed of the doctrines and practices of the Baptist denomination. The formal council will meet in the church named at 2:30 p. m., standard time, and at 8 p. m., city time, there will be a more public recognition service to which the public is urged to come.

To All Manufacturers And Water Consumers.

For the next ten days, commencing this day, June 26, the reservoir will be empty so that a connection can be made between the old and new reservoirs. Therefore, we request all consumers to be careful and use as little as possible.

The water department will furnish ample water for all purposes during the time the reservoir is empty, but you can help the department by being careful and by not allowing any waste.

Respectfully,

As a Food For the Skin.

To Make It Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin irritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking an application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the smarting and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Then for burns, scalds and every sort of chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin Dr. Chase's Ointment affords a safe and certain cure.

It has come to be indispensable in scores of thousands of homes in the United States; 50 cent a box, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

A Celebration Victim—John Milliron about 10 years of age, of Third street, celebrated the Fourth. His hand was badly injured by a horse pistol which he was firing.

Shipped Away—The following movings were this morning shipped from the freight station: R. Smith and Herbert Smith, to Ford City, and Ed T. Miller to Sebring.

Pastor Gladden's Mother Ill—Rev. W. H. Gladden was summoned to Waynesburg, Pa., this morning by the serious illness of his aged mother. Mr. and Mrs. Gladden left on the early train for that town.

Off for the Seashore—The following people left yesterday afternoon for Atlantic City: Mrs. C. A. Bostick and children, Arthur and Florence; George Jackson, Robert Webb, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. I. Bentley Pope and daughter Jessie, and William Wildblood.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings—The experiment of holding the Y. M. C. A. meetings in the gymnasium was tried last Sunday and the room found so cool and pleasant that the meetings will be continued there during the hot weather. The boys' meeting will be held at 2 and the men's at 4 as usual tomorrow.

Two Baseball Clubs—Two baseball clubs have been formed by the Y. M. C. A. members. Secretary Wright has engaged the West End park for one evening each week, and practice games will be held, commencing next Wednesday. After that the boys will meet for practice every Thursday evening, and they expect ere long to have teams able to compete with some of the leading clubs of this vicinity.

Toyed With a Pistol—James Pickering, a clerk at the First National bank, is suffering from a badly swollen finger, the result of a wound, received while toying with a pistol yesterday. The weapon contained only blank cartridges, and for that reason the finger was not torn off. The pistol was accidentally discharged while the first finger of the left hand was partly in front of the barrel. The member was considerably mangled and burned.

BEER AND GAS PROVED FATAL FOR FOUR.

Monongahela, Pa., July 6.—Four Italian miners, while on a spree, went to an abandoned coal mine at Catsburg, about a mile from Monongahela. They were overcome with fire damp and were found dead.

BOERS WRECKED A TRAIN. NINETEEN WERE KILLED.

London, July 6.—General Lord Kitchener reports that Boers wrecked a train at North Nabroospruit. Nineteen persons were killed, including four natives.

Dorman Case Postponed.

Pittsburg, July 6.—In this city testimony was to have been taken Friday in criminal court before Judges John D. Shafer and Eliot Rodgers to enable the court to determine the grade of murder for which Walter Dorman is to be sentenced for his complicity in the murder of Thomas Donnell Kahney, but because of Mrs. Kahney's illness the hearing had to be adjourned to 1 p. m. After calling one or two witnesses the case was again postponed until Monday. The motion for a new trial for Ed Biddle was argued Friday.

A Labor Organization Sued.

Dayton, July 6.—The Dayton Manufacturing company, which underwent a long strike with the metal polishers, brought suit for $25,000 damages against the polishers, as a local organization and as individuals. The purpose of the suit is to establish the equity of personal liability in strike troubles where damages ensue to the manufacturer.

A Business Proposition.

A successful business career cannot be achieved without sound health. The business man should guard his health as he guards his capital; for health is part of his capital and the impairment of that capital affects every business interest. A sedentary occupation and quick lunches, soon show their effects in a sluggish liver. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure "liver trouble" as well as indigestion and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Discovery" strengthens the body by supplying Nature with strength making materials. It contains no whisky, alcohol or other intoxicant.

After three years of suffering with liver trouble and malaria, writes Mr. Edward Jacobs, of Marengo, Crawford Co., Indiana, "I gave up all hopes of ever getting stout again, and the last chance was to try your medicine. I had tried all the home doctors and received but little relief. After taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his Pleasant Pellets I am stout and hearty. It is due entirely to your wonderful medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Winding Timepieces.

"I have been doing a little figuring on time," remarked an erratic citizen yesterday, "and I have reached some rather interesting conclusions. I wanted to find out how much time man consumed in keeping tab on time, and I found that, if the whole world is considered in the computation, years would be crowded into a second of time."

"To illustrate what I mean, take a city where 100,000 watches are wound up every day. Now, it takes probably an average of 15 seconds to wind a watch. It would take, then, 1,500,000 seconds to wind 100,000 watches. This would mean 25,000 minutes or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 25 days and 16 hours. I suppose there are in the city of New Orleans 100,000 watches and clocks to be wound up every day, so that nearly a month is spent in the city every day in winding watches and clocks."

"One man in a year's time would consume 5,475 seconds in winding his watch if he is prompt about it and is willing to give 15 seconds every day to this useful article. This would mean several hours during every year that he kept up the practice. Allowing 35 years as the average life, a man would spend 191,525 seconds, or 3,190 minutes and 41 seconds, or 530 hours and 10 minutes, or 22 days and 20 hours, in winding his watch."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Not Needed.

He was obviously anxious, and she seemed almost willing. "I shall refer you to papa," said she, with a becoming blush, "before giving you a final answer."

"But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," said he magnanimously.—Indianapolis News.

No Possibility.

"Are you never afraid, Uncle Rastus," asked one of the scoffers, "of falling from grace?"

"Quannel," replied Uncle Rastus, "how I'm a pussen fall f'm de bedrock?"—Chicago Tribune.

When Mayor Meets Mayor.

Civic characters of local fame imbued with a sense of their own importance are not wholly unknown in this country, a fact which may account for the familiar ring of the following story found in "Highways and Byways in East Anglia."

Mayor Wakefield one day set out for the next town with a load of hay. On the way a truss fell from the load, and he applied to a passerby for assistance in replacing it. The man addressed, instead of rendering willing aid, drew himself up to rather more than his normal height and said:

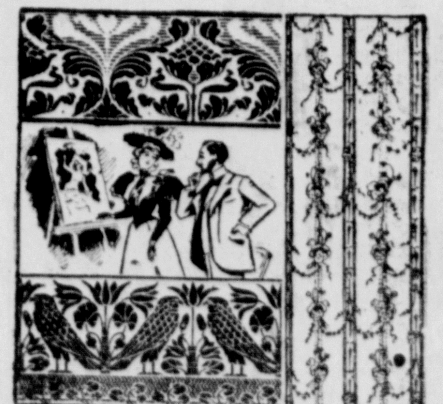

"Are you aware that you are addressing the mayor of Lynn?"

"Man," replied Wakefield, "that don't make no odds. I'm the mayor of Catte Rising. Now will you lend a hand?"

"With pleasure," replied the mayor of Lynn.

Antique Clocks.

A common trick of clock makers and repairers of years ago, when the craze for antique "grandfather" clocks first showed itself, was to alter the names and dates of the original makers on each of these clocks as came to them. This trick has made it difficult to prove the exact age of an old clock now, even by experts, and still more difficult to learn the name of the real maker. Reputable repairers do not follow the practice in these days, having realized that it results in the end in injury to the business.—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

ARTISTIC DESIGN IN WALL PAPER

does not amount to much if the Manufacturer is less liberal than the Artist. The Colors, the Gilding, the Quality and the texture of our Wall Paper have merits all their own. The prices we charge you tell the value more plainly than we could state it.
